WMCA Agrees To Inaugurate 40-Hour Week

The 40-hour week will become effective at WMCA at once, under terms of an agreement set Saturday.

Announcers and producers will receive salary increases, with a provision in the announcers' agreement that provides for what amounts to a guarantee that the announcer will receive commercial assignments to increase his salary by at least 20 per cent.

The agreement between the station and representatives of the operating and production announcers departments came as the result of negotiations between representatives of the employes and management during the past few weeks. The announcers and producers at WMCA some weeks ago joined the Announcers and Producers Guild at CBS, which is led by Roy S. Langham.

The WMCA agreement runs to Jan. 1, 1938, with provisions for a three-year renewal.

Two weeks with full pay is provided for those in the employ of the station for a year or more. Two weeks' full pay is guaranteed in the event of sickness, and two weeks' notice in the event of discharge for violation of rules or other reasons as outlined in the agreement.

Five-Day Week Not Assured

The agreement does not, however, guarantee a five-day weeks, but wherever possible all hours of work will be grouped so as to give the staff members as much continuous off as possible.

It is believed this is the first instance of a radio station guaranteeing announcers commercial contracts, the agreement specifically states that announcers have the right to reject, without prejudice, all offers made by sponsors for special work on commercial accounts, and also permits the individual announcer to draw up to 20 per cent of his base pay against possible earnings on commercial broadcasts in the future.

In a talk with Roy S. Langham of CBS, head of the American Guild of Radio Announcers and Producers, he said that the above statement from WMCA was substantially correct, with the following exceptions:

(1) The agreement is a result of negotiations by, and is made with, the WMCA chapter of the A.G.R.A.P. (WMCA did not mention the producers' organization).

(2) In effect, the agreement provides for a $42 per week minimum salary. This is the highest minimum pay for a station of WMCA's size in the country.

(3) In effect, the five-day week is the same as that at CBS, in that the announcers are allowed to work more than five days per week if commercial commitments require their services.

(4) The agreement is only temporary—until Jan. 1, 1938—and is designed to tide over the period of absence or vacations of executives of the station.

Court Refuses To Set Aside Stadium Sale

Orpheum, now in bankruptcy, be permitted to reorganize with RKO under Section 77-B. Judge Patterson denied both motions of the stockholders on the grounds that unless they can prove that Orpheum is solvent "they have no standing to oppose a sale of assets at any price, good or bad—creditors come first." A majority of Orpheum creditors voted to accept the Stadium offer.

Judge Patterson ruled that a similar proof of solvency must be made in order to turn a bankruptcy proceeding into one of reorganization and held that "the proof before the referee did not indicate a present condition of solvency."

Zirn, on behalf of other Orpheum stockholders, had asked the court to set aside the sale of the assets and to remove Ehrhorn as referee. Judge Patterson denied the first petition on the technical grounds that it was improperly brought, and the second petition on the grounds that no cause for the removal of Ehrhorn had been shown.

Cooperate or Else—Plea By Kuykendall

Exhibitor Is Own Enemy, He Tells Va. MPTO

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., June 14.—Ed Kuykendall made a plea for the cooperation of all exhibitors and declared they were their own worst enemies in a talk delivered at the session of the Virginia M. P. T. O. at the Cavalier Hotel today.

Kuykendall said he saw no reason for optimism and frankly admitted his disappointment over the results obtained in negotiation of his 10-point program. He berated one major company for not participating.

Kuykendall objected to broadcasting by stars. He said he favored the theatre divorce bills presented in several legislatures, but was opposed to the chain tax bills and outside regulation of the industry. He also expressed the opinion that Ascap is afraid of the Duffy bill.

Today's session was opened by the reading of a message from William P. Wilder and talk by Roy Smith, mayor of Virginia Beach.

Abram F. Myers, Allied general counsel, extended an invitation to those present to attend a regional meeting of Allied. Allied's efforts to

German Consul "Warnings" To Actors Ordered Stopped

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Strong representations by the Government against the action of Dr. George Gyssling, German consul at Los Angeles, in sending threatening letters to actors appearing in "The Road Back," has resulted in the issuance of instructions by the German ambassador to discontinue such communications, it was learned here today.

The German Federal Government in Berlin, it was said, has endorsed the Ambassador's action.

The matter was brought to the attention of the State Dep't some weeks ago following the sending of the first of a series of letters by Gyssling pointing out that exhibition permits might be denied by the German Goverment for pictures in which appeared actors who had previously engaged in the making of pictures "detrimental to German prestige in tendency or effect."

Working quietly but none the less vigorously, the department took up the matter with the German Ambassador and is understood to have strenuously protested alien interference with with domestic affairs of American citizens. As a result, the Ambassador instructed Gyssling to discontinue the transmission of his "warnings."

Film Boards On National Basis to End

Some May Be Maintained Locally After July 1

The Film Boards of Trade will cease to exist as a national organization after July 1, when national headquarters of the boards here will be discontinued, it was learned yesterday.

Coincident with the closing of national headquarters, the industry's field organization will be reduced to a minimum of three or four boards which will operate in purely local capacities, it is understood. Indications are that the New York and Chicago film boards will be maintained and, possibly, there will be a board in the far west and one in the south. However, several companies are known to have expressed doubts as to the practicability of maintaining boards outside of New York and Chicago. Therefore, the extent to which the boards will be continued after July 1 is seen as being dependent upon the amount of company support which can be mustered for them in individual localities.

The Film Boards were organized about 12 years ago under the direction of C. C. Pettijohn of the M.P.P.D.A. and at one time were established in every exchange center. With the invalidation of arbitration and credit work, their activities were importantly

Lesser Budgets His Ten at $3,500,000

Hollywood, June 14.—Sol Lesser says he will have a budget for $3,500,000 for the 10 pictures he has set on his 1937-38 schedule. They are three Bobby Breen starrers, two Tarzan pictures starring Glen Morris, four outdoor pictures with Smith Ballew, and one from the series of Edgar Rice Burroughs novels for which Lesser has placed an option. The Burroughs stories, 20 in number, include the non-Tarzan output of the author. Lesser already has bought "The Girl from Hollywood."

Lesser is also reviving plans for the production of "Celluloid," Rupert Hughes story of the industry.

"U" Directors Meet; C. R. Rogers Attends

A meeting of the Universal board of directors was held yesterday following the arrival of Charles R. Rogers, executive vice-president and production head, from the coast. The meeting was "routine," according to company officials, and was attended by Harold S. Brewster, recently appointed Universal studio comptroller, who met some of the directors for the first time at yesterday's meeting.

J. Cheever Cowdin, Universal board chairman, leaves tomorrow on the Normandie for a month's trip abroad in connection with the company's foreign business. He will be accompanied by Gus Schaefer, Universal export manager, and the two will confer while abroad with George R. Canty, newly appointed continental sales manager, who is now in Paris. Schaefer expects to visit all European capitals and will be gone about four months.

Rogers was accompanied to New York by James P. Normanly, general manager. The two will remain for the Broadway premiere, Thursday, of "The Road Back." Brewster, who has been vacationing prior to starting his new studio assignment, plans to accompany them on their return to the coast.

the coast, from where he will sail on the Mariposa June 23. Kenneth Asperey, attorney for Greater Union, will be on the same boat.

A five-year arrangement between Hoyts and Greater Union expires the end of the year. Indications are that a new agreement for a longer period will be culminated shortly after Munro arrives on home soil.

Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox, and Walter J. Hutchinson, foreign head for the company, are due to arrive in Australia some time in September. The trip, it was said yesterday, will not concern the Greater Union situation, but will be for the purpose of acquainting the executives with local problems.

Attack Bank Night At Meeting in Utah

Salt Lake City, June 14.—Bank Night in theatres were among the "merchandise lotteries of all types" attacked by J. H. Gibbney, executive secretary of the Utah Pharmaceutical Ass'n., meeting here in annual convention.

These methods, he said, are not specifically banned by the recently enacted fair trade legislation, but which "can be and will be eliminated" in Utah. The speaker declared that the theatre game violates the state lottery laws.

Report Lurie Slated As Head of Renowned

San Francisco, June 14.—It is reported that Louis R. Lurie, local financier and owner of the Geary, will become president of Renowned Artists, new producing firm with releases scheduled through United Artists.

It is also rumored that autumn plans call for a spectacle along the lines of "Lost Horizon."

Expect Schine to Be Associated Director

Meyer Schine, upstate exhibitor, is expected to be named a director of Associated Artists Corp., new producing company on which Dudley Murphy has been busy for a number of months. Willard McKay, general counsel of Universal, will be an officer and, perhaps, president by virtue of an understanding with "U" permitting of outside activities.

One Edward G. Robinson looms in the company's planned four for the first year. Leslie Howard will star in another and a third will feature Nancy Carroll.

Open Army Post House

Fort Knox, Ky., June 14.—A new 900-seat theatre was opened here yesterday, and will be operated by the U. S. Army officers stationed here for enlisted men. It will be open seven nights and two afternoons a week, and will be staffed by enlisted men.

Italy Bans Four Films

Rome, June 14.—The Italian Government has banned four American pictures, on the ground that they are "British propaganda." The four are: "The Charge of the Light Brigade," "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Lloyds of London" and "Clive of India."

Little Far Eastern Building—Goodman

Very little building is going on in the Far East, Dell Goodman, sales head for 20th Century-Fox in that territory, stated yesterday. No new theatres are being constructed in India, but there is a new 1,200-seat house being built in Singapore. This theatre will be ready in April and will not be a part of Amalgamated, which controls all the first runs, Goodman said.

There are a few theatres springing up in the interior, but the first runs and key centers are pretty well developed, Goodman added. Conditions in all countries are far better than they were last year, he said.

In China, the Straits Settlements, India and Java, single features are the rule, while in the Philippines doubles are gaining momentum. In Japan the police are regulating the footage of shows and treble and double features are gradually petering out. The Japanese police, in trying to end long shows, are now permitting only 5,000 meters of film to be shown.

Goodman will remain in New York for about three weeks and then leave for the coast, en route home.

English Make Probe Of Film Financing

London, June 14.—W. C. Crockner, insurance solicitor prominent in the Leopold Harris fire-raising case, is conducting an investigation into British production finance for a group of Lloyds underwriters.

It is believed his report will cover all future insurance advances.

Cost Angle of Quota Law Being Discussed

London, June 14.—The Film Group Committee of the F.B.I. is discussing whether a cost clause in the new quota law should operate from the beginning of the act or later.

The full group which meets tomorrow to discuss reciprocity is expected to urge it on the Government as an optional feature of the act.

"Courageous" Gets $9,975 Fifth Week

"Captains Courageous" garnered approximately $9,975 in its fifth week at the Astor. The picture may be withdrawn the end of the month or the first week in July.

"Slave Ship" will open at the Rivoli today. The theatre has been closed for two days for alterations.

Musicians' Meet Opens

Louisville, June 14.—The 42nd annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians opened here today with an address by Joseph N. Weber, president. His address to the delegates, who number more than 600, followed talks by George Lafell, president of Local 11 here; Governor Chandler of Kentucky and Mayor Neville Miller of Louisville.

Among the most vital points scheduled for discussion at the meeting, which will continue through Saturday, will be the question of control of electrical transcriptions and other recordings and the rights of the musicians engaged in them, and the position of the Federation with reference to the union situation.

London Films' output will be increased, Korda indicated, by about 50 per cent, with budgets set at about $10,000,000 for 28 pictures by the end of 1938.

Among the U. A. Men

Emanuel Silverstone was on hand representing Alexander Korda and London Films and Mack Littman put in an appearance for Criterion Films. Littman was scheduled to sail for London this week and now says the trip's off.

Hal Horne rehearsed his speech for hours yesterday hoping to go on about 4 o'clock. When the appointed time came around and Schaefer was still outlining the product, Hal started talking to himself, just to see how the speech would sound.

Arthur Kelly's gags about his recent world trip had the boys in hysterics. The one place he fell down was trying to get over the accents of various lads he talked to on his odyssey.

Charles Stern, Harry Gold, Paul Lazarus, Sr., and L. Jack Schlaifer formed a conspiracy to say "no" to all queries made by trade paper men. It was too hot to argue the point yesterday.

Bob Mochrie likes southern cooking so well he's decided to stay down Atlanta way. But it's good to be back for a visit, he said.

Charles Rosenzweig, manager of the New York exchange, took the honors for cool attire. He wore a light tan suit that was the envy of all golf players.

Monroe Greenthal and all the lads did a swell job getting out that special section of the Mirror, which kidded the sales boys aplenty.

George J. Schaefer sat below his picture, which was an enlargement in color. In the picture arrangement he was surrounded by producers; while on the dais, by home office executives.

Lowell Calvert, who reads trade papers religiously, made a dash for them as soon as the meeting recessed in the morning. "Gotta keep up with the news," he said.

David Niven, who will appear in a number of U.A. pictures, was one of the guests at the morning session. He will leave for the coast tomorrow or the next day.

Schaefer Says Higher Scales Are Necessary

George J. Schaefer, vice-president and general manager of United Artists, yesterday deplored the lack of extended runs for good product and urged an increase in admissions. These were the highlights of his speech as he addressed about 100 home office and eastern sales representatives at the Waldorf-Astoria.

"A general increase in admission prices must come," he said, "to take care of mounting costs in production and theatre operation. A sympathetic understanding and study by Washington would go a long way to help solve this problem.

"Good pictures," he continued, "must be played by every theatre to a point of exhaustion regardless of the number of films under contract. Too many good pictures play for only a minimum number of days so as to make room for other current releases. In this way picture values are being dissipated, preventing the producer from getting satisfactory rental on his ever increasing negative costs.

Asks Building of Reserve

"It would be much better to take full advantage of each picture and build up a reserve for the lean weeks. Sooner or later this problem must be solved if the exhibitor is to have an assurance of a steady flow of good product from Hollywood."

Discussing the company's activities during the last year, Schaefer said it was the best in United Artists history and that "more contracts in major situations were sold than ever before.

"Between 8,800 and 9,200 contracts were sold for all U. A. pictures last year," Schaefer added, "and on some pictures there were as many as 10,000 pacts. More smaller situations were covered than at any previous time," he said.

After conferring with distributors, Schaefer told the men that "no other company has had better coverage or terms than U. A. last year." He complimented A. W. Smith, Jr., Harry Gold and L. Jack Schlaifer for the work on the recent sales drive.

Talks on Options

Commenting on the options by Samuel Goldwyn and Alexander Korda for the partnership interests of Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, Schaefer stated: "I can't tell whether or not the options will be exercised, but whatever happens it will bring about a better United Artists in the long run."

Smith followed Schaefer and awarded the prizes for the recent sales drive. He also talked on the various selling problems of the company.

Gold then took the floor and introduced a number of new men in his division, namely Robert Mochrie, David Prince, Joseph Weiner and M. Dunn of Atlanta; Tom Spry, Boston; Carl Mock, Oklahoma City; Robert Campbell and Fred Sande, Washington; M. Nash, Pittsburgh.

Harry D. Buckley, vice-president of corporate affairs, announced that, starting Aug. 1, United Artists will adopt a rental plan for ad accessories, similar to Paramount and Warners. Buckley added that he is now completing arrangements for the plan for rebates on returned accessories in good condition. He also praised the men for the manner in which they had kept their exchanges in order.

Arthur W. Kelly, vice-president in charge of foreign sales, recounted his recent trip around the world, highlighting his story with anecdotes. He stated that foreign sales for the company last year broke all records. He also discussed United Artists production policy in various foreign countries in an effort to maintain its status as an international sales and production organization.

After a recess for luncheon in the Norse Room, Schaefer opened the afternoon session with an outline of the new product.

Edward C. Raftery of O'Brien, Driscoll & Raftery made several suggestions and criticisms regarding the signing of contracts.

In the evening, a screening of "Knight Without Armor" was held in the Music Hall projection room.

Monroe Greenthal, publicity and advertising head, and Hal Horne will speak this morning at the opening of the second day's session.

Milstein Holds Regional

J. J. Milstein, general sales manager, yesterday held the last of four Republic regionals at the St. Moritz. Ground covered at the other sessions was gone over.

Brown Wins W. B. Drive

Cleveland, June 14.—Ray Brown, southern district manager in Nat Wolf's Warner theatre zone, won the $100 first prize in the 44-week business drive just ended. Wolf has started a "pinch hitters" drive for assistant managers in charge of theatres while the managers are on vacation.

In recent years the boards have been good will agencies for the most part, maintaining contacts with local civic and social organizations, combating adverse legislation, furnishing reports on changes in local theatre ownership and openings and closings of theatres, and supervising fire prevention work in exchanges. The cost of maintaining the boards has been attacked from time to time in recent years by company representatives.

Jitters

HOLLYWOOD producers in their quest for dramatic material out of which to fabricate motion pictures got around in due time to certain exploits of the British Empire. Then came "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "Clive of India," "Charge of the Light Brigade" and "Lloyds of London."

These productions were all done in the characteristic Hollywood manner with the single objective in mind of mass entertainment. That the stories were legitimate motion picture material is attested in the resultant general popularity with motion picture audiences everywhere. The stories in varying degrees presented challenging personalities, engaged upon dramatic adventures and against striking physical and chronological backgrounds. They were logical fields upon which to train the motion picture camera. This operation was actuated, obviously, without anyone concerned giving a tinker's damn about nationalistic propaganda, least of all either seeking or achieving appreciable glorification of the Empire. Just entertainment was all that was sought and done.

Gyssling Denies Ban On Players' Letters

HOLLYWOOD, June 15. — George Gyssling, German consul at Los Angeles, today denied that he has been ordered by the German Ambassador to refrain from the making of threats to American players who are featured in "The Road Back."

The report which Gyssling denies was made by the State Dept. following action taken in response to protests by the Screen Actors' Guild and the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

HITLER, who has a way about having his own way, has been stopped on one front. There are others where we should prefer the same sort of action, but complete victory usually comes in small capsules. This column, therefore and to make itself quite clear, is not complaining. Having had the matter "under consideration" for several months, the wire out of Washington yesterday informed that the State Department finally had propelled itself into action, had protested to the German Government over attempted intimidation of private American interests in the proper conduct of private business and had emerged clutching the spoils.

This has to do with the case of the presumptuous Dr. George Gyssling, Los Angeles consul of the presumptuous Nazi Government, which instructed him to strike terror into the hearts of the actors who appeared in "The Road Back" and Universal who produced it on the theory, concocted in advance of the picture itself, that the subject matter contravened National Socialist ideology. Performers and producers alike were to be penalized and the latter, at least, furnished with sufficient cause to worry over an investment of something beyond a million dollars. . . .

While Universal determined to do the ostrich stunt and preferred a hush-hush policy, certain Hollywood organizations with liberality sprinkled through their backbones did not. They wired their protests to Secretary of State Hull and, for their pains at that time, were perfunctorily advised the matter was being studied. We had something to say about this situation a number of weeks ago and, in general tenor, poised the question of how long the American film industry proposed taking it on the chin from any and all crackpots and where this sort of unwarranted interference might be expected to end.

Here in New York, the World-Telegram the other day ran across what by then was an old story. It again exposed the Gyssling correspondence which was not particularly significant, but followed its story with an editorial, captioned "Reprisal and Counter Reprisal" and that was significant in its way. Said that newspaper:

> This is an official act, quite distinct from the private boycott on German products now carried on by individual Americans. It amounts to a foreign governmental attempt to intimidate American citizens on American territory, to interfere with domestic industry, to conduct a drumhead court-martial and execute its punishment in violation of our sovereignty.
> Can you imagine what German honor might demand in reprisal for such indignities? Would it provoke another shelling of a town, as at Almeria? Would it mean a bonfire of confiscated films and a holocaust of more books? And how many more pacifists and Jews would be sent to concentration camps?
> Well, this isn't a Nazi country, and there's no reason to adopt Nazi standards.

We fail to agree. This may not be a Nazi country, but when the World-Telegram concludes "there's no reason to adopt Nazi standards," the reasoning strikes as inconclusive. The vacillations of a State Department which permits foreign films to go their way in this market with no restrictions beyond import duties while American product fights for its existence abroad submit themselves to serious questioning. In the instance of "The Road Back" vigorous policy brought satisfactory results and leads to the obvious impression further action along similarly determined lines must be earmarked with similar success. . . .

By mere coincidence, the foreign mail yesterday disgorged a letter from the resident manager of a large film company in one of the most important of the South American republics. Indignant and aroused, this correspondent, who, by minimum calculation, is entitled to the full protection which goes with anonymity, asks questions and implies answers on a number of points which others to his north have been pondering over for some time. He writes:

> If Germany bans American pictures just because someone connected with them is not an 1800 A. D. Aryan, then why don't we ban their masterpieces which are nothing but propaganda and made with the view of forcing Nazi ideology on the world and the world should be pretty well fed up with this ideology by now. A sample of Naziism has been demonstrated to the world since your article was written. The brave Nordics who bombed an open town and killed off some women and children as retaliation for the bombing of one of their pirate ships. Brave people, these Nazis!
> Why, oh why, don't we tell them to go plumb to hell the next time they object to someone expressing himself freely, just as Cardinal Mundelein or Mayor La Guardia have done? Why, oh why, is the world so scared of these cowards who pick on helpless minorities? Above all, why should we in the United States put up with their insolence? Just what is Mr. Hull afraid of?
> Does he think that the Nazis would attack us or is he trying to protect American interests in Germany? Or maybe the German debts? As long as Hitler and his gang are ruling Germany these debts will never be paid, so why not tell them plainly to go to hell and see what happens? I can almost tell you in advance what will happen. These brave gentlemen will kill off a few more Jews and Catholics and then have a reunion where Mr. Hitler will tell them, "You see how brave we are, Fellow Nazis?"
> Of course, you know that whatever money Germany can lay her hands on, she's spending on propaganda in all Latin-American countries. Most of this propaganda is aimed at the Jews and, strange as it may sound, they do manage to buy certain newspapers and magazines in these Catholic countries. Being an American and a Jew, I naturally resent this, but also being a guy with guts I decided against the passive acceptance of this insolence. I, therefore, notified one of these papers in which all the American film companies spend a lot of money, that, unless this stupid propaganda ceased, I would pull all my advertising and see that the others did likewise. (To be truthful, I only meant this for myself, but bluffed for the others.) However, it worked and this paper promised to behave and not characterize every Jew as "a big bad wolf." I could tell you other incidents where the hand of the Nazis appeared and which I squashed just by calling their bluffs.
> Before closing, I must ask one question: Imagine an American in Germany trying something like this Gyssling and what would happen? Concentration camp, accused of being a Communist and probably shot for having bombs in his possession.

Arliss Advises

London, June 6.—Lecturing to the Royal Society of Arts, George Arliss said British film producers, if they want to get the American market, should make films with only British audiences in mind. They would be more likely to produce something appealing to America by this practice than by imitating Hollywood, he said.

Films depending on story and acting are within the scope of British companies which cannot afford to compete with Hollywood in price and Britain should plan accordingly, he said.

Approve Zukor Contract; April Earnings $585,000 which emerged from receivership this month to become a part of the company's New England Theatres operations.

The report stated interest charges on funded debt have been reduced by $842,000 and that prior charges on securities ahead of the common stock have been reduced by $2,000,000 during the past year through conversion of part of the outstanding six per cent bonds and conversion of the six per cent first and second preferred into common.

Net reduction in funded debt amounts to $1,147,000, the report revealed, from the conversion of the six per cent bonds into 3¼ per cent bonds, while the total reduction in the par value of the securities ahead of the common has been $13,183,000.

In addition, the report revealed consolidation of home office departments and functions undertaken a year ago is now reflecting an annual saving in excess of $750,000. The company's payroll is "substantially less than it was a year ago," Balaban's report states, "and, I believe, lower than any similar payroll in any other major company."

Look to Foreign Market

The report stated that, while the company's product "for a number of years has not satisfactorily appealed to the foreign market," box-office quality of the new pictures is believed capable of remedying this.

"Records of Paramount's wholly-owned and subsidiary theatres indicate that the company's pictures have moved from fourth to second place in box-office value of production during the past year," Balaban's report said.

The corporate structure has been simplified during the year by the merger or dissolution of more than 100 corporations and the program of simplification is not yet complete, stockholders were informed. It was reported the Paramount theatre department's policy is to move "in the direction of a closer and more permanent relationship with its theatre operating affiliates" and to this end new operating and stock ownership agreements are being worked out with the company's theatre operators and partners.

Bonus Trial Sept. 7

Suits naming former officers and directors of Paramount, which were brought by the company's reorganization trustees two years ago in an effort to recover several million dollars allegedly paid in bonuses and realized on stock subscriptions under a Paramount employes' stock purchase plan, have been set for trial on Sept. 7, inquiring stockholders were informed yesterday by Edwin L. Weisl, of counsel for the company.

ors whose terms expired with yesterday's meeting were reelected for a one-year term. They are Neil F. Agnew, vice-president in charge of distribution; Stephen Callaghan, Duncan G. Harris, John D. Hertz and Charles A. McCulloch. Other management men on the board in addition to Keough and Agnew are Zukor, chairman; Barney Balaban, president; Y. Frank Freeman, vice-president and theatre head, and E. V. Richards, head of Richards-Saenger Theatres. Stanton Griffis, who has been chairman of the executive committee for the past year, is also a board member.

The meeting authorized the reduction of the company's authorized and issued stock in accordance with conversions of preferred into common up to May 15, last, and authorized a change in the location of the office of the company from Millbrook, Dutchess County, to New York City.

Common Increase Sought

A final proposal for stockholder action—an authorization to increase the company's common stock from 4,500,000 shares to 6,000,000 shares of $1 par value—required the approval of 66 2/3 per cent of the company's stock, rather than just the majority required for action on the other proposals. As only slightly more than 60 per cent was represented an adjournment was taken to June 24.

The vote on Zukor's contract was 3,558,061 shares for approval, and 12,188 shares against. Discussion of the contract was exhaustive but confined to less than a half-dozen opposing stockholders. The contract is retroactive to last Aug. 1 and will expire next Jan. 1, with a provision for a three-year renewal by the board. Under the contract Zukor is to receive $3,000 per week, plus seven and one-half per cent of the first $2,500,000, of profits from film operations and five per cent of profits over $2,500,000.

One opponent of the contract estimated, in addressing the meeting, that it could return Zukor $600,000 a year.

Balaban Clarifies Details

Balaban, discussing the pact, pointed out that approximately $1,477,000 in expenses and approximately $900,000 in interest were deductible from film earnings before the profits on which Zukor's participation is based, could be determined. He estimated that Zukor might realize less than $250,000 annually on the pact, in contrast to the stockholder's estimate of $600,000. Balaban also stated that the Paramount board could have given Zukor a contract for $10,000, "or some such amount," per week in straight salary, but that both the board and Zukor chose to make it a profit participation, knowing that in that form it would have to be submitted to and approved by the stockholders before becoming effective.

The contract was negotiated by Griffis and recommended for approval by the board, Balaban said. He paid tribute to Zukor's achievement at the studio and stated that, even with the new contract, Zukor would probably be the lowest paid executive in Hollywood occupying a post of equal responsibility.

Stockholder criticism of the pact centered for the most part on the fact that it would permit Zukor to participate in profits before a dividend has been paid by Paramount on its common stock.

"Zukor should be able to hobble along, somehow, on his present salary of $430 a day Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and vacation," one stockholder declared. "It will be time enough to vote him a contract of this kind when the company is paying dividends to its stockholders."

"I'm as anxious as anyone to see dividends paid," Balaban replied. "You're getting nearer every day to one and if business conditions remain about as they are there should be one in the not too distant future."

Attorney Questions Costs

The meeting began at noon in the 11th floor employes' recreation room and, with stockholders' tempers probably sharpened by increasing hunger—to say nothing of those of the officers—the early session was off to the tune of sharp words, one offer to do battle and an implication by the company president that he stood ready to resign if the stockholders were serious in their criticisms. At least, the atmosphere underwent a complete change following liberal servings of Schraffts' sandwiches and coffee at 1:30.

Saul Rogers, film attorney, who said he represented 10,000 shares of stock, questioned Balaban on a reduction in the company's cash position from $10,000,000 to approximately $8,000,00 since the release of the annual report, Jan. 2, and on production costs which he charged exceeded budgets in several instances, asserting that while the "president is boasting about economies, there is extravagance at the studio." At the afternoon session, Rogers offered an apology to Balaban for "giving the unintended impression that you were being accused of juggling the figures."

Griffis in Near Fight

At another point, Griffis was accused of selling Paramount stock "short." He left the rostrum to confront the accusing stockholder with an offer "to go outside and fight, or fight right here, if you want."

Griffis called the charges "indecent and unfair," and asserted that he was the owner "of the largest block of Paramount common held by any of its stockholders."

Stockholders were assured that the company has no plans for using the new common, if authorized, "for bonuses or stock participation of any kind."

Predicts V. F. W. Boycott

Veterans of Foreign Wars intend to boycott all pictures containing anti-American propaganda, according to Commander Francis J. Quigley. He said a resolution calling for the boycott would be voted at the state convention at Saranac Saturday.

$156,000 a Year

Paramount pays $156,000 per year to B. & K. for the services of Barney Balaban, Paramount president, but pays no direct salary to Balaban, the company head explained to stockholders yesterday in reply to questions about his salary.

Balaban said he had no contract with Paramount, that he held a long-term pact with B. & K. and did not disclose at what salary. He said that "97½ per cent of the $156,000 paid by Paramount to B. & K. was returned to the parent company by the subsidiary in the form of dividends."

Reflections from RKO

Aboard RKO Special

RUTGERS NEILSON was geared for a big chatter drive from the crack special, tugging along a brand new typewriter.

RKO's quartet of funny men, JACK OAKIE, JOE PENNER, PARKYAKARKUS and VICTOR MOORE, were heard to have challenged JACK ELLIS, New York exchange salesman-comedian, by wire to a battle of wits at the Hollywood Bowl.

PHIL HODGES buys as many suits as the Duke of Windsor and is known as the Dapper Dan of the New York exchange.

H. ZEITELS isn't going to derive any good from the pure California air unless he stops smoking stogies long enough to breathe some.

HARRY W. LEASIM, manager in charge of operations in Continental Europe, claims to have the fightingest bunch of branch managers in the world. They're all native Europeans with adjourning territories, so that explains it.

The changes that can be wrought in one year! ELY EPSTEIN and HARRY TYSON of Philadelphia have an additional person each to miss them this year. EPSTEIN has his brand new daughter and TYSON his brand new wife.

S. BARRET MCCORMICK, advertising and publicity chief, is no stranger to Texas and the south. Barret spent many an adventurous day in these parts during his earlier years.

NED E. DEPINET enthralled the listeners in his car with some grand Texas story, which NED told in his fine dramatic style as the special bounded west.

SID KRAMER, who makes his coast convention debut on this journey, was bustling about trying to pick up a few ideas from the other conventionites, on the proper etiquette for the various functions.

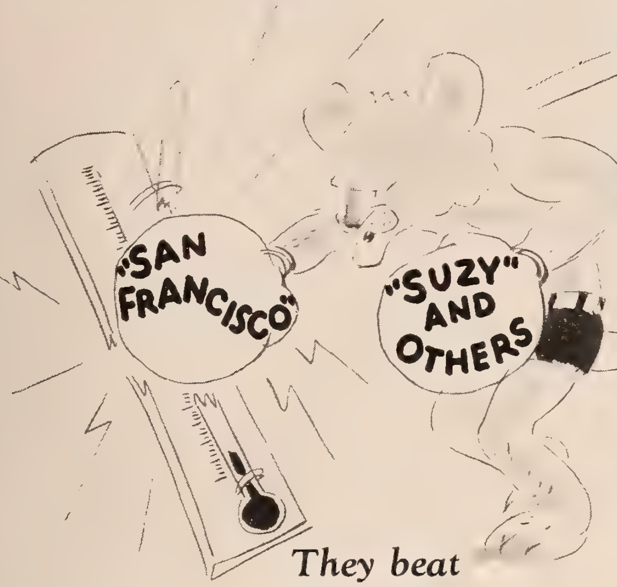
LAST YEAR'S EARTHQUAKE!



They beat the heat!

Other companies thought we were GOING NUTS when we delivered "San Francisco" to start the Summer a year ago! But pictures like "Frisco", "Suzy" and more from M-G-M which would be the year's leaders of other companies are typical of the Summer Life-Savers you get from M-G-M.

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE,

On The Screen

By HOWARD BARNES

"Captains Courageous"—Astor

"CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS," a screen drama adapted from Rudyard Kipling's novel of the same name by John Lee Mahin, Marc Connelly and Dale Van Every, directed by Victor Fleming and presented at the Astor Theater by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with the following cast:

Harvey	Freddie Bartholomew
Manuel	Spencer Tracy
Disko	Lionel Barrymore
Mr. Cheyne	Melvyn Douglas
Uncle Salters	Charley Grapewin
Dan	Mickey Rooney
"Long Jack"	John Carradine
Cushman	Oscar O'Shea
Priest	Jack La Rue
Dr. Finley	Walter Kingsford
Tyler	Donald Briggs
"Doc"	Sam McDaniels
Charles	Billie Burrud

"CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS" belongs with the screen's few masterpieces. In a season of spectacular and notable film offerings it stands pre-eminent. The Kipling classic has been shaped to a photoplay with such eloquence, authority and beauty that it is certain to become a classic in its new medium. Composed in fluent images, acted with sustained brilliance and freighted with an emotional intensity that becomes almost intolerable, the tale of a spoiled boy and a Portuguese fisherman has an epic sweep and power that is irresistible.

So surely has the novel been translated that it falls immutably into a motion-picture mold. The debt to its original may be great, but the film has completely pre-empted its source material in a work of art that begs no comparisons. The simple theme of Harvey's love and hero-worship for Manuel has been restated with supreme simplicity and dignity. It is neither a director's nor an actor's picture, but a perfect melding of all the screen's functions, resulting in a heart-shaking and memorable offering.

Courage went into its making. If you fall under the film's spell as I did, you will probably not be aware until it is over that there are no women in the cast. For that matter there is no need of romance or violence. From the moment that the pampered Harvey tumbles off a liner and is hauled into a dory by Manuel, the screen drama reaches to the heart of living and holds you rapt by its instancy. The opening and particularly the concluding sequence might have been foreshortened, I believe, but that is a matter of little import.

It would be easy to ascribe the enormous compulsion of the production to the consummate portrayals of Harvey and Manuel by Freddie Bartholomew and Spencer Tracy. In them the millionaire's son and the mystical, courageous fisherman come to such pulsing life that the tragedy of Manuel's death is transcending. At the same time they have had invaluable assistance. Victor Fleming has framed their actions in stirring sea passages and a commanding rhythm of sequences. Marc Connelly, John Lee Mahin and Dale Van Every have given them evocative and haunting speech.

Mr Fleming's direction is masterly. He has pinioned the personal narrative firmly against vivid backgrounds. The early atmosphere of ostentatious wealth that made Harvey a little bounder is executed in bold strokes. Life on a Gloucester fishing schooner off the Grand Banks is full of salt spray, straining sails, fish and boat tackle, and even the memorial services of the anticlimax are real and moving.

Freddie Bartholomew

The performance of Freddie Bartholomew dominates the production from start to finish as only a very great piece of acting can. With extraordinary assurance he gets inside the husk of his characterization, making the transition of Harvey from a mean brat to a gallant little fisherman's apprentice utterly persuasive. The manner in which he sustains the aching poignancy of the scenes after Manuel has been swept from the top rigging of the We're Here into the sea, and dies, smilingly refusing to let the lad know he has been crushed below the waist, is superb. He takes his place with the most distinguished of his elders as a superlative screen actor.

You may find Spencer Tracy's Portuguese accent a trifle startling at first, but once he takes the little chap he fished out of the sea in hand, he gives an impersonation that can only be called perfect. His Manuel is by turns grave, gay, volatile, serene and dauntless. Certainly there could have been no better choice for the role. Lionel Barrymore, as the wise old skipper of the We're Here, is splendidly restrained, and Melvyn Douglas, who has the difficult part of Harvey's too wealthy father, is a good foil for Bartholomew in the first and last sections.

The other players have small parts, but it is an index to the quality of "Captains Courageous" that they enact them with complete conviction.

By ROBERT GARLAND.

Here, supplanting "The Good Earth" at the Astor, is what must certainly turn out to be the prize picture of 1937. Of rare integrity, sustained emotional impact and captivating beauty, this free translation of Rudyard Kipling's "Captains Courageous" was a sensation last night on Broadway.

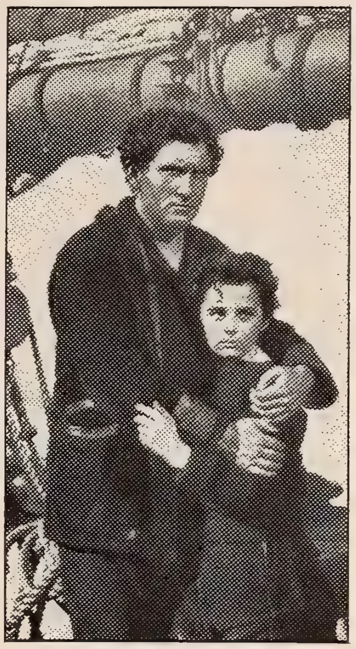
Once generally released, it will be a sensation everywhere. It cannot help but be. In a scenario in which Marc Connelly and a couple of other fellows had a hand, the Kiplingesque pattern is followed with high fidelity. Here is provided a dramatization of the spirit as well as the letter of the book.

The author, who had to die before Hollywood gave any convincing evidence of knowing he had ever been born, would admire the excellence of the dialogue, the smoothness of the progression, the pictorial magnificence of countless of the seascapes. And, whether boats or humans, he would applaud the perfection of the players.

In its on-screen aspect, "Captains Courageous" picks up the Poor Little Rich Boy in his father's mansion. Home from school on some sort of holiday, he is a liar and a cheat, a mischief-maker and a tattletale. At the same time, deep down beneath his unattractions, are a courage and a sensitivity gone disastrously astray.

When, on the befogged Grand Banks off Newfoundland, he falls overboard from an ocean liner, you at first feel that drowning is too good for him. Which, as a matter of report, it turns out to be. Soon, however, you are pleased that Manuel drags him into his fishing smack and takes him to the We're Here, becalmed in the mist nearby.

RESCUER AND RESCUED



And the crew of the good ship out of Gloucester, assisted by the dignity of labor and the majesty of the sea, proceed to make a Rich Little Poor Boy out of the Poor Little Rich Boy that used to be. From the captain, who is Lionel Barrymore, to the Mickey Rooney, who is his cabin boy and son, they get to work on him.

Especially the Spencer Tracy who, as Manuel, saved him from the perils of the deep and is too much like another fisherman called Peter of Galilee to cast him back again. Powerful in his simplicity, simple in his power, that Peter of Galilee would call this Manuel of Spencer Tracy friend. It is a memorable impersonation.

And now for some public word-eating! Word-eating in connection with young Freddie Bartholomew who, as the Poor Little Rich boy in course of reconstruction on the Grand Banks, is superb. Maybe it was Little Lord Fauntleroy himself, I didn't care for. And young David Copperfield in person. It just couldn't have been Freddie.

There's no need to hold the horses of your enthusiasm where this new arrival at the Astor is concerned. You couldn't over-praise "Captains Courageous" if you tried.

U.A. to Sell 28 Percentage, Says Schaefer

production until the first of next year. Selznick International is down for five pictures next season. Schaefer did not discuss terms for the anticipated Charlie Chaplin production in which Paulette Goddard will be starred.

More than $150,000 will be spent for exploitation purposes next season, Monroe Greenthal, publicity, advertising and exploitation director, told the eastern regional sales force.

"Experimentation over the last 12 months has convinced U.A. producers and officials that key cities no longer are the only spots that offer revenue large enough to warrant sizeable expenditures to aid the exhibitor," Greenthal said. "In a number of instances, money spent for exploitation in small situations has built up grosses to many times more than the anticipated figure."

Publicity Drives Described

Campaigns for "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "Stella Dallas" were outlined by Greenthal. He touched on various selling angles and tieups already effected.

Hal Horne, associate producer for Walter Wanger, gave some of the national campaign plans for "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938" and "52nd Street." He also talked on the advance publicity lined up for the two pictures.

The afternoon was devoted to sessions between the division and district managers with individual exchange personnel. These meetings will be continued today, following which the men will leave for their territories.

Last night, the entire eastern delegation visited Ben Marden's Riviera.

Michalove in Studio Job

Dan Michalove, theatre contact between Sidney R. Kent, president of 20th Century-Fox, and Spyros P. Skouras, operating head of National Theatres, is now identified with the studio production forces of 20th Century-Fox at Movietone City. Michalove accompanied the home office delegation of the company to the coast for the annual sales meetings and did not return with the homecoming group.

In Fox Story Department

Hollywood, June 15.—Doris Warner LeRoy is rounding out her first couple of weeks in the story department at 20th Century-Fox. Her husband produces his own pictures for Warner release.

Steinberg to Aid Fair

Col. A. Ralph Steinberg, president of Radio and Film Methods Corp., has been named by Dr. John A. Harriss, president of the Broadway Ass'n as chairman of the association's special committee on the World's Fair. Other members of the committee are to be named soon.

Jane Wyman Stricken

Hollywood, June 15.—Jane Wyman is ill from a nervous breakdown. Her condition is described as "serious but not critical."

Among the U.A. Men

As soon as the morning session broke up yesterday, all exchange managers tossed for the elaborate display of U.A. stars which graced the Empire Room. Jay Schrader of Charlotte was the lucky manager. The display of producers with George J. Schaefer's picture in it will be sent to the New York exchange, while the large plaque of titles will be shipped to Dallas.

Charlie Rosenzweig, local exchange manager, decided to have lunch at a real Jewish restaurant. He corralled about a dozen of the boys and took a cab to Delancey St.

Sid Lehman, Buffalo manager, is expecting to become a father next month. It's the first time in his marital life of 12 years' standing and all of the boys are rooting for a prerelease in the top bracket division.

Hal Horne pulled a nifty at the opening of his speech. Confessing his inability to sing, Horne asked for a piano. One was rounded up and as he sat down to tickle the keys, whereupon a victrola in a far corner of the room gave out a tune from "52nd Street."

In a buildup for the Walter Wanger production, Schaefer took a poll to find out what men had not visited 52nd St. on Monday. No one stood up, but there was a suspicion that some of the boys were a little reluctant in raising hands.

Harry Gold, chief dialectician at U.A., brought the house down with his description of "Stand-In."

After Gold had finished, Schaefer said that if he were an exhibitor he would buy the picture on the strength of Gold's details.

Ben Levine, booker for the New York exchange, received a big hand when he was announced as the winner of the Walt Disney prize—which, by-the-way, was a handsome bracelet for Mrs. Levine.

Nat Thompson and Charles Steele of the home office left yesterday afternoon for Chicago as advance guard for the second regional sessions.

Lowell Calvert, eastern representative for Selznick International, found a comfortable seat in the rear right-hand corner and didn't move once during the speeches.

Some of the men were still raving over the two and a half reels in Technicolor they saw Monday night at the RCA projection room on "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1938."

Nat Thompson dropped his quiet garb and flashed some very sparkling clothes yesterday. He got the idea from last year's convention when the boys gave him an expensive robe as a gift.

George Roth let his urbane personality have full sway at the second day's session. He just sat through the morning meeting taking in everything without the wink of an eyelash.

Ed Raftery was conspicuous on the dais because of his fluffy white hair.

Lou Wechsler, pilot at the New Haven exchange, got his training here. Lou and Greenthal are vying for fashion honors in Esquire.

Moe Streimer was full of pep, despite the fact that he missed the Monday Knighters' Round Table at the Tavern.

U.A. 3rd to Adopt Refund on Posters

Decision of United Artists to adopt a rental plan for advertising accessories marks the third major distributor to inaugurate the system. Harry D. Buckley announced United Artists intention to go for the plan, starting Aug. 1, at the opening day of the three-day eastern regional at the Waldorf Astoria.

Paramount was first to sell its advertising material on a refund basis two years ago. Warners last month put the same system into effect at all its exchanges.

Buckley yesterday told Motion Picture Daily that no additional help will be necessary for the rental plan. He is now completing details on prices to be refunded under the return idea.

M-G-M in all probability will be the fourth company to go for the rental system. William F. Rodgers, general sales manager, has been studying the plan since the company's convention on the coast in May. He stated yesterday no decision has been made.

An effort will be made to have a large sum of Federal money earmarked for unemployed musicians. The request of the New York union to restrict its members to one year of work for the New York World's Fair was refused.

There were no business sessions held today. The important work of the convention, which will run through Saturday, will begin tomorrow.

Weber declared the meeting probably will go on record opposing the absorption of the musicians by industrial unions.

A conference between striking animators and representatives of Fleischer Studios will be held today before the Regional Labor Board. Members of Commercial Artists' and Designers' Union have been on strike and picketing Fleischer's home office for the past six weeks.

Ultimatum to Oklahoma Exchanges

Oklahoma City, June 15.—Eight film exchanges here have until late tonight to accept or reject the contracts with the Film Exchange Employees Union, newly-organized Federation of Labor affiliate, calling for 15 to 35 per cent wage increases and continuance of the 40-hour week.

The new wage scales ask a minimum of $40 weekly for shipping clerks, $35 for postal clerks, $25 for film inspectors and $22.50 for assistant inspectors.

The exchanges, which Union President George Snodgrass said will answer before the deadline, are: Universal, Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warners, M-G-M, Columbia, RKO and Republic.

Say Roxy Will Not Close for Changes

The Roxy will not be closed for alterations when 20th Century-Fox assumes operation about Aug. 1, it was stated yesterday by an executive of the company. Various details in connection with reorganization of Roxy Theatre, Inc., will take another six weeks, it was estimated.

Howard S. Cullman, trustee, is expected to act as representative for the bondholders' committee when the distributor takes over the house. The present management, it was intimated, will not be disturbed. This also holds true for the policy.

NBC Goes for Shakespeare Series in the Wake of CBS

HOLLYWOOD, June 15. — Comes now NBC into the court of the United States seeking to intervene in the case of CBS vs. Public Opinion over William Shakespeare.

NBC has announced a Shakespearean cycle of six weeks with John Barrymore as the featured attraction, several weeks after CBS had told of its plans for an eight-week cycle of the Bard of Avon's dramas during the summer.

The NBC series begins June 21, from 9:30 to 10:15 P. M., E.D.S.T. over the Blue network. CBS will start presenting its case July 12, and Mondays thereafter.

And so the great Shakespearean question emerges as: to be or not to be—CBS or NBC?

CBS has announced that true Shakespearean language and drama would prevail and that, according to William Lewis, vice-president and program director, Shakespeare was the greatest dramatist of all time, and no changes other than curtailment or striking out of the minor plots would be made in its series.

"Hoh, hoh," snicked NBC, pointing out that it has signed John Barrymore as the star of its series. "Barrymore," they said, "ought to know; he's played Shakespeare long enough. He says that the true Shakespearean concept of the dramas is that they should be played in the spirit of bawdiness and melodrama."

CBS's tentative exhibits in the court of the nation's listeners will be "King Lear," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Hamlet," "Much Ado About Nothing," "Macbeth," "As You Like It," "Henry IV," and "Twelfth Night." NBC's exhibits will be "Hamlet," Richard III," "Macbeth," "King Lear," "Richard II" and either "Winter's Tale" or "Cymbelline."

Presenting the case for CBS will be Leonard Hole, producer; Harry Ommerle, associate, and Brewster Morgan, director-adapter.

For NBC will be John Swallow in charge of programs on the west coast, and Marvin Young, producer-director, backed up by Will Prior, who will present suitable music.

Ninety-three stations have notified CBS they will carry the Shakespearean series, a record total for a sustaining series. Additional stations are trying to arrange their local schedules to permit carrying the series.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Singing Marine"

(Warners)

Hollywood, June 15.—This is the stuff of which popular entertainment is made, and this particular example should collect its share at the box-offices from the big spots to the small town house. It happens to be a good deal more music than Marines, and the story is not exactly a pulsating drama, but it was never intended to be and it is hardly necessary.

The picture's best bets, in the order named, probably will be Dick Powell, singing well; the music and lyrics of Harry Warren and Al Dubin, the show numbers of Busby Berkeley, and, far from least, a pair of newcomers, Doris Weston, who is attractive, a potential actress and possessed of a good voice, and Lee Dixon, young man with not too good looks, a fair personality and a real talent for tap dancing.

In strong support are Allen Jenkins, as the sergeant; Hugh Herbert, who is really funny; Jane Darwell and Jane Wyman. The direction of Ray Enright starts the film with plenty of pace and holds it through to the end.

Delmer Daves' story has Powell in love with Miss Weston, a cashier near the San Diego Marine base, but afraid to tell her. When she goes to New York for an amateur radio try, his buddies pay Powell's way, and dub him the singing Marine. She fails, but he is a sensation in a takeoff on the Bowes Hour. Hugh Herbert, the eccentric partner in a firm of agents, nails him to a contract, with Miss Weston as his secretary. The high life and the money leave him little time to think of the Marines, and he suddenly learns that he is A.W.O.L.

From that point the yarn takes considerable liberty with the Marines. The unit goes to Shanghai, he follows privately, and the shipboard entertainment is supplied by Powell, Miss Weston and Dixon. In China, the Marines decide Powell is a swelled-headed deserter, and it is only after he has saved the cafe of Miss Darwell, friend of the Marines, by turning his night club over to her, that he regains his place in the boys' esteem, and is reconciled with Miss Weston.

an order excluding these entirely non-political American entertainment films from Italy. The bureaucrats prohibit the pictures on the ground that they are "British propaganda."

Of course, it is quite within a nation's rights and prerogatives to exclude from its domain anything that it wishes whether it be a can of film or a can of sardines. But if a nation's hold on tranquility and security is so tenuous as to be even slightly jeopardized, in the government's opinion, by the exhibition of such ordinary entertainment attractions as these Hollywood pictures, then it would seem only the course of common sense that such a condition should not be proclaimed to the world.

AcademyUrges General Study Of Television

Research Council Points To Technical Progress

Hollywood, June 16.—Television has reached the point where it warrants careful study and observation from the film industry, states the Academy Research Council Scientific Committee report for the year ending in May. Semi-annual reports are to be issued hereafter to keep abreast of the technical developments.

"It is impossible to acquire a background in a field as complex as television overnight," the report states, "and study well in advance is a prerequisite of wise and economical planning. The time is not far off when those engaged in motion picture production, and others whose interests are likely to be affected by the evolution of this new field, will do well to acquire as much familiarity as possible with its characteristics and methods."

Television's popularity will rest upon an enlargement of the screen, the council finds.

Accounting Firm Heard On Stock Equities

Hearings on the proposed plan of reorganization for RKO neared a finish yesterday before Special Master George W. Alger. The taking of testimony is expected to be completed today.

Bernard Bercu of Gottheimer & Co., accountants for the Independent Protective Committee for common stockholders, presented an adjusted balance sheet for RKO, which he said was based on testimony previously given for stockholders. The balance sheet revealed a net equity available for common stockholders of $87,721,881 as compared with an equity of $810,123 shown on the balance sheet presented by the Atlas Corp., proponents of the plan. Bercu testified that the revaluation of RKO assets in January, 1932, ought to be disregarded and that the book value of that date less depreciation represented a true value of the assets. He also adopted the valuation of assets of subsidiaries and

A suit to enjoin Paramount from putting into effect the new employment contract for Adolph Zukor which was approved overwhelmingly by the company's stockholders on Tuesday has been brought in N. Y. Supreme Court by a dissenting stockholder, Austin Keough, vice-president and secretary of Paramount, admitted yesterday.

The action was brought by A. Ella Hayin, the owner of a small number of shares of Paramount stock, with the complaint having been sworn to on June 12. The action names directors of the company as defendants and requests a permanent injunction to restrain the company from carrying out the contract with Zukor. Stockholders approved the contract by a vote of 3,558,061 shares to 12,188 shares.

No date has been set yet for a court hearing on the action. Samuel Mehlman, attorney for the plaintiff, declined to comment yesterday.

Radio Control Held Hopeless By Kuykendall

Says Actors Oppose Any Producer Regulation

There is little hope of attaining a satisfactory regulation of the radio appearances of film stars, Ed Kuykendall, M.P.T.O.A. president, who arrived in New York yesterday from the south, said.

Kuykendall reported that he had been informed by a representative of the Screen Actors' Guild that not only would film stars refuse to withdraw from radio activities but that they would refuse to make contracts with any producer that bars them from radio. The S.A.G. official pointed out in this connection that producers were as powerless as exhibitors in any attempt to ban their stars from the air, thereby denying them opportunities for realizing additional income. For this reason the M.P.P.D.A. head was informed, exhibitors have little to hope for in the way of a curtailment of radio activities of the stars from their recent negotiations with producers' representatives.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Sing and Be Happy"

(20th Century-Fox)

Hollywood, June 16.—Considered in comparison with most of the music-comedies turned out by Darryl F. Zanuck's production outfit, this falls into the minor league. It lacks names for patronage draw in the first place, has a weak story in spite of a bit of novelty in idea which opens the film but fails to materialize, and in general has little of that infectious spark which may be counted upon to carry over to an audience.

There is a song or two, supplied by Sidney Clare and Harry Akst, which may prove popular, and Anthony Martin, who plays the lead, has an agreeable voice, but otherwise the film has little to offer. James Tinling directed.

The original screenplay by Lou Breslow, John Patrick and Ben Markson finds Martin, wastrel band leader son of an advertising executive, Berton Churchill, stranded in the west. He returns to New York to be near the girl he loves, Leah Ray, the daughter of his father's business rival. The two companies are competing for an important pickle contract, which involves a radio program. The girl's father is constantly beaten by Churchill because a man in his office is selling secrets. Meanwhile, Martin sings his way in pursuit of the hand of Miss Ray against a background of comedy supplied by Chick Chandler and Helen Westley.

Production Code Seal No. 3,311. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

"Married Before Breakfast"

(M-G-M)

Hollywood, June 16.—Lively fun into which has been woven a thread of effervescent comedy, romance and conflict is the substance of this picture. Not very impressive as far as name values are concerned but, nevertheless, in the hands of capable players who go about their work with vim and verve, the film is an amusing show that should serve nicely in association with a more expensively produced or dramatic offering.

The plot is merely a peg upon which much clever dialogue, laugh-provoking situations and comedy character performance is hung. Never making any pretenses at the serious, it moves along at a breezy tempo. Much credit for the picture's amusement value goes to its author, Harry Ruskin, screenplay writers, George Oppenheimer and Everett Freeman, and director, Edwin L. Marin.

Finally selling an invention for a fortune, likable Robert Young gives a party for his boarding house friends of less prosperous days. Intent on marrying socialite June Clayworth, his plans go awry when he encounters Florence Rice. Intent on doing good for everybody, Young determines to help Miss Rice by helping the boy she wants to marry, Hugh Marlowe, sell an insurance policy. The ensuing, exciting comedy and action in which Barnett Parker, Warren Hymer, Helen Flint, Irene Franklin, Tom Kennedy and Edgar Dearing participate brought many laughs from the audience before Young decides that Miss Rice is the girl he must marry.

Fleischer Employes Will Vote on Union

A new election to determine whether or not the Commercial Artists' & Designers' Union represents a majority of the Max Fleischer studio employes will be held in the near future as a result of the union's request, unopposed by the company, which was made in the course of a hearing before the National Labor Relations Board here on the six-weeks-old strike.

The request for a new election followed the withdrawal of arguments before Lester Levin, N.L.R.B. referee, on the union's contested claims that it represented a majority of the employes. The hearing was indefinitely postponed, but may resume today in an effort to determine whether animators should belong to a separate labor unit, apart from mechanical employes of the Fleischer plant, as contended by the company. Fleischer was represented at the hearing by Louis Nizer, his attorney.

Looking 'Em Over

"Damaged Lives"

(Weldon Pictures)

This film is in reality an exposition, via fiction and an illustrated lecture, in fact, of the problems incident to the ravages of venereal diseases, and the probability and method of cure if intelligent understanding of the problem is attained. By its subject matter, it is totally unfit for theatrical exhibition and properly falls into the field of social service endeavor for showings under such auspices.

The film was banned originally by the New York State censor board, but later was approved by the N. Y. Board of Regents, under which the censor board functions. It is now presented under the sponsorship of the American Social Hygiene Ass'n. There is, of course, the possible temptation of capitalizing on it from the "forbidden" angle. Such a procedure must be considered both unwise and unjustified.

The fiction story, however ineptly told from the standpoint of production value, is nonetheless not tawdry, cheap or vulgar. The only objection to it could come from those who oppose the dissemination of any such information, an attitude traditionally held by newspapers, but now virtually discarded.

The story tells of the tragedy in the life of a young couple as the result of a single indiscretion on the part of the man, and the hope they have at the end of successful treatment. The last 30 minutes, of the film is devoted to the illustrated lecture, which frankly cites facts and suggests procedure, accompanied by diagrams and photographs.

No production code seal. Running time, 90 minutes. "A."

the coast and Dallas where he conferred on the deal.

Several directors of U.A. Theatres will be named to the board of the new company to be set up in connection with the Robb & Rowley deal. The new name may be Robb & Rowley-United Artists circuit. However, this does not imply that Harold Robb and Edward Rowley will be appointed members of the U.A. Theatre company.

Preferred stockholders of the U.A. circuit on Wednesday received $1.25 as a quarterly dividend, the first in five years. On June 4, last, a 10-year United Artists franchise with the Rivoli, operated by the U.A. circuit, which has no connection with the distributing company, expired.

Tri-States Grosses Show 6-Month Gains

Omaha, June 16.—District Manager Evert R. Cummings of Tri-States reports increased grosses for every city of his district except one for the first six months of 1937 as compared to the same period of 1936.

The increases were primed by higher prices in three situations, Hastings, Grand Island and Fairbury, Neb. Grosses jumped 25 per cent for Hastings; 15 per cent each for the other two cities.

Omaha grosses jumped 15 per cent during the period, but Sioux City fell off because of drouth conditions in South Dakota. Since the stockyards are the principal industry of this Iowa city, the 35-year low in stock receipts hurt at the box-office. Tri-States had raised prices in only one Sioux City house, and that a subsequent run.

Neighborhoods Prospered

Omaha neighborhood houses also have fared well, with Augie Herman's report of a 20 per cent increase at the Muse being the best.

Outstate in the smaller towns exhibitors have been hit by lack of crop money. Their business is off compared to 1936, but continuous heavy rains augur good crops and good business before the year closes.

In western Nebraska the state's greatest quick-money crop, sugar beets, will be bountiful and boom business for exhibitors of the North Platte Valley.

Executives Address AFM

Vincent T. Miles, member of the Social Security Board, spoke, outlining the security act.

About 10 resolutions came before the convention, mostly concerned with the working conditions of members.

Incumbent officers will seek reelection. The only one opposed is Harry Brenton, treasurer.

Vancouver, June 16.—A demonstration of projection equipment has been given before Commissioner J. M. Coady as part of his general investigation for the Provincial Government into the question of whether two men in a booth are necessary. Theatre owners are seeking an amendment to the Fire Marshal's Act permitting one licensed operator and an apprentice.

available with the requisite photographic quality, television may be expected to gain marked impetus, and commercial application in the larger urban centers will not long be delayed. The lesson to be derived from the British experience to date may be that when those in a position to guage entertainment value advise that a given picture size is inadequate for successful commercial application, no purpose is served by trying it out on the public. The likelihood of a favorable verdict does not increase with the size of the jury.

"For the United States, it is to be hoped that no attempt will be made to commercialize home television until a picture equivalent in definition to the best home movie projection, and not smaller than 24 by 18 inches, can be furnished with routine reliability. The most important interests in the domestic field appear to be committed to some such prudent policy."

Sees Coast as Field

The report expressed the opinion that after something nearer perfection has been achieved in New York as a result of the Empire State and Chrysler Bldg. broadcasts Los Angeles will be the next important field for experimentation. The report predicts that New York problems will be well on the way to solution in 1938 or early 1939.

No prospect for early television service in sparsely settled areas is seen.

High buildings in New York furnish vantage points for broadcasting to distances up to 43 miles, the report states, but they at the same time blanket the broadcasts in spots. Los Angeles, on the other hand, has Cahuenga Peak at an elevation of 1,825 feet and low buildings. Both cities have plenty of entertainment talent.

The report is signed by Carl Dreher, chairman; Gordon Chambers, L. E. Clark, J. G. Frayne, Barton Kruezer, Wesley C. Miller, Hollis Moyse and William Mueller.

of which Walter Vincent is chairman, has no immediate plans for resuming meetings with producers' representatives. Only one such meeting has been held by the committee and little of a tangible nature developed from that. Spokesmen for the producing companies informed the exhibitor committee that they were aware of the problems being complained of and were doing their best to control and reduce them. The general attitude of production spokesmen is that no more definite assurance than this can come from them.

Kuykendall emphasized that he was as vigorously opposed as ever to unregulated Hollywood broadcasts and was not yet satisfied that all the available corrective measures had been attempted, despite the unpromising outlook for attaining any definite remedies.

Deplores Program Failure

The M.P.T.O.A. head was equally disappointed, he said, in the prospects for realizing any comprehensive trade practice program or for the establishment of local conciliation boards, at the outset of the new selling season. He indicated the possibility, however, of the M.P.T.O.A. launching a new offensive in the late summer or early fall to force concessions of this nature from distributors.

Kuykendall plans to leave tomorrow for his Columbus, Miss., home. He will attend the annual convention of the Southeastern T.O.A. at Birmingham, beginning June 28.

New Shows on the Air

"Captain Tim"

"Captain Tim's Spy Stories," produced under the auspices of the WPA of New York and presented on WINS, Tuesdays from 3:30 to 4 P. M., is an ably produced suspenseful program, dealing with spy experiences.

Present for the opening was Capt. Healy, whose personal espionage experiences during the World War form the background for the stories. Healy recounted the invaluable work accomplished by spies throughout American history, and paid tribute to their work.

The skit dealt with espionage activities in France during the war and moved smoothly throughout the entire 30-minute period. Vernon Radcliffe, WPA radio production manager in New York, handles the production and script.

affiliated companies as carried on the books of those companies rather than the lower valuation carried on the books of the parent company.

George L. Schein, attorney for the stockholders, also placed Arthur D. Mendes, investment counsel, on the stand to prove that the valuation of the new securities under the plan was too low. Alger refused to allow comparisons with other major producers.

William H. Clark, treasurer of RKO Pictures, testified on behalf of the proponents that the method of amortizing pictures over an 18-month period was a fair one. Clark's testimony was in answer to Schein's contention that 42 pictures produced $1,496,000 after they were written off the books at $1 each. Clark contended that it was impossible to arrive at an amortization figure which would eliminate all possible later earnings. He pointed out further that earnings from such pictures were only 5½ per cent of the total rentals during 1936.

Si Fabian testified briefly as to the claim against RKO based on guarantees of leases made by RKO Proctor for the Palace in Albany and the Plaza in Schenectady. After cross-examination he admitted that rentals had been reduced. G. Frank Reavis, Fabian's attorney, was granted permission to reply if the contention is raised at subsequent hearings that RKO was relieved from these guarantees because of lease modifications.

Reflections from RKO

Los Angeles, June 16.—Al Sindlinger of March of Time claims he uses film in his camera for those candids. But some of the boys are still waiting for last year's convention snapshots.

Jules Levy had a sudden yen for authorship, summoned Jim Finney, his secretary, and then the possible best-seller turned out to be his convention speech.

Johnny O'Connor tried to get an advance tip on the product lineup so as to figure out some good deals before Jules Levy could get wise to the scheme, but McCormick and Neilson, press men, kept the important yarn under lock and key.

Al Folliar commutes from the Washington office to his place in Edgemore, Md. Due to his rapidly expanding waistline Al is having a time stooping for weeds in his garden.

Ralph Rolan, March of Time vice-president, is seldom seen without one of the pipes, which he collects, dangling from his jaw. Convention speech making ought to hold no terror for Ralph, who makes about seven a month.

If you don't like to do a lot of friendly chatting in the morning before you've had your coffee stay away from Claude W. McKean, Indianapolis.

Frank M. Snell, vice-president of Condor Pictures, is withholding his decision to move his office to his company's Hollywood studios until he has a chance to pick up on the golf clubs in the film city. His decision will be announced upon receipt of club rates, course yardage, etc.

Aside from his small daughter, Herb Greenblatt, Cleveland branch manager, likes salami about as well as anything. That old digestive tract may develop snags any minute now.

R. H. Lange, Pittsburgh, is the latest "country gentleman" in the gang. He has just bought a new place in Mt. Lebanon, Pa.

Salesman E. Guy Hancock, Indianapolis, doesn't give out any information about that "E." Well, we do. It stands for Edgar, but he hates it.

Max Fellerman of the eastern RKO theatres booking offices took advantage of the free ride to the coast to clean up a few local problems which some of the out-of-town boys.

Hal Sloane and Kay Kamen, publicity mentors in the east for Walt Disney, were very much in evidence carrying special buttons and badges supplied by Mickey's proud parent.

Ralph Rolan and his four-man delegation stooging for "March of Time," were in a constant huddle, smoking up terrific ideas, no doubt.

Bill Dahler and Lou Miller were again the inseparables as they have been at many an RKO conclave. This is one for Ripley, considering the rivalry between the contract approval men for the west and east.

To make a perfect camera record of the convention, Joe Heppner, agile New York lens man, purchased a new "Contax" camera, but he found it tough going trying it out on the tough and ragged jaws of the husky sales boys.

The Boston boys are worried about M. M. Ames' giant sheep dog being left at home. The poor pooch bumps his head on trees instead of walking around them.

For the Family

THE Roxy, which often mentions the fact that it caters to family trade, currently is playing an act called "Dance of the Lovers," done by Lela Moore.

When the dim lights on a park bench give way to the bright glare of arcs it looks to the audience as though a man in evening clothes is indulging in what is often described as "necking." No policeman appears and the act gains pace.

The left half of the figure is the man; the right is a blonde in a light blue evening gown. The woman's hand seems to be pushing the man's away from various parts of her anatomy, including her knee. They—or she—dance and the man seems to grip her around the waist and push her over backwards on the stage. The performance ends on the park bench with the girl seemingly looking up into the man's face from a horizontal position with her arms hanging limply.

The act is elaborately staged, but if the antics are art it is the type of art Minsky's former patrons enjoyed before license troubles developed.

Rain Stops, "Road Back" Starts with Big Display

By J. M. JERAULD

If Universal's opening of "The Road Back" had taken place an hour earlier, a large number of New York's prominent citizens would have appeared in sou'easters and oilskins. That might have taken the "gala" out of the premiere at the Globe.

The weather man gave P. D. Cochrane and J. R. Grainger a break. From 8:30 to 9 o'clock there wasn't a sprinkle, and the sidewalks dried. And the limousines arrived. Spectators gathered and some of them acquired sun tans.

Somebody at Universal had decreed that there should be light, and there was. The generators on the east side of Broadway sounded like machine guns and the arcs shooting across the sidewalk into the lobby met the glare of other arcs placed near the ticket collectors in the lobby. Even the policemen's noses became shiny and celebrities came in giving what seemed to be Nazi salutes. They were just protecting their eyes.

Musicians' union pickets and others tried their best to keep their signs above the heads of the crowd, but most of them had taken the road back to headquarters before 8:45.

There was so much light photographers didn't need bulbs. Grainger was photographed while he was trying Moskowitz and Eugene Picker are acting for the circuit. J. J. Unger, eastern and southern division sales head for Paramount, will again sit in at the sessions as soon as he returns from Cincinnati where he is holding a regional conclave.

Meetings between circuit officials and U. A. sales executives, namely, George J. Schaefer and A. W. Smith, Jr., have been suspended until the Chicago regional session is over.

Paramount to Test North Dakota Law

Paramount expects to file an application for an injunction to restrain the State of North Dakota from enforcing its circuit theatre divorce law before July 1, Austin Keough, Paramount vice-president and secretary, said yesterday.

The action will include a test of the constitutionality of the measure in that the application for the injunction will be based upon contentions that the state law violates the due process clause and other provisions of the Federal constitution. Papers in the

M-G-M Undecided on Harlow's "Saratoga"

While M-G-M is proceeding with the completion of "Saratoga," this decision does not make it necessarily conclusive that the final Jean Harlow film will be released with her in it, it was learned yesterday. Indications point toward this eventuality, but ultimate decision will be reached when the film is finished.

The late Miss Harlow's mother has asked that "Saratoga" be released. Metro reports the public, by hundreds of letters, feels identically about it.

Harlow Will Filed

HOLLYWOOD, June 17.—Jean Harlow left her entire estate to her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, it was disclosed in her will filed in Probate Court. Her property was estimated to be worth between $100,000 and $1,000,000.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

COURAGE and intelligence and time and money have been poured into the making of "The Road Back" and the rewards now are about to be turned over to the public, the inescapable arbiter, for determination. Of this sequel to "All Quiet on the Western Front," it is fitting to observe at the outset that, now and at this time when a second World War appears well on its unholy way, Erich Maria Remarque's study of the aftermath of the first should have been told for the thinking it ought to precipitate and the arresting of future damage it might induce. It is not within the normal function of the producer of films to embark upon enterprises such as this with the social order in mind. Therefore and obviously, Universal made "The Road Back" with an eye to its profit ledger. For the task delivered, the hope must trail that this will be a commercially blessed effort. . . .

With its faults, the picture has its merits. They are quite pronounced merits. The faults, we are inclined to credit to the book itself; to its episodic treatment and thus to its lack of a sustained and concentrated story. It is true Remarque saw no purpose in a highly personalized drama. The impact of his approach on the uncertainty and the hopelessness which followed in the wake of the war was impact sufficient that gathered intensity and power by the very force of the events themselves. Those circumstances were the drama. The small band of returned German soldiers who were implanted in the foreground were merely the human characters, symbolic of millions in the vanquished nations, who sloughed around in the mire of despair endeavoring futilely to find a way out of their morass. . . .

The spirit and the concept of the book, then, have not been seriously contravened. You are constantly heart-warmed and acutely conscious of the horrors through which Ernst, Ludwig, Tjaden, Willy, Wessling, Albert, Giesicke and the others have passed. R. C. Sherriff and Charles Kenyon, in their treatment, and James Whale, in his direction have endeavored to focus each individual tragedy in highlight and, in a measure, they have been successful. Yet, accurately and properly, they made no attempt to overshadow the larger canvas with its political and its economic implications and its undeniable exploiting of the rank and file for the aggrandizement of the private few. . . .

Thus and while sullen protest gathers momentum in the minds of these disillusioned boys, sent back to a peace which has no place for them, there is constantly in the foreground this larger and much more vital undertone finally let loose from its imprisonment in a stirring and dramatic courtroom scene. Albert is on trial for the murder of Bartscher, the profiteer. The incident deals with the love which this Albert, a veteran at an age when he might yet have been in school, has for Lucy. She has been trifling with him, taking her fun where she might find it which includes Bartscher. Albert sees them in the private dining room of the town's cafe and, trained in the business of killing men who had done him no wrong, calmly and with calculation shoots this one who has. . . .

The trial goes against him. But before the conviction, Albert's war comrades testify in his behalf. The words placed in the mouths of these characters build into a smashing indictment of war at large, the political and economic motivations. "If you want to know who really is guilty, find the men who gave us the revolvers and sent us out to use them," thunders Ernst at one point. Killing private enemies to square private grievances shocks the court, yet judge and jury are asked what else might be expected from boys, hardly grown into men, who have been killing at will for the hollow glory of the Fatherland. . . .

These and similarly sharply etched bits of drama run through this bitter disillusionment of the thrills of the battlefield. The audience at the Globe found mirth and some glee in those episodes designed to be humorous. This reviewer, however, found nothing of the sort. He divined that, by special and perhaps occasionally a strained effort, comedy was sought to be injected. It was comedy of an inherently ghastly strain, superinduced and whipped into a frenzy to ward off the next attack, the succeeding exploding shells and the ensuing sudden death on the front and it was comedy superimposed on a more quiet, but nonetheless agonizing, tragedy in the peace of the town these youngsters called home but in which they could find no place. . . .

The dramatic content is not always well sustained. It rises and falls like an ebb tide, but when it gains in force it frequently well nigh engulfs in a smothering sweep. "The Road Back," it must be reported, is a motion picture with a social consciousness of a very large order. This, at once, stamps it as unusual and apart from the herd. Whether the public will find what it has to say too uncomfortably true or too thought-provoking to be concerned with while amusement-bent becomes the disquieting commercial approach on this attraction. For the truth of the matter is the film starts on a hopeless and defeatist key and maintains that integrity to its abrupt and inconclusive conclusion—inconclusive in that it points up the results without suggesting a cure for the cause. Nevertheless, this is a motion picture of girth and stalwart measure, earmarked with courage and, by all right, worthy of resounding success. . . .

to find Mrs. Grainger in the glare. H. M. Warner stopped when the cameraman asked him to and Herb Crooker unwittingly cut off the view. It was a faux pas, but somebody pulled him one side.

Hope Hampton and Jules E. Brulatour took it in their stride. They've done it before.

When Kate Smith came in the boys readjusted their lenses. Jack Cohn, Jack Alicoate, P. D. Cochrane, Colvin Brown and party and others followed in rapid order. An excited woman thought she saw Dorothy Gish and dashed up for an autograph. The name wasn't Dorothy.

Paul Gulick's platinum locks caused hiliation in the lenses, so he went back and came in over again with one of Tom Mix's evening model sombreros.

Lobby Colorful

The lobby was done in red velvet drapes with colored scenes from the picture arranged here and there, and quite a few signs over doorways and elsewhere proclaimed that Universal had other features coming.

The music started about 9:10, and the film got under way about 10 minutes later. It was a large and enthusiastic audience, as the rural weeklies used to say, and a good time was had by all—that is, all who didn't linger around in front of the Kliegl lights waiting for celebrities to come in.

IT'S BEEN A GREAT RECORD BUT WE'RE NOT SATISFIED!

We could stand on that record, but we won't. In this business yesterday doesn't count. We're looking ahead! We know we have not yet begun to tap the full resources of our studio, the full abilities of our production brains. For the coming season, 20th Century-Fox, the Studio of Ideas, will give you not just a program of pictures, but a program of progress!

20th CENTURY FOX

THE KEYSTONE OF YOUR FUTURE

FOR 1937 • 1938

You know this business!

You know that there are just two things that matter:

(1) Good pictures.
(2) A fair sales policy.

You know that no company has fulfilled these requirements more faithfully and effectively than 20th Century-Fox.

No one knows better than you what we did in 1936-37 . . . hit after hit . . . new personalities developed — Sonja Henie, Simone Simon, Tyrone Power, Winchell and Bernie, the Ritz Brothers. New showmanship ideas . . . out-of-the-beaten-track entertainment. Unusual story angles and fresh themes . . . the most daring and profitable run of musicals ever made by any one. You know, too, how these successes have rehabilitated many theatres and brought new prosperity to every theatre playing 20th Century-Fox pictures.

We don't have to tell you that those 1936-37 accomplishments will go doubled in spades for 1937-38.

You can rest content only when studio brains are restless . . . and the studio minds at 20th Century-Fox are always striking into unexplored story fields, always alert to the public's newest entertainment moods, always awake to modern show trends. They are never satisfied to follow, but enthusiastically assume the responsibility of leadership.

Now look at the following pages, outlining 20th's first-quarter releases for the new season. And remember that, thrilling as the line-up is, it represents only the beginning of 20th's greatest year!

RKO to Have 56 Features Next Season

Mitzi Green, Miriam Hopkins, Nino Martini, Charles Boyer and Bob Burns.

One of the high spots of the program will be Walt Disney's first feature in Technicolor, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Disney will release his "Mickey Mouse" and "Silly Symphonies" cartoons through RKO next season.

Among the important stage properties planned for production are "Stage Door," the George S. Kaufman-Edna Ferber play; "Having a Wonderful Time," by Arthur Kober, in which Jack Oakie will be importantly cast, and "Irene."

Herbert Wilcox's elaborate production, "Victoria the Great," made in England and starring Anton Walbrook and Anna Neagle, will be released by RKO. "New Faces of 1938" will continue the musical film series started this season.

Combine Astaire, Rogers, Berlin

The Astaire-Rogers team will appear in an Irving Berlin musical, which will be produced by Pandro Berman. Astaire will star individually in another Berman production, and Miss Rogers will star alone in "Irene," co-star with Katharine Hepburn in "Stage Door" and team with Charles Boyer in "Perfect Harmony." Miss Hepburn also will star alone in another Berman film.

Irene Dunne will star in two, the first to be "The Joy of Loving," with music, story and lyrics by Jerome Kern, Dorothy Yost and Herbert Fields, to be produced by Felix Young. Barbara Stanwyck will star in two. Lily Pons will star in "The Girl in a Cage," with Jack Oakie and Erik Rhodes, to be produced by Jesse Lasky, and Nino Martini will appear in "Music for Madame," for which Rudolph Friml will write the music and Gus Kahn the lyrics.

Miriam Hopkins will play in one, and Bobby Breen, under the banner of Sol Lesser, will star in three. Joe E. Brown will play in "Fit for a King," to be produced by David L. Loew and directed by Edward Sedgwick. Mitzi Green will appear in a Lew Brown and Ray Henderson musical, "Love Below Freezing," which Berman will produce.

More O'Brien Westerns

George O'Brien will continue his western series, with six to be produced by George Hirliman of Condor. Wheeler and Woolsey will co-star in one. Richard Dix will appear in one to be produced by Hirliman. Bob Burns, Jack Oakie, Victor Moore and Lucille Ball will play in "Radio City Revels," a musical revue which P. J. Wolfson will produce.

A comedy combination composed of Joe Penner, Parkyakarkus, Victor Moore, Gene Raymond, Harriet Hilliard, Helen Broderick and Eric Blore will appear in "The Life of the Party," a musical for which Herb Magidson and Allie Wrubel will do the music and which William Seiter will direct. Edward Kaufman will produce.

The 94 short subjects, exclusive of the 104 issues of Pathe News, in which it is planned to introduce innovations in style and treatment, will include: 18 Walt Disney "Mickey Mouse" and "Silly Symphonies" cartoons; 13 "March of Time;" two series of one-reel musicals, 13 from Condor and six from Atlas Pictures, to be produced by Milton Schwarzwald; 13 Bill Corum sports reel, from Condor; seven "Pathe Parade," 24 two-reel comedies in six series, six Edgar Kennedys. six Leon Errols, three Radio Flashes, three Headliners, three Smart Sets and three Radio Musicals.

S. Barret McCormick, director of advertising and publicity, told the convention that the company expects to triple its advertising budget nationally for next season as compared to the present year. Considerable newspaper space will be taken, McCormick said. The advertising and publicity personnel was increased 25 per cent during the year, he declared. He said he anticipated a budget of about $100,000 for the advertising of each of the major pictures on the new schedule.

Talks by Ralph Rolan, of March of Time, and Fred Ullman, of Pathe News, wound up the first day's session, which was followed by a cocktail party given by March of Time. A preview of "New Faces" followed the party.

Public relations as they affect sales promotion and educational work in the industry were discussed by Leon J. Bamberger, sales promotion manager.

Reflections from RKO

Los Angeles, June 17.—Whistling merrily the tune, "I'll Never Let You Go" (dedicated to Conventionites' wives, individually and collectively), Jack Ellis admitted that he was Fred Astaire's collaborator on the number.

Watch out for Harold "Baby" Cohen. Folks in the New Orleans exchange say he can do more with a five dollar bill than anybody on record if you give him one "on trial."

Dapper Ben Cammack, general manager of South American sales, can now swing his Spanish in 21 accents. The same thing is called "raton" in Venezuela, "persiguidora" in Peru, "cuerpo Malo" in Chile, "goma" in Central America and "guayabo" in Columbia. It simply means "hangover."

When is Nicky Goldhammer, Minneapolis branch manager, going to stop chewing paper? The only paper he won't tear up for a dainty morsel is a contract.

Joe Rubenstein, Los Angeles, can get 20 per cent off on anything you want to buy.

When Arthur Goldsmith, Cleveland, starts laughing the world laughs with him. It's that kind of a chuckle.

Harry Leasim, Continental mogul, is no mean linguist, even though the King's English is spoken in his main domain. Harry spoke some mighty smart Spanish in driving bargains for Mexican souvenirs.

Can Allow But $21,176,694 Of RKO Claims

Of the total of $55,000,000 of creditors' claims which were filed against RKO in the company's reorganization proceedings, not more than $21,176,694 can be allowed by the Federal court, O. C. Doering, of counsel to the RKO trustee, advised Special Master George W. Alger at a hearing on the company's reorganization plan yesterday.

Doering's estimate excludes the $9,100,000 Rockefeller Center claim, provision for the settlement of which is made in the reorganization plan. The trustee's attorney said that the claims allowed by the court to date total $6,102,162.

The taking of testimony in connection with the plan was completed yesterday and the hearing of arguments was begun, with Joseph M. Cohen, an associate accountant for the independent stockholders' protective committee, the first to be heard. Arguments will be resumed June 22 and concluded the following day. Thereafter, attorneys will have until July 15 in which to submit briefs in reply to the oral arguments, and until July 26 in which to submit reply briefs. Special Master Alger set Aug. 5 for the hearing of further evidence if that is necessary after he has heard the arguments and read the briefs.

Assets Reduction Told

The final testimony was offered by Anthony Belcer, an accountant, who was called by H. C. Rickaby, counsel for the Atlas Corp., the proponent of the RKO reorganization plan. Belcer testified that the value of RKO's assets was reduced by $24,474,941 by the revaluation undertaken for the company in 1932. Of this amount, he said, $16,372,072 was charged against reserve at the end of the year. Most of the adjustments were made on land valuations, he said. Belcer declined to make an upward revaluation of RKO's assets on the basis of improved conditions on the grounds that he had insufficient data at his disposal.

In opening the arguments on the plan, Cohen listed a number of changes which the independent stockholders' committee favored. These included a reduction of interest on the new RKO debentures from five and one-half per cent to four and one-half per cent; elimination of the privilege of converting debentures into common stock; the payment of unsecured creditors' claims in preferred stock only, rather than in preferred and common as provided in the plan, and payment of stockholders on a share-for-share basis, instead of the proposed one-half share of new common for each share of the old.

In support of the latter point, Cohen asserted that "RKO is in the best financial position it has ever been and has twice as much cash on hand than it ever had before."

He also asked that no new common stock be distributed under the plan until a fair basis of evaluating the equity of common stockholders can be found. He pointed out that the company's original stockholders had invested $23,000,000 in RKO, that that had been cut to one-fourth by the company's 1931 recapitalization plan, and that the reorganization plan now proposed to cut it to one-eighth of its original value.

Center Settlement Criticised

Cohen attacked the provisions for settlement of the Rockefeller Center claim as "unfair," and said that the claim should be fought out in court. He said that the proposal to issue 500,000 shares of new RKO common stock to Rockefeller Center in settlement of the claim would give the Center "one-fourth or one-fifth of the entire stock equity." Cohen challenged earlier opinions that the operations of the Music Hall and Center would "ever be profitable to RKO."

Alger observed in the course of the hearing that he "would rather be too conservative than too liberal with creditors' money. Too many companies which have been reorganized," he said, "are back in the courts again after a year or two. I won't allow that to happen in this case."

A Correction

Through a typographical error, Motion Picture Daily yesterday stated the adjusted balance sheet presented by Bernard Bercu of Gottheimer & Co. before Special Master George W. Alger revealed a net equity available for RKO common stockholders of $87,721,881 when the correct figure is $8,721,881. Bercu represents the Independent Protective Committee for common stockholders as accountant.

Executives Address Chicago U. A. Meet

Chicago, June 17.—Speeches by George J. Schaefer, L. Jack Schlaifer and A. W. Smith, Jr., opened the three-day session of United Artists at the Palmer House here today. Last year's business was discussed and the new season's product was outlined. Ninety-seven are in attendance at the meeting, 85 of whom are salesmen.

Tonight the delegates witnessed two reels each of "Walter Wanger's Vogues of 1937" and "52nd Street" and all of "Knight Without Armour."

Monroe Greenthal tomorrow will talk on advertising and publicity and in the afternoon individual sales conferences will be held with all managers and salesmen.

Friday evening as well as Saturday morning will be taken up by conferences.

"Solomon's Mines"

London, June 17.—"King Solomon's Mines," warmly received at its Phoenix Theatre premiere here tonight, is a spectacular adventure drama with plenty of love interest and a strong male appeal. The mass scenes, including warfare and the tribal dances of the Zulus, are done on an impressive scale and are effectively climaxed by a sequence depicting the collapse of a volcano crater. The veldt and mountain backgrounds are authentic.

Outstanding in the cast are: Paul Robeson, who sings excellently; Roland Young, supplying some good comedy, and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

The story values and dialogue are distinctly inferior to the action which the direction maintains at a satisfactory pace. Production technique by G.B. is good. The film runs 80 minutes. Success for the picture in America seems quite probable. ALLAN

Looking 'Em Over

"Rythm in the Clouds"

(Republic)

Another in the seemingly endless stream of stories centering in and about the broadcasting field, this picture may be classified as unpretentious, light entertainment, good for a few laughs, containing a tuneful song or two, and of the type which in all probability will be found enjoyable by audiences in the smaller locations.

It lacks name value for selling purposes, but the cast works hard and is adequate, headed by Patricia Ellis and Warren Hull, and supported in particular by William Newell, Richard Carle, Charles Judels and Suzanne Kaaren. John H. Auer directed.

Miss Ellis, starving song writer, receives a letter from David Carlyle, famous songsmith, and by a slight alteration, occupies his Park Ave. apartment during his absence. She and the next tenant, Hull, popular lyric writer, engage in a noise-making feud. When a radio agency calls asking for Carlyle's music, she sends her own, with his name added. It is accepted, Hull is commissioned to write the lyrics, and the contact man of the agency, Newell, is at his wit's end trying to keep the two apart.

Eventually they meet, fall in love, then out of it when each learns that the other is the "one next door." The situation is further complicated when Miss Kaaren, a singer, finds Miss Ellis living in the apartment of her fiance, Carlyle. But fast thinking by Hull saves the day and the romance.

Short Subjects

"Wild West Days"

(Universal)

Action, gunplay, suspense and vigorous drama—required ingredients of serials—are not lacking in this segmented tale of the west. The basic story concerns the efforts of a rustling gang to drive a cattleman off his property in order to have a clear path to the border. Platinum, somehow or other, is discovered on the land—it probably was planted there by the authors—and more complications arise. Naturally there is bitter conflict. Johnny Mack Brown, George Shelley, Robert Kortman, Frank Yaconelli, Lynn Gilbert, Frank McGlynn, Russell Simpson, Walter Miller and Chief Thunderbird are in the cast. It is substantial serial stuff that will please the children on the weekend matinees. Production Code Seal No. 3,062. Running time, each chapter, approximately 20 mins. "G."

"The Morning, Noon and Night Club"

(Fleischer-Paramount)

Popeye and Olive are adagio dancers in this cartoon. There is the usual interference by Bluto and the whirlwind and thrilling fisticuffs which eventually culminate the entertaining proceedings. Production Code Seal No. 01,399. Running time, 7 mins. "G."

"Hong Kong"

(Fitzpatrick-M-G-M)

Handsomely composed scenes of the British possession. It is done in beautiful Technicolor. There are fine shots of the resorts on Repulse Bay and closeups of the pretty "Miss Hong Kong." Thoroughly delightful. Production Code Seal No. 01,556. Running time, 8 mins. "G."

An application from Edwin A. Kraft for a new broadcasting station at Petersburg, Alaska, was denied.

At its weekly meeting, the broadcast division ordered hearings held on the applications of the Capitol Broadcasting Co., Raleigh, N. Guild May Oppose "Guests" On Radio Without Payment

The Screen Actors' Guild may move in the near future to prohibit its members from appearing on "guest" radio programs without pay, Kenneth Thomson, executive secretary of the Guild, said yesterday. The majority sentiment within the Guild, he said, already favors such a course.

If the move occurs, indications are that the Guild would set a minimum compensation as a requisite to each radio appearance of its members. The minimum would probably compare with that set by Actors' Equity Ass'n, with which the Guild is affiliated, and which requires that Equity members receive the equivalent of one-eighth of a week's salary for an appearance on a "guest" air program. The Guild's move would hit directly at the "Hollywood Hotel" program, which uses more guest stars than any other Hollywood program.

Thomson said that the Guild would cooperate in Hollywood with Actors Equity in the organizing of radio talent, a drive which is expected to get under way this summer. The Guild would require its members who appear on the air to become members of either Equity or its radio affiliate, if one is organized.

Frank Gillmore, Equity president, refers to the organizing of radio talent in the current issue of the organization's magazine, Equity, as "the most immediate" problem before the organization and "sufficient in itself to occupy the entire time and attention of the Equity staff." Gillmore expresses the hope that the organizing can be accomplished through negotiations with the broadcasters, but adds that "if they challenge Equity's right to represent their artists, other steps must be taken, and Equity is aware of them and is prepared to take them when that time comes."

Thomson admitted that exhibitors have little to hope for in the way of banning Hollywood stars from the air through the intercession of producers. He said that the Guild would advise any member not to sign a contract with a studio which prohibited radio appearances and that, where they are permitted by contract, producers are powerless to interfere. He said that while only about 25 per cent of Hollywood's contract players have insisted upon the right to appear on the air, the 25 per cent includes the outstanding stars who are sought for radio programs and who are heard regularly on the air.

Jan Peerce's Agent Suing on 1927 Pact

A suit for damages of $100,000 was filed in N.Y. Supreme Court yesterday against Jan Peerce, singer, by Nat D. Kane, who accuses Peerce of having violated a contract made in 1927. Kane charges that the contract called for the services of himself and Emilio A. Roxas as Peerce's personal representatives for 15 years and that the defendant later "disappeared" and thereby broke the contract in 1928.

For their services it is alleged the plaintiff and Roxas were to get 15 per cent of Peerce's earnings from every source for 10 years and seven per cent for the remaining five years. Peerce, who signed the contract as Jacob Perelmugh, is charged not only with having "disappeared" but also with having changed his name to Jan Peerce so that the plaintiffs would not know his whereabouts or what he was doing. Roxas, it its alleged, released Peerce from liability to him on Aug. 9, 1933.

Peerce today will ask Justice Louis A. Valente to order the plaintiff to supply a bill of particulars in support of the allegations contained in his complaints. In a cross motion the plaintiff will request the court to direct Peerce to submit to an examination before trial concerning his adoption of the name Peerce and explain what singing engagements he has had since 1928.

Government Station Aim of Celler Bill of $700,000 for the erection of the station, and $50,000 annually for operation. Under Celler's plan the station would be constructed by the Navy Dept., and its programs would be educational and would carry no advertising.

In endorsing the bill, Commissioner George Henry Payne of the F. C. C. pointed out that Germany and Italy had short wave stations which send programs to South and Central America on a band powerful enough to drown out broadcasts from this country. The Government owned station, if the bill is passed, will be powerful enough to compete with if not drown out the European stations.

Other F. C. C. officials cited that the five short wave frequencies which had been assigned to the United States at the international conference agreement in Madrid four years ago have never been used, and fear that an attempt to reallocate them to other countries will be made at next year's international conference in Madrid.

Sight, Sound Broadcast Is Used for Fair

By sound and sight yesterday, RCA and NBC announced their participation in the New York World's Fair. The program marked the first television show to be broadcast on a sound network.

A nationwide audience heard the broadcast over the NBC-Blue network. A hundred or so newspapermen heard and saw the broadcast in the Radio City premises. The sound broadcast was flawless, naturally. The television broadcast was far from being a glittering success, although it was quite impressive.

The televised program marked the first semi-public showing of the 441-line definition. Previous television demonstrations were conducted with the 343-line definition. While the increased lineage afforded a much clearer picture than was obtainable with the old 343-line definition, the images still blurred at frequent intervals, and the flicker which has plagued television engineers in past demonstration was again very much in evidence.

Sarnoff, Lohr Present

Those who participated in the broadcast included David Sarnoff, president of RCA; Lenox R. Lohr, president of NBC, and Grover Whalen, president of the New York World's Fair. Betty Goodwin of NBC was mistress of ceremonies.

The ceremony was televised in the television studio of NBC, where representatives of the press both saw and heard the participants, and was transmitted from NBC's television station in the Empire State tower. It's visible radius was 50 miles.

By terms of the agreement, RCA will erect a building in the center of the World's Fair grounds which will house a complete exhibition of radio. Sound and sight broadcasts will originate from the premises for the duration of the fair.

Lohr will have charge of the RCA World Fair participation. Before joining NBC he was head of the Chicago Century of Progress.

No mention was made of the size of the proposed RCA building, nor was it stated how much money would be expended for its construction and maintenance. Major Lohr, however, informed MOTION PICTURE DAILY that a safe estimate of the cost would be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Report Mutual Will Locate at Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 17.—Mutual may move its offices to Hollywood from Los Angeles if General Manager Lewis Allen Weiss' plans carry through. Weiss has gone to the N. A. B. convention in Chicago, and later will go to New York to confer with Mutual heads over the erection, or leasing, of Hollywood quarters.

In San Francisco over the weekend, Weiss reportedly arranged for the bringing of three Mutual shows here. They are "Feminine Fancies," "The Merrymakers" and Benay Venuta. The first two probably will start airing from the Los Angeles outlet, KHJ, around June 28, with the Venuta program coming here probably in the fall.

Weiss' trip east is also for the purpose of bringing additional shows west. If more shows emanate from this part of the coast, it will be necessary to enlarge the Mutual quarters.

Reports are out that Weiss is dickering for the present NBC lease on the Melrose Ave. building, which will be evacuated when NBC builds its own place.

Crosley Signs with Union

CINCINNATI, June 17.—The manufacturing plant of the Crosley Radio Corp. today signed with the A. F. of L., through the Electrical Workers' Union. Approximately 2,900 employes are affected by the agreement, which provides for a closed shop, an eight-hour day, 40-hour week, and wage increases of from five to eight cents per hour, plus time and a half for overtime and double pay for Sundays and holidays. The arrangement also provides for vacations with pay, a minimum starting wage of 50 cents per hour and preference to residents.

as an example, wages of $10 and $5 per day, with no hour limitations or pay for overtime, which he said an eastern producer had admitted paying to dress extras. The guild scale for an eight-hour day for a dress extra is $16.50 net, the agency commission, if any, to be paid by the producer.

Pictures made in a non-Guild or "unfair" studio after Aug. 1, probably could not be exhibited in any large city in America, Thomson said, due to an understanding reached by the guild with George Browne, I. A. T. S. E. head, on the coast. The principal studios affected here are the Eastern Service Studio, Astoria; Vitaphone, Brooklyn, and the old Biograph studio in the Bronx. All smaller plants within a 300-mile radius of New York are affected, however.

The guild's dues will be raised from $15 a year to the Actors' Equity level of $18 a year after Aug. 1, Thomson said. The initiation fee will remain at $25.

Coast Labor Huddle Monday

HOLLYWOOD, June 17.—Negotiations by painters and scenic artists on wage scales and working conditions with producers, scheduled originally to open today, have been postponed to Monday by both sides by mutual agreement to permit Pat Casey to rest up. No negotiations will be made on makeup men until their affiliation is decided upon by the election which is scheduled to be held within two weeks.

Kuykendall Attacks Chain Legislation

The pressing of legislation to impose a tax on chain theatres, as proposed by Allied States, may react to the disadvantage of all exhibitors, by calling the attention of legislators to the possibilities of increased taxes for all theatres, Ed Kuykendall, M. P. T. O. A. president, said yesterday.

"The special tax will not put the chain theatres out of business," he said, "and will only tend to center taxing attention on all theatres."

Kuykendall also hit at Allied's theatre "divorce" legislation, asserting that he "has no faith in its ever being of any benefit to anyone, while it tends to invite state and Federal regulation in this industry. The North Dakota theatre divorce law has a long way to travel through the courts before it is actually put in force."

"If out of this session of Congress there comes an investigation of the industry, unnecessary as we feel such an investigation to be, the M. P. T. O. A. will participate in it in order to aid in giving the real theatre owner a voice in the drafting of any legislation which might result from such an investigation," Kuykendall said.

Kuykendall leaves New York today for his home at Columbus, Miss.

ITOA TO Fight Move To Games by Majors

major circuits, and that all efforts having failed, it is now time to take action.

Major circuits discontinued games for several months in the hope that independent operators would follow. With independent exhibitors increasing the practice in a number of instances, business at circuit houses is said to have dropped 45 per cent.

When the major theatre interests found that members of the I. T. O. A. definitely refused to eliminate games, action was taken to reinstate Screeno and Bank Night in theatres where they had been dropped.

Although there is no indication when the committee will be set up, it is expected that Harry Brandt, president of the I. T. O. A., will head the group.

Screeno to 4 Loew Spots

Loew's will revive Screeno in four local theatres, starting tomorrow. The houses will be the Canal, east side, and the Breevoort, Palace and Warwick, Brooklyn.

On the following Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the balance of the circuit will reinstate games. Bank Night will be played at the Valencia and Paradise one night a week in addition to Screeno.

Chase Profited on Fox-GTE Investment

The Chase National Bank actually made a profit of about $2,000,000 from its General Theatres Equipment and Fox Film investments, instead of the $55,000,000 loss figured in 1934, according to Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney.

Judge Mahoney was named as a referee to decide whether a settlement of $2,500,000 should be accepted in a stockholders' suit against Albert H. Wiggin, formerly president, and the estates of two former directors.

Acceptance of the proposed settlement was recommended by Judge Mahoney.

Ascap is now barred from operating in five states, with bills having that effect being enacted by Michigan and Florida, it was admitted yesterday at Ascap headquarters. Washington, Nebraska and Montana enacted similar measures earlier.

Suits contesting the validity of the laws in all five states have either been filed or are in preparation by Schwartz & Frohlich, counsel to Ascap. A hearing has been held on the action to enjoin Montana from enforcing the law there and a decision is being awaited. An action to enjoin Washington from enforcing an anti-Ascap law has been filed and set for hearing June 29 in Seattle. Similar actions have been filed in Nebraska and Michigan, but hearing dates have not yet been set.

An action contesting the Florida law is in preparation and will be filed at Tallahassee within the next week or 10 days.

The reason for the postponement, according to G.B. executives, is that sales executives are awaiting the arrival of several new pictures which are to be screened for the field force.

George W. Weeks, general sales manager, arrived from the coast early this week after attending the 20th Century-Fox annual sales meetings. Pictures to be screened include "Gangway" and "Non Stop New York."

DECENCY IN MOTION PICTURES

by

MARTIN QUIGLEY

THE NEW YORK TIMES
Sunday, March 14, 1937

Here, briefly, is the story of the motion pictures' "reform from within," as modestly told by the man who had most to do with giving that reform its effective instrument.

This little book contains much clear information on a subject of wide interest.

KINEMATOGRAPH WEEKLY
(London) March 25, 1937

Mr. Quigley has throughout the book told his story, explained the Industry's developments, and recorded the tendencies both downward and upward with a creditable dispassionateness, endeavoring to record fairly, and succeeding.

DAILY CINEMA
(London) April 7, 1937

During the week-end I had an opportunity of which I availed myself to run through Martin Quigley's "Decency in Motion Pictures" to which I referred when I received it. It is a very finely written and decent little work, very sincere and indeed constructive.

LA CINEMATOGRAPHIE FRANCAISE
(Paris) March 26, 1937

It would be to the advantage of many French producers to read the book just published in America and written by Mr. Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher of the Motion Picture Herald and Motion Picture Daily, "Decency in Motion Pictures."

MR. JACK WARNER Vice-President
Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

Am sure a book of this kind will do a great deal to enlighten the theatre-going public on the sincere efforts being made by the motion picture industry to make good entertainment.

L'OSSERVATORE ROMANO
(Vatican City) April 11, 1937

The name of Martin Quigley is too well known in the international cine editorial world to be described in connection with his latest publication, "Decency in Motion Pictures."

He deserves instead a word of congratulation for his well-known activity, developed with the intelligent and tenacious work of learned men on behalf of various problems connected with motion pictures and specially those interested in the moral side of the motion picture production.

Already his firm activity was appreciated favorably at the time that the code of ethics was compiled and accepted by all producers of the United States of America. Today in this new publication he tells the precedents that caused the formation of the Legion of Decency of America, and therefore, we can say that he has made an historical document in the field of the cinema across the sea.

MR. W. G. VAN SCHMUS

Managing Director

Radio City Music Hall, New York

Please accept my thanks, which I expressed to you orally the other day, for your very interesting, stimulating book. It is a fair statement of facts, readable and convincing.

I hope you will make further contributions of this sort so that people may have a clearer understanding of the better side of the motion picture industry.

UNIVERSE (London) April 9, 1937

Mr. Quigley surveys conditions that obtained in the cinema before the adoption of the now famous code, discusses the work of the Legion of Decency and finally prints the code in full. It is not a large book but a very important one, remarkable, incidentally, for the modesty of the author, who has effaced himself throughout.

MRS. JAMES LOORAM

National Legion of Decency

New York City

We have read "Decency in Motion Pictures" very carefully with great interest and hasten to congratulate you upon this most informative and impartial treatise on one of the most important accomplishments of history.

For a long time we have felt the need of such a book so that those within and without the industry might have a better understanding of the entire problem of the screen's responsibility. Besides its value to the industry and to all groups sincerely interested in the advancement of the screen, your book furnishes a complete answer to those thousands of students who have selected the topic of Motion Pictures for their Masters Thesis and have desired a well informed and intelligent opinion concerning the morals of the screen. We have already recommended this fine document to many who have written to us for such information and we will be happy to continue to do so.

WORLD FILM NEWS

(London) May, 1937

The author of this book is Martin Quigley, controller of the most powerful section of the American film press, and artificer of many of the great changes which have come over the motion picture industry during the past ten years. In 1925 when still editor of the Exhibitors Herald in Chicago, he was unique among trade journalists and film men in preaching the social responsibility of the cinema.

The book describes the "obligations, functions, standards and responsibilities," and rates the "tardiness of social leadership" in the world of cinema. There is an analysis of why a number of pictures represent wrong ethical standards and there is a publication in detail of the Production Code.

The best thing about this useful book is its indication of the fact that the most progressive forces in cinema have invariably come from within the industry. It is a necessary corrective to the many gratuitous busy bodies who have only recently discovered cinema, to be told that there have been reformers in the industry since 1900.

THE SIGN April, 1937

This book is not merely a case history, neither is it a hysterical condemnation nor a stupid attempt to whitewash blunders and devious schemings. It is a clear narration of cold facts marshalled in splendid form and proving that the motion pictures can perform a social service and provide a cultural uplift "mighty in proportion and far-reaching in effects." It is not a book for popular consumption but rather one for those interested from a professional, historical or ethical standpoint. Mr. Quigley's ability and right to speak authoritatively are apparent from his years spent in official capacity and especially by virtue of his great work in framing the Code of 1930.

THE HON. RICHARD NORTON

Pinewood Studios, Limited

Bucks, England

You know I feel that we in this country owe you a debt of thanks for all your sane work in this direction and all long-sighted people should appreciate it.

SIGHT AND SOUND

(London) May, 1937

The Production Code under which the American film industry has operated since 1930 and to which, therefore, most of the films seen in this country are subject, was accepted by the industry—but not effectively until after the Decency Campaign of Spring 1934—as a means of preventing externally imposed systems of censorship. The Code has been conspicuously successful in obtaining reasonable adjustment of films to right moral standards, we are told, and the screen's "successes have latterly amounted to the outstanding moral accomplishment of the modern world." But agitation for "unworkable and unpractical proposals" still apparently continues and it is in order to counter these and to see that the Code receives the support of public opinion which its success deserves that Mr. Quigley, who was partly responsible for the Code, has written these notes on it and the philosophy which underlies it.

MR. M. NEVILLE KEARNEY

Federation of British Industries, London

The American Film Industry and public are indeed lucky to have so able, unbiased and clear-minded an advocate as yourself in dealing with a matter that is of very high social importance.

FREDERIC M. THRASHER

Associate Professor of Education

New York University

I have read it with interest and shall be pleased to recommend it to my students.

THE TALENT REPORTER

(London) April, 1937

The editors of "The Talent Reporter" whole-heartedly recommend to all those interested in U. S. A. motion picture production codes, a book written by Martin Quigley, entitled "Decency in Motion Pictures." It is a book to read and refer to constantly.

THE BROOKLYN TABLET

March 20, 1937

In "Decency in Motion Pictures" written by Mr. Quigley and published by the Macmillan Company, the reading public is given one of the most complete, lucid, intelligent and altogether unbiased treatises that has been written to date on the subject. Its value to all interested in the subject of motion pictures from either a trade or an audience viewpoint cannot be overestimated. As one of the ablest and most far-sighted executives in the industry the author for many years, in his editorial columns, has warned the industry of the gathering storm clouds and as one who had much to do with the formation and adoption of the Production Code, Mr. Quigley's book bears the stamp of authenticity and of the integrity of the man who is better informed on the subject than perhaps any other man in the industry.

Two Exchange Unions Agree To New Terms

Cincinnati and Oklahoma City Make Total Nine

Discussions on contracts for exchange employes unions in Oklahoma City and Cincinnati were completed this week between executives of the film companies and union delegations from those cities, it was stated yesterday. This makes nine territories set, the other seven being Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Cleveland, Washinington, Pittsburgh and Charlotte.

Although several more key centers were expected to be cleaned up this week, negotiations on basic minimum

Fleischer Strike Is Put Up to the NLRB

Following the hearing of arguments in connection with the strike of employes of the Max Fleischer studio called by the Commercial Artists & Designers Union by the National Labor Relations Board here, the case was sent to N.L.R.B. headquarters in Washington for a decision yesterday.

The principal point to be ruled upon is whether the Fleischer animators should belong to a union apart from that of the mechanical employes of the studio, according to Louis Nizer, Fleischer's attorney. Nizer said that the company had never opposed the holding of an election to determine whether or not the C.A.D.U. represented a majority of its employes.

Theatres Ask Quota Rights on Pictures

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, June 18.—Independent exhibitors, meeting here Monday, will pass a resolution asking quota rights to all films booked in 150 theatres. The Board of Trade time limit on suggestions relative to the proposed new Films Act will expire on Monday, but the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n. has been given an extension in view of the meeting of its quota committee on Monday at Harrowgate.

The trade press is carrying protests against the cost clause from the technicians, laboratories and shorts producers in which the extinction of the small interests is foreseen if the clause is retained. Observers here believe that the Board of Trade must heed the swelling protest or face the possibility of inconvenient opposition to the Films Act in the House of Commons.

Tax Evasion Charged To Charles Laughton

Washington, June 18.—Charges that Charles Laughton avoided payment of taxes upon his full earnings by having his salary paid to a British corporation today were laid before the joint Congressional committee investigating tax evasions by Elmer L. Irey, head of the intelligence unit of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. No allegations were made, however, that the actor had illegally evaded tax responsibility.

Irey explained that the actor, a British citizen, had his salary paid to a British corporation. He said the corporation paid the actor $20,000 in 1935 in which year his picture earnings were $190,000, all of which went to the corporation.

"Such conduct may be perfectly legal," Irey told the committee, "but

The Appellate Division of the N. Y. Supreme Court yesterday unanimously upheld Justice Richard P. Lydon's dismissal of a $200,000 suit brought by John L. Loeb against Columbia Pictures, Harry Cohn and other company executives. The suit involved an option to buy voting trust certificates, which the plaintiff failed to exercise because of a decline in the value of the stock. MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"North of the Rio Grande"

(Paramount)

HOLLYWOOD, June 18.—Novelty is the element endowing this outdoor action adventure yarn with punchy interest. A worthy link in the lengthening chain of entertaining "Hopalong Cassidy" stories, it not only is a pleasing attraction for the series' followers, but, additionally, holds much to engage the attention of diversified audiences.

With William Boyd, George Hayes, Russell Hayden, Stephen Morris and John Rutherford performing up to all expectancies, a more than usual amount of romance is worked into the film via Bernardine Hayes. Action and adventure, however, are the dominating qualities. Determination to avenge the murder of his brother brings "Hopalong" (Boyd) into the center of excitement.

Romance, into which a praiseworthy musical content has been blended, and comedy, only occasionally tinged with suggestions of the drama that is to ensue, make up the entertainment quality of the first few reels. But when Boyd and his pals, Hayes and Hayden, confirm their suspicions that Morris and Rutherford are both responsible for the killing and for a series of railroad holdups, the rapid-fire action starts. Posing as an outlaw, Boyd gets evidence on the bandits and to the tune of thundering hoofs and a racing train, extracts his vengeance and brings peace to the bandit-infested town.

Based on Clarence Mulford's "Cottonwood Gulch," Jack O'Donnell's adaptation is smart and colorful and in directing Nate Watts has preserved and improved those elements which made previous "Hopalongs" so popular.

Curran Designs New Movable Transmitter

Los Angeles, June 18.—Designed by George Curran, KFI-KECA research engineer, a new short wave pack transmitter weighing 45 pounds and balanced so that it can be carried easily, has been added to the equipment of the stations.

The transmitter has been assigned the call letters W6XCI and will use frequencies of 31,100, 34,600, 37,600 and 40,600 kilocycles, with two watts power and a range of three to five miles. The transmitter is provided with a receiver so that the announcer can be given cues and directions. In operations, the signals from the pack are picked up by short wave receiver, which feeds into an orthodox remote control equipment. In turn the signals proceed to a telephone line, the central control room and thence to the transmitter of either KFI or KECA.

Suggests Plan For Assisting British Films

Bell's Scheme Involves U. S. Producers

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, June 20.—The latest variant of the reciprocity idea as a solution of British production problems is due to Major Charles Bell, consulting engineer to Paramount and other theatre interests, chairman of a branch of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n. and promoter, with S. H. Soskin, of the Amalgamated studio at Elstree.

Bell suggests that the five or six major production organizations of the United States should make or back every year five British pictures each of the £80,000 to £100,000 class ($400,000 to $500,000). On each of these they would guarantee a revenue from the States of £40,000 ($200,000) or, if they did not distribute the picture, 1,000 first run bookings.

Thirty pictures of this type, says

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Extensive trading in Paramount 3¼ per cent convertible debentures in April by Stanton Griffis, New York, through Hemphill, Noyes & Co., is reported by the SEC in its semi-monthly summary of transactions of officers and directors in the stocks of their corporations.

The month's transactions followed heavy transactions in March which resulted in the acquisition of 136,000 debentures.

Chance Games Going Strong in Memphis

MEMPHIS, June 20.—Chance games have come into their own on Main St. Ironically enough, the theatre responsible for their belated introduction here was forced to close in June, the month of their acceptance elsewhere in the city.

Early in the year the Orpheum, under independent operation of Virgil Posey, embarked upon two cash giveaway programs at once, a "Buck Night" and a "Question Night."

Both the Strand, operated by M. A. Lightman and the local Warner went into Bank Night experiments in competition with the Orpheum, and the policy is being continued.

Save for occasional minor outbreaks in the small suburban houses, Memphis was singularly free from chance games for years, and the current rage is not expected to endure.

About 20 Paramount Men Go to Hub Meet

Approximately 20 members of the local Paramount exchange, headed by Milton S. Kusell, New York state district manager, left last night by boat for Boston to attend a regional sales meeting there. The two-day session opens today. The men will also return the same way.

Kusell put it up to the force to decide how they wanted to go to the Hub City and the majority voted in favor of the water route.

"Marxes" Tip Hats

Condor Seeks SEC Approval To End Delays

Financing Plans Halted By Lack of Action

Efforts to obtain action by the S.E.C. on Condor Pictures' application for stock registration, which has been pending since April 11, will be made by George Hirliman, Condor president, and other officials of the company who came here from the coast late last week for that purpose, Hirliman said on Saturday.

The failure of the S.E.C. either to approve or disapprove the application has seriously interfered with the company's operations, making it impossible for Condor to proceed either with its originally proposed public financing or to abandon that for several avenues of private financing which Hirliman said are open to it. The Condor head said that the company had completed nine pictures without a penny being owed on them, but that further production would be stymied unless the S.E.C. made its decision in the near future.

He made it clear that whether the

It is inevitable that the discussion session will be used for the airing of grievances in respect to rentals and other matters and probably for a discussion of British production problems in the light of the proposed new Films Act.

Pacent Suit to Go On

A motion to dismiss a $6,000,000 anti-trust suit brought against A. T. & T., Western Electric and Erpi by Stanley K. Oldden as assignee of the Pacent Electrical Co. was denied on Saturday by Federal Judge John C. Knox. The complaint was attacked by the defendants on the ground that it failed to state a cause of action. The defendants were given 20 days in which to file answers.

Three More Firms in Chicago to Be Moved

CHICAGO, June 20.—Construction started this week on a new two-story building at Wabash Ave. and 13th St. which, as announced exclusively in MOTION PICTURE DAILY several months ago, will give Chicago one of the greatest concentrated film exchange districts in the country. The new structure completes a $2,000,000 concentration of film exchange offices in that vicinity and will house the distribution and sales offices of Universal, Columbia and United Artists.

Upon completion of the building, six of the eight major distributors will be grouped at 13th and Wabash. M-G-M, Warners and Paramount already are located there. The addition of Universal, Columbia and United Artists will leave only 20th Century-Fox and RKO yet to settle in that section.

mission included corrected reports for Paramount officials for past months. Reports for Maurice Newton, New York, director, showed the acquisition of 4,000 shares of Paramount common in January and, through Hallgarten & Co., disposition of 4,200 shares in January, and acquisition of 5,000 shares in February and 4,500 shares in March, largely through the exchange of convertible preferred.

March reports also showed that through sales or exchanges, Hemphill, Noyes & Co., for Griffis, disposed of 208,000 six percent 20-year sinking fund debentures.

A report for Pathe showed that Robert R. Young, New York, acquired 1,900 shares of common in April, bringing his holdings to 25,715 shares.

Cohn Reduces Holdings

Disposition by Harry Cohn, Hollywood, Cal., of 5,124 Columbia Pictures common voting trust certificates, reducing his holdings to 67,127, and of purchasing warrants covering 6,000 common voting trust certificates, reducing his holdings to 18,587, was also reported.

Disposition by transfer under a property settlement agreement of 85,000 Warner optional six percent convertible debentures, reducing his holdings to 1,502,000, was reported by Jack L. Warner, Burbank, Cal.

The transactions of Hemphill, Noyes & Co. in Paramount common stock disclosed in the S.E.C. report, were explained by Stanton Griffis, chairman of the Paramount executive committee and a partner in Hemphill, Noyes, at the Paramount annual stockholders' meeting, June 15, as a temporary one resulting from the firm's arbitrage transactions in Paramount securities.

Griffis said that Hemphill, Noyes, in an effort to aid Paramount in the retirement of its six per cent first preferred stock by conversion into common was buying first preferred, one share of which is convertible into seven shares of common, while selling the common stock. In the course of this process, the company temporarily went short on common, he said.

Griffis stated that personally he had never been short on Paramount common and declared that he was the largest individual owner of the company's common stock.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Born Reckless"

Hollywood, June 20.—Thrill and action entertainment for those who like exciting pictures. That is the substance of this taxi war story. The basic drama is contrasted by considerable comedy and enough romance to provide the required interest. The dialogue and action are well blended. It is fast moving. Much is crowded into the comparatively short running time.

Brian Donlevy, in need of a job, enters the taxi game. He finds himself in the midst of Barton MacLane's strong arm racketeer tactics. Donlevy's adeptness at wrecking cars makes things so hot for MacLane that he prevails upon Rochelle Hudson, his girl friend, to exert her wiles on Donlevy and get him to work with the racket. The ensuing suspense, supplied with plenty of hokum and high theatrics, carries on to the climax where it is revealed that Miss Hudson has allied herself with MacLane only to get criminal evidence on him.

The principals, aided by Robert Kent, Harry Carey and Chick Chandler, turn in capable performances. The film is based on a story by Jack Andrews, John Patrick and Robert Ellis. Helen Logan adapted and Malcolm St. Clair directed.

Production Code Seal No. 3,438. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Control for Cooling Systems Is Studied

Indianapolis, June 20.—First step toward control of air conditioning in downtown theatres and business houses has been begun by Henry B. Steeg, city engineer. Sanitation department engineers are making surveys of equipment and sewer conditions.

An ordinance regulating dumping of water from cooling systems into city sewers may result. Mr. Steeg pointed out that sewers already are overtaxed and that wells supplying cooling systems are doing the major share of lowering the water table under downtown Indianapolis.

company's stock registration was approved or disapproved, Condor was "going ahead." Pending the S.E.C. decision, however, the company is virtually barred from obtaining new money, it was pointed out.

"The S.E.C.'s stop-order was issued on April 11 and we were given to believe that a decision would be made on our registration within 24 to 48 hours. Today, more than two months afterwards, we still have had no decision from the S.E.C. Officers of the company who stand ready to put new money into it are barred from doing so because we are unable to issue stock to them in return. Condor's bankers still owe the company more than $900,000 and can't give it to us because we are unable to issue stock to them. If the S.E.C. could be prevailed upon to give its decision, whether it meant approval or disapproval of our registration, we would be in a position to go ahead. If it fails to act soon, we may abandon our public financing without waiting for the decision."

Hirliman said he planned to leave for Washington today or tomorrow to obtain a hearing from the S.E.C. at which he would ask for a decision "one way or the other." He was accompanied east by M. H. Hoffman and Albert Lieberman. Hirliman said that the clause in Condor's studio lease with Grand National requiring occupancy of the studio for a minimum of 100 days during the year, the omission of which from Condor's registration data brought about the S.E.C.'s stop-order, has long since been eliminated from the lease.

Technicians Of CBS Vote To Go in CIO

Radio telegraphists and technicians employed at WABC-CBS made their long awaited move Saturday and joined with the C.I.O.

The vote of the company union, organized as the Columbia Broadcast Technicians, to join the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n, a C.I.O. affiliate, was taken over the opposition of the I.A.T.S.E., an A. F. of L. affiliate, according to Mervys Rathbone, president of the A.R.T.A.

Rathbone said the Columbia technicians had made their decision over the threat by the A. F. of L. that the CBS employes "would be out of a job walking the streets for joining the C.I.O."

Columbia Broadcast Technicians also voted to dissolve the association and to organize about 300 radio technicians in seven out-of-town stations operated by CBS.

The company technicians number approximately 80 members in New York. Throughout the network they boast approximately 300 members. President of the WABC chapter is Kay Davis.

The CBS technicians will become members of the New York Broadcast Local 16 of the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n.

George Wicks Heads Technicians' Union

Block Omaha Broadcast Fund

Omaha, June 20.—The Omaha Central Labor Union has succeeded in blocking the Douglas county board's proposed appropriation of $3,600 for a six months' trial of the Job Bureau conducted for 30 minutes each week by WOW, with Foster May announcing and interviewing job seekers.

Mace Brown, president of the Central Labor Union and a projectionist at the Town, charged the bureau, which had operated six weeks without cost and placed 150 persons, had been "breaking down wage standards."

Rusty Callow Signed by WOR

Rusty Callow, University of Pennsylvania crew coach, has been signed by WOR-Mutual to describe the Yale-Harvard boat race to be run June 25 at approximately 7 P. M., E. D. S. T.

NAB Meeting Starts Today; Labor Seen as the Highlight

Chicago, June 20.—With the 15th annual convention of the NAB scheduled to begin here Monday and terminate Wednesday at the Hotel Sherman, the one serious issue expected to enliven the convention agenda, despite dissatisfaction which has been expressed in some quarters throughout the year over the NAB administration, is labor.

The explanation for the otherwise expected docility of the proceedings is gathered here from off-the-record expressions uttered by many NAB members already here, to the effect that, since business in radio never was better, why disturb a generally peaceful and profitable situation?

The main topic of conversation at the convention is expected to be the union situation, especially as it concerns the C.I.O., which this year has staged unprecedented inroads into the industry.

Will Consider Dues Hike

Other likely bones of contention will be the NAB's proposal to amend two by-laws of the organization. The first proposal asks for a vote to increase the dues by 50 per cent which would mean an NAB yield of from about $90,000 a year to an approximate $135,000 per year. The second proposal is a ruling seeking to compel all group-owned stations to enroll in the organization if any one of the group is an NAB member.

The 50 per cent boost in dues was proposed last year also, but was defeated. It may pass this year, however, due to the fact that the vote last year was taken on the final day of the convention, when a great many of the delegates had already left for homes and stations. The vote this year will be taken on Tuesday, instead of on Wednesday. The pre-convention sentiment here, however, seems to be strongly against the increase.

Also likely to come up importantly for floor attention during the three-day stanza will be discussions about the current charges in Washington of the so-called monopoly in radio; Ascap, whose current contract with the NAB expires in 1939; and the transcription situation.

The elections are to take place Tuesday. Four officers will be elected and six vacancies on the board of directors will be filled.

Many names have been advanced as being presidential timber. Those most prominently mentioned include John Elmer, president of the Baltimore station, WCBM; Edward Craney, manager of KGIR, Butte; John W. Gillen, WOW, Omaha; Joe A. Maland, WHO; Harold Hough, WBAP, Fort Worth; and Arthur B. Church, KMBC, Kansas City.

The final day will be taken up largely by committee reports and by speakers who will discuss the commercial aspects of the industry. Slated to make an important address is Arthur Pryor of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn.

FCC Charges Denied By Segal and Smith

Washington, June 20.—Dismissal of charges alleging improprieties in the practice of law before the F. C. C. was reopened yesterday in pleadings filed with the commission by Paul M. Segal and George S. Smith, Washington attorneys, who were cited in an order issued May 19 to show cause why they should not be disbarred for purportedly filing of applications in the name of so-called "dummy" applicants and for other specified reasons.

In separate answers, Segal and Smith categorically denied all of the charges made in the F. C. C. order as without foundation. The answers were in the nature of a full disclosure of the facts relating to the matters upon which the charges were based. A hearing on the charges was requested, unless the commission should conclude that the order be dismissed.

The attorneys contended their conduct at all times has been entirely ethical, proper and professional, and that the acts cited in the F. C. C. order were not improper or in violation of any existing rules or methods or legal practice. Dealing specifically with the allegation that the "dummy" applications had been filed for the purpose of "deceiving" the commission, the attorneys declared that their applicants were not "dummies" and that their procedure was in conformity with a prevalent and sanctioned practice before the commission.

Crown Overall Series Set

The Crown Overall Mfg. Co., through H. W. Kastor & Son, will start an electrically transcribed series over WOR July 8, from 7:45 to 8 P. M., E. D. S. T. The program title will be "Crown Follies."

Another transcribed musical show on the same station will begin July 13, Tuesdays and Thursdays, at 5 P. M., E. D. S. T. The series is for General Foods Diamond Crystal Salt, through Benton & Bowles.

WMCA to Honor Inventors

A new series of programs devoted to little known inventors and their inventions will be inaugurated over WMCA June 21 at 7:30 P. M. The series will be titled "Your Invention," and will be presided over by Sam Hammer.

H. R. Van Deventer, engineering and patent authority, will also be heard on the programs.

NBC Renews on 2; Signs 3 New Pacts

The NBC sales department yesterday effected two renewals of current programs, and closed contracts for three new programs.

The highlight transaction was the 52-week renewal of "Town Hall Tonight," Bristol-Myers Co. program heard Wednesdays from 9 to 10 P. M., E.D.S.T. on the Red. The renewal is effective July 7, when Walter O'Keefe takes over the program from Fred Allen.

Just how long Allen will remain absent from the series is unknown. As a matter of fact, in some quarters it is believed that Allen will never return to the period. He has been signed to make a picture, and these duties, plus a vacation period, will keep him off the air until at least early winter. Aside from that, it is known that he no longer wants to be burdened by a full-hour program. Young & Rubicam, the agency handling "Town Hall Tonight," will not comment on the situation.

The American Home Products Co. has reserved Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 7:15 to 7:30 P. M., on the Basic Blue for 52 weeks, effective Sept. 28. The program title and product are not disclosed. Blackett-Sample-Hummert is the agency.

Draino Renews

Drackett Co., for Draino, will sponsor a program titled "Hello Peggy," a dramatic sketch, Wednesdays and Fridays on the Basic Red, 11:45 A. M. to 12 noon, starting Aug. 4. The contract is for 52 weeks; Ralph H. Jones & Co., Cincinnati, is the agency.

McKesson & Robbins, through Brown & Tarcher, New York, will sponsor a new script series, "Joyce Jordan—Interne," over WEAF only, beginning June 28. The schedule is Monday through Friday, 2:45 to 3 P. M., E.D.S.T. The contract is for 52 weeks.

"Girl Alone," Kellogg Co. Monday through Friday program on the Red, is renewed through N. W. Ayer & Son for 13 weeks beginning July 12.

WJSV Seeks a Power Increase from FCC

Washington, June 20.—Authority to increase its power from 10,000 to 50,000 watts and to move its transmitter from Virginia into Maryland was asked yesterday of the F. C. C. by CBS's Washington station, WJSV.

The commission also announced it had received an application from the Crosley Radio Corp. for authority to continue the use of 500,000 watts power during the period from Aug. 1, next, when its present experimental authorization expired, to Feb. 1, 1938, for its station, WLW, Cincinnati.

Amended applications for new broadcasting stations have been received from M. M. Valentine, Laredo, Tex., asking for 1,500 kilocycles instead of 1,310 as originally requested, and from William C. Smith, Bogalusa, La., asking for 1,310 kilocycles instead of 1,470 kilocycles.

Applications have also been received from WQAN, Scranton, Pa., for an increase of day power from 500 to 1,000 watts, and WAML, Laurel, Miss., for an increase of day power from 100 to 250 watts.

Suggests Plan For Assisting British Films

Bell's Scheme Involves U. S. Producers

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, June 20.—The latest variant of the reciprocity idea as a solution of British production problems is due to Major Charles Bell, consulting engineer to Paramount and other theatre interests, chairman of a branch of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n. and promoter, with S. H. Soskin, of the Amalgamated studio at Elstree.

Bell suggests that the five or six major production organizations of the United States should make or back every year five British pictures each of the £80,000 to £100,000 class ($400,000 to $500,000). On each of these they would guarantee a revenue from the States of £40,000 ($200,000) or, if they did not distribute the picture, 1,000 first run bookings.

SEC Reports Griffis Stock Deals Heavy

Took 166,000 Debentures; Sold 212,000

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Extensive trading in Paramount 3¼ per cent convertible debentures in April by Stanton Griffis, New York, through Hemphill, Noyes & Co., is reported by the SEC in its semi-monthly summary of transactions of officers and directors in the stocks of their corporations.

During the month, it was reported, Hemphill, Noyes & Co. bought 166,000 and sold 212,000 debentures, the net change in position being 46,000 which reduced holdings at the close of the month to 90,000. The month's transactions followed heavy transactions in March which resulted in the acquisition of 136,000 debentures.

The summary issued by the com-

Chance Games Going Strong in Memphis

MEMPHIS, June 20.—Chance games have come into their own on Main St. Ironically enough, the theatre responsible for their belated introduction here was forced to close in June, the month of their acceptance elsewhere in the city.

Early in the year the Orpheum, under independent operation of Virgil Posey, embarked upon two cash give-away programs at once, a "Buck Night" and a "Question Night."

Both the Strand, operated by M. A. Lightman and the local Warner went into Bank Night experiments in competition with the Orpheum, and the policy is being continued.

Save for occasional minor outbreaks in the small suburban houses, Memphis was singularly free from chance games for years, and the current rage is not expected to endure.

About 20 Paramount Men Go to Hub Meet

Approximately 20 members of the local Paramount exchange, headed by Milton S. Kusell, New York state district manager, left last night by boat for Boston to attend a regional sales meeting there. The two-day session opens today. The men will also return the same way.

Kusell put it up to the force to decide how they wanted to go to the Hub City and the majority voted in favor of the water route.

"Marxes" Tip Hats

Smart bit of exploitation, the stunt being pulled this week in connection with "A Day at the Races."

Two men, dressed as Harpo and Groucho Marx, amble along Broadway daily, tipping their hats to ladies, and not even a sign indicating they are plugging the show at the Capitol.

CEA in England to Open Meeting Today

LONDON, June 20.—The program of papers has been completed for the annual summer conference of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n., which will open tomorrow at Harrowgate and continue through Friday.

Lord Tyrrell of Avon, president of the British Board of Film Censors, will deliver a "Review of Censorship" on Wednesday morning. During the same session Ralph S. Bromhead, general manager of County Cinemas, Ltd., will speak on "Our Jig Saw Puzzles," giving a general review of trade problems.

Technical papers will include: "The Development of Electricity and Its

More Exchange Pacts Scheduled This Week

Agreements for setting up basic minimum wage scales and a maximum working schedule of 40 hours a week for shippers, inspectresses and poster clerks in Kansas City and Indianapolis are slated to be completed this week.

In addition, contracts for a number of other territories are expected to be worked out.

Last week, negotiations for union representation in Oklahoma City and Cincinnati were completed after meetings which lasted two days. Discussions on the Kansas City and Indianapolis pacts will be resumed tomorrow with new situations to be taken up afterwards.

Weinberger to Head Sales for Certified

Mack D. Weinberger, who recently resigned as sales manager of General Pictures, has joined Certified Pictures in a similar post.

Certified, according to an announcement, will distribute 34 pictures next season, 12 to be produced by the company and the others from independent companies.

Franchise holders are expected to be lined up in every key center within a month.

Financing Plans Halted By Lack of Action

Efforts to obtain action by the S.E.C. on Condor Pictures' application for stock registration, which has been pending since April 11, will be made by George Hirliman, Condor president, and other officials of the company who came here from the coast late last week for that purpose, Hirliman said on Saturday.

The failure of the S.E.C. either to approve or disapprove the application has seriously interfered with the company's operations, making it impossible for Condor to proceed either with its originally proposed public financing or to abandon that for several avenues of private financing which Hirliman said are open to it. The Condor head said that the company had completed nine pictures without a penny being owed on them, but that further production would be stymied unless the S.E.C. made its decision in the near future.

He made it clear that whether the Bell, would give the British industry all the assistance it needs. Upon completion of the building, six of the eight major distributors will be grouped at 13th and Wabash. M-G-M, Warners and Paramount already are located there. The addition of Universal, Columbia and United Artists will leave only 20th Century-Fox and RKO yet to settle in that section.

mission included corrected reports for Paramount officials for past months. Reports for Maurice Newton, New York, director, showed the acquisition of 4,000 shares of Paramount common in January and, through Hallgarten & Co., disposition of 4,200 shares in January, and acquisition of 5,000 shares in February and 4,500 shares in March, largely through the exchange of convertible preferred.

March reports also showed that through sales or exchanges, Hemphill, Noyes & Co., for Griffis, disposed of 208,000 six percent 20-year sinking fund debentures.

A report for Pathe showed that Robert R. Young, New York, acquired 1,900 shares of common in April, bringing his holdings to 25,715 shares.

Cohn Reduces Holdings

Disposition by Harry Cohn, Hollywood, Cal., of 5,124 Columbia Pictures common voting trust certificates, reducing his holdings to 67,127, and of purchasing warrants covering 6,000 common voting trust certificates, reducing his holdings to 18,587, was also reported.

Disposition by transfer under a property settlement agreement of 85,000 Warner optional six percent convertible debentures, reducing his holdings to 1,502,000, was reported by Jack L. Warner, Burbank, Cal.

The transactions of Hemphill, Noyes & Co. in Paramount common stock disclosed in the S.E.C. report, were explained by Stanton Griffis, chairman of the Paramount executive committee and a partner in Hemphill, Noyes, at the Paramount annual stockholders' meeting, June 15, as a temporary one resulting from the firm's arbitrage transactions in Paramount securities.

Griffis said that Hemphill, Noyes, in an effort to aid Paramount in the retirement of its six per cent first preferred stock by conversion into common was buying first preferred, one share of which is convertible into seven shares of common, while selling the common stock. In the course of this process, the company temporarily went short on common, he said.

Griffis stated that personally he had never been short on Paramount common and declared that he was the largest individual owner of the company's common stock.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

Hollywood, June 20.—Thrill and action entertainment for those who like exciting pictures. That is the substance of this taxi war story. The basic drama is contrasted by considerable comedy and enough romance to provide the required interest. The dialogue and action are well blended. It is fast moving. Much is crowded into the comparatively short running time.

Brian Donlevy, in need of a job, enters the taxi game. He finds himself in the midst of Barton MacLane's strong arm racketeer tactics. Donlevy's adeptness at wrecking cars makes things so hot for MacLane that he prevails upon Rochelle Hudson, his girl friend, to exert her wiles on Donlevy and get him to work with the racket. The ensuing suspense, supplied with plenty of hokum and high theatrics, carries on to the climax where it is revealed that Miss Hudson has allied herself with MacLane only to get criminal evidence on him.

The principals, aided by Robert Kent, Harry Carey and Chick Chandler, turn in capable performances. The film is based on a story by Jack Andrews, John Patrick and Robert Ellis. Helen Logan adapted and Malcolm St. Clair directed.

Production Code Seal No. 3,438. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

Control for Cooling Systems Is Studied

Indianapolis, June 20.—First step toward control of air conditioning in downtown theatres and business houses has been begun by Henry B. Steeg, city engineer. Sanitation department engineers are making surveys of equipment and sewer conditions.

An ordinance regulating dumping of water from cooling systems into city sewers may result. Mr. Steeg pointed out that sewers already are overtaxed and that wells supplying cooling systems are doing the major share of lowering the water table under downtown Indianapolis.

Condor Seeks SEC Help to End Delays

company's stock registration was approved or disapproved, Condor was "going ahead." Pending the S.E.C. decision, however, the company is virtually barred from obtaining new money, it was pointed out.

"The S.E.C.'s stop-order was issued on April 11 and we were given to believe that a decision would be made on our registration within 24 to 48 hours. Today, more than two months afterwards, we still have had no decision from the S.E.C. Officers of the company who stand ready to put new money into it are barred from doing so because we are unable to issue stock to them in return. Condor's bankers still owe the company more than $900,000 and can't give it to us because we are unable to issue stock to them. If the S.E.C. could be prevailed upon to give its decision, whether it meant approval or disapproval of our registration, we would be in a position to go ahead. If it fails to act soon, we may abandon our public financing without waiting for the decision."

Hirliman said he planned to leave for Washington today or tomorrow to obtain a hearing from the S.E.C. at which he would ask for a decision "one way or the other." He was accompanied east by M. H. Hoffman and Albert Lieberman. Hirliman said that the clause in Condor's studio lease with Grand National requiring occupancy of the studio for a minimum of 100 days during the year, the omission of which from Condor's registration data brought about the S.E.C.'s stop-order, has long since been eliminated from the lease.

Technicians Of CBS Vote To Go in CIO

Radio telegraphists and technicians employed at WABC-CBS made their long awaited move Saturday and joined with the C.I.O.

The vote of the company union, organized as the Columbia Broadcast Technicians, to join the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n, a C.I.O. affiliate, was taken over the opposition of the I.A.T.S.E., an A. F. of L. affiliate, according to Mervys Rathbone, president of the A.R.T.A.

Rathbone said the Columbia technicians had made their decision over the threat by the A. F. of L. that the CBS employes "would be out of a job walking the streets for joining the C.I.O."

Columbia Broadcast Technicians also voted to dissolve the association and to organize about 300 radio technicians in seven out-of-town stations operated by CBS.

The company technicians number approximately 80 members in New York. Throughout the network they boast approximately 300 members. President of the WABC chapter is Kay Davis.

The CBS technicians will become members of the New York Broadcast Local 16 of the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n.

George Wicks Heads Technicians' Union

Block Omaha Broadcast Fund

Omaha, June 20.—The Omaha Central Labor Union has succeeded in blocking the Douglas county board's proposed appropriation of $3,600 for a six months' trial of the Job Bureau conducted for 30 minutes each week by WOW, with Foster May announcing and interviewing job seekers.

Mace Brown, president of the Central Labor Union and a projectionist at the Town, charged the bureau, which had operated six weeks without cost and placed 150 persons, had been "breaking down wage standards."

Rusty Callow Signed by WOR

Rusty Callow, University of Pennsylvania crew coach, has been signed by WOR-Mutual to describe the Yale-Harvard boat race to be run June 25 at approximately 7 P. M., E. D. S. T.

NAB Meeting Starts Today; Labor Seen as the Highlight

Chicago, June 20.—With the 15th annual convention of the NAB scheduled to begin here Monday and terminate Wednesday at the Hotel Sherman, the one serious issue expected to enliven the convention agenda, despite dissatisfaction which has been expressed in some quarters throughout the year over the NAB administration, is labor.

The explanation for the otherwise expected docility of the proceedings is gathered here from off-the-record expressions uttered by many NAB members already here, to the effect that, since business in radio never was better, why disturb a generally peaceful and profitable situation?

The main topic of conversation at the convention is expected to be the union situation, especially as it concerns the C.I.O., which this year has staged unprecedented inroads into the industry.

Will Consider Dues Hike

Other likely bones of contention will be the NAB's proposal to amend two by-laws of the organization. The first proposal asks for a vote to increase the dues by 50 per cent which would mean an NAB yield of from about $90,000 a year to an approximate $135,000 per year. The second proposal is a ruling seeking to compel all group-owned stations to enroll in the organization if any one of the group is an NAB member.

The 50 per cent boost in dues was proposed last year also, but was defeated. It may pass this year, however, due to the fact that the vote last year was taken on the final day of the convention, when a great many of the delegates had already left for homes and stations. The vote this year will be taken on Tuesday, instead of on Wednesday. The pre-convention sentiment here, however, seems to be strongly against the increase.

Also likely to come up importantly for floor attention during the three-day stanza will be discussions about the current charges in Washington of the so-called monopoly in radio; Ascap, whose current contract with the NAB expires in 1939; and the transcription situation.

The elections are to take place Tuesday. Four officers will be elected and six vacancies on the board of directors will be filled.

Many names have been advanced as being presidential timber. Those most prominently mentioned include John Elmer, president of the Baltimore station, WCBM; Edward Craney, manager of KGIR, Butte; John W. Gillen, WOW, Omaha; Joe A. Maland, WHO; Harold Hough, WBAP, Fort Worth; and Arthur B. Church, KMBC, Kansas City.

The final day will be taken up largely by committee reports and by speakers who will discuss the commercial aspects of the industry. Slated to make an important address is Arthur Pryor of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn.

FCC Charges Denied By Segal and Smith

Washington, June 20.—Dismissal of charges alleging improprieties in the practice of law before the F. C. C. was reopened yesterday in pleadings filed with the commission by Paul M. Segal and George S. Smith, Washington attorneys, who were cited in an order issued May 19 to show cause why they should not be disbarred for purportedly filing of applications in the name of so-called "dummy" applicants and for other specified reasons.

In separate answers, Segal and Smith categorically denied all of the charges made in the F. C. C. order as without foundation. The answers were in the nature of a full disclosure of the facts relating to the matters upon which the charges were based. A hearing on the charges was requested, unless the commission should conclude that the order be dismissed.

The attorneys contended their conduct at all times has been entirely ethical, proper and professional, and that the acts cited in the F. C. C. order were not improper or in violation of any existing rules or methods or legal practice. Dealing specifically with the allegation that the "dummy" applications had been filed for the purpose of "deceiving" the commission, the attorneys declared that their applicants were not "dummies" and that their procedure was in conformity with a prevalent and sanctioned practice before the commission.

NBC Renews on 2; Signs 3 New Pacts

The NBC sales department yesterday effected two renewals of current programs, and closed contracts for three new programs.

The highlight transaction was the 52-week renewal of "Town Hall Tonight," Bristol-Myers Co. program heard Wednesdays from 9 to 10 P. M., E.D.S.T. on the Red. The renewal is effective July 7, when Walter O'Keefe takes over the program from Fred Allen.

Just how long Allen will remain absent from the series is unknown. As a matter of fact, in some quarters it is believed that Allen will never return to the period. He has been signed to make a picture, and these duties, plus a vacation period, will keep him off the air until at least early winter. Aside from that, it is known that he no longer wants to be burdened by a full-hour program. Young & Rubicam, the agency handling "Town Hall Tonight," will not comment on the situation.

The American Home Products Co. has reserved Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 7:15 to 7:30 P. M., on the Basic Blue for 52 weeks, effective Sept. 28. The program title and product are not disclosed. Blackett-Sample-Hummert is the agency.

Draino Renews

Drackett Co., for Draino, will sponsor a program titled "Hello Peggy," a dramatic sketch, Wednesdays and Fridays on the Basic Red, 11:45 A. M. to 12 noon, starting Aug. 4. The contract is for 52 weeks; Ralph H. Jones & Co., Cincinnati, is the agency.

McKesson & Robbins, through Brown & Tarcher, New York, will sponsor a new script series, "Joyce Jordan—Interne," over WEAF only, beginning June 28. The schedule is Monday through Friday, 2:45 to 3 P. M., E.D.S.T. The contract is for 52 weeks.

"Girl Alone," Kellogg Co. Monday through Friday program on the Red, is renewed through N. W. Ayer & Son for 13 weeks beginning July 12.

WJSV Seeks a Power Increase from FCC

Washington, June 20.—Authority to increase its power from 10,000 to 50,000 watts and to move its transmitter from Virginia into Maryland was asked yesterday of the F. C. C. by CBS's Washington station, WJSV.

The commission also announced it had received an application from the Crosley Radio Corp. for authority to continue the use of 500,000 watts power during the period from Aug. 1, next, when its present experimental authorization expired, to Feb. 1, 1938, for its station, WLW, Cincinnati.

Amended applications for new broadcasting stations have been received from M. M. Valentine, Laredo, Tex., asking for 1,500 kilocycles instead of 1,310 as originally requested, and from William C. Smith, Bogalusa, La., asking for 1,310 kilocycles instead of 1,470 kilocycles.

Applications have also been received from WQAN, Scranton, Pa., for an increase of day power from 500 to 1,000 watts, and WAML, Laurel, Miss., for an increase of day power from 100 to 250 watts.

J. Baldwin Robinson, Brazilian manager for N. W. Ayer & Son, has been appointed manager of Ayer's export division in Philadelphia. Robinson joined Ayer in Brazil in 1933 after spending several years in merchandising work in foreign countries.

N. W. Ayer's Mystery Just Football Program Lineup

That air of mystery permeating the N. W. Ayer radio department these days is due to the department's sotto voce activities in lining up fall schedules of football broadcasts for the Atlantic Oil Refining Co.

While no one at the agency can be drawn into a discussion about the proposed football schedule of broadcasts, due to last season's experience when premature publicity disturbed Yale University, it is known that Frank Barton, time buyer for the agency, and his assistant, Frank Coulter, are contacting all the colleges with important football teams for Atlantic Oil. Not known now is the number of schools which have been signed up, nor will the number be made known until the approach of the gridiron season, if N. W. Ayer can help it.

An ace up the agency's sleeve is its retention of the WOR time it used last year in broadcasting the Yale games under Atlantic Oil sponsorship. Sinclair lost the Yale games this year to Socony, but because N. W. Ayer was canny enough to sew up the WOR time, Socony will have to be content with a local New England hookup, sans a Metropolitan outlet. Additionally, Sinclair has time on CBS, plus reservations on individual stations and regional networks throughout the country.

Levy Warns of Dangers Ahead On Copyrights

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—Although not a member of the NAB—having walked out during a stormy session at the convention last year—Isaac A. Levy, CBS director, and treasurer and chairman of the WCAU board, has prepared another bombshell for this year's meeting.

In a personal letter mailed Friday to every manager of every radio station in the country Levy warns broadcasters of developments in the music copyright situation that may adversely affect the radio industry. He based his arguments on information and facts allegedly received from a director of Ascap.

Levy advised that if radio demands a per use contract from Ascap, paying a license fee for only the copyrighted music used rather than retaining the present blanket contracts for the entire music catalogue, Ascap will let each individual member fix his individual price on each of the particular works.

Cites Four States

Pointing especially to those broadcasters in Washington, Nebraska, Montana, Florida and any other state where anti-Ascap laws have been passed or are pending, Levy warns "Plenty of the copyright owners would not give the individuals in those states licenses at any price and they would be perfectly within their rights in doing so."

Levy further advised the broadcasters that they stop fooling themselves with the notion that the radio industry is ever going to get either State or Federal laws so amended as to enable them to use copyrighted music free of charge.

Nebraska Attack Is Begun on Ascap Law

OMAHA, June 20.—Dean L. J. TePoel of the Creighton University Law School has filed suit in Federal District Court at Lincoln seeking to enjoin enforcement of the law passed in the recent unicameral legislature banning Ascap from Nebraska. The act limits copyright privileges of music publishers.

Broadcasters Retain Counsel

SEATTLE, June 20. — Alfred J. Schweppe, partner in the Seattle law firm of McMicken, Ramsey, Rupp & Schweppe, has been retained as chief counsel by the National Ass'n. of Radio Broadcasters in their battle against Ascap.

Schweppe's handled the broadcasters' case against Ascap in Montana. It is expected that he will appear in court against Ascap in all states where similar litigation arises.

Frisco Fears Loss Of More Broadcasts

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—With KSFO's "Western Home Hour" gone to Los Angeles because of the space limitations of the Columbia studios, KFRC this week moving its "Feminine Fancies" to KHJ, Los Angeles Don Lee outlet, local agencies fear that the southward trek has commenced in earnest for top-ranking network commercials.

Persistent rumors around the advertising agencies are that even NBC, which has vowed not to desert San Francisco, may take a couple of the best programs south for a few weeks of broadcasting which might prove the first step in a general exodus.

Copyright Big Air Problem, N.A.B. Feels

Also Voices Opposition to Federal Station

CHICAGO, June 21.—"The most important problem before us today is the copyright situation," C. W. Myers, head of Station KOIN, Portland, Ore., and president of the Nat'l Ass'n of Broadcasters today told MOTION PICTURE DAILY at the opening of the association's convention at the Hotel Sherman.

Myers declared that the question of copyright "demands the attention of all radio broadcasters" and stated that every attempt should be made to protect radio interests. He added that if the Federal Government has plans for the building and operation of radio broadcasting stations efforts should be made to halt the plan as such a condition would do broadcasting generally more harm than good.

The convention opened this morning with an address of welcome by Mayor

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Drawing upon the testimony it developed in its investigation of the Paramount reorganization, the Securities and Exchange Commission today submitted to Congress a report on its study of protective and reorganization committees and recommended placing such bodies under Federal control.

"Restitution for assets illegally diverted and reparation for mismanagement are not made, and the causes of failure of the old enterprise are car-

Film Forces Invited To Meeting of Union

membership was held last night at the union's headquarters, but no one affiliated with a film company attended, it was said at the organization's headquarters.

This morning home office representatives will go into session with representatives of exchange service employes and I.A.T.S.E. executives on a number of out-of-town situations. Arrangements for recognizing union exchange groups at Oklahoma City and Cincinnati were completed last week.

Oklahoma Strike Prevented

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—The possibility of a strike by 76 exchange employees has been averted by the accession of producers to the wage demands of the Film Exchange Employees Union, George Snodgrass, president, said today. "While we haven't yet received a contract, it is expected today," he stated. "George Krause, assistant to the president of the I.A.T.S.E., wired me this morning assuring me that union terms have been met and a contract has only to be signed," he concluded.

The contract demanded by the union provides for a minimum weekly salary wage of $40 for shipping clerks, $35 for postal clerks, $25 for inspectors and $22.50 for assistant inspectors. Seven local exchanges are included in the contract drawn between Krause and the heads of film companies in New York. They are Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warners, Universal, Columbia, RKO, and M-G-M. An eighth, Republic, has agreed to sign, Snodgrass said.

Guild Still Men Irked

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—A peculiar situation has arisen over still photographers for newspapers and studios here in which the American Newspaper Guild and the I. A. T. S. E. may be embroiled in a jurisdictional dispute.

Under the present I. A. T. S. E. setup, all photographers working inside of film studios must be I. A. T. S. E. men. Under closed shop, no new cards are being issued by Local 659.

This means that local or out-of-town newspaper photographers, on regular assignment, cannot shoot stills inside of the lots. Not even Newspaper Guild members can break through.

While there has been no direct beef from the Newspaper Guild, it admittedly is becoming a serious matter of jurisdiction. The I. A. T. S. E. is not even issuing temporary work permits for outside photographers.

Painters, Casey in Confab

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—Committees of scenic artists, painters and makeup men's locals of the Painters' Brotherhood met todav with Pat Casey. The presented their demands for wage scales and working conditions in accordance with the agreement reached when the strike was called off.

The painters are asking a dollar daily increase which means a dollar hourly pay. The scenic artists are satisfied with $2.25 hourly, asking only for a 36-hour week. Makeup men are chiefly concerned with pay for overtime and a 40-hour week. The painters also ask for a 36-hour week.

Musicians to Study Studio Conditions

LOUISVILLE, June 21.—The American Federation of Musicians, at the closing session of its annual convention here Saturday, turned over to the executive board for consideration the matter of hours and conditions of employment of union members at the Hollywood studios, for action 30 days after the convention closing date.

At a special session Saturday night, a discussion was held on the use of transcriptions by radio stations and the unauthorized use of musicians in making sound tracks on the coast. Joseph Weber, president of the A. F. of M., declared that the federation has a contract with the studios, which has a year still to run, and expressed the belief that action by the convention might upset the present favorable setup. All the present officers and the executive board of the A. F. of M. were reelected.

Writers, Nylander to Meet

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—Conferences in which the Screen Writers' Guild will seek to supplant Screen Playwrights, Inc., as the collective bargaining agency for film writers will open Wednesday when representatives of both writer groups will meet with Dr. Towne Nylander of the National Labor Relations Board.

Wednesday's conference will be the first of a series to determine whether a poll of writers in the studios or a public hearing is necessary to decide which of the organizations shall be designated as the bargaining agency. At the present time the Screen Playwrights' code with the producers is in effect.

Fleischer Report to NLRB

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Officials of the National Labor Relations Board today were in receipt of the confidential informal report of the examiner who last week held hearings in New York on the Max Fleischer studio strike, but expressed the opinion that probably a week or more would elapse before a decision could be rendered as to whether an election should be held to determine what organization represents a majority of the employes.

The board not only has a number of cases pending before it, it was explained, but makes a thorough study of the examiners' reports before rendering decisions.

Expect Seattle Demands

SEATTLE, June 21.—Although no demands have been made as yet, it is understood on good authority that employes of downtown theatres here will soon request a general raise in wage scales. Ushers, doormen and cashiers who recently have been unionized soon will receive their A. F. of L. charter, and following two recent membership meetings it is believed certain that a wage readjustment will be requested.

ried over into the new," it was declared. "Graphic illustration of the type of management policies and activities which should be examined in any reorganization is afforded by incidents from the history of Paramount-Publix Corp."

Quoting from the testimony of John D. Hertz, the commission pointed out that prior to the time he joined the Paramount management nothing had been done in the way of negotiating for reductions in theatre rentals, and under his direction $5,900,000 was taken off the theatre leases. The company also was paying excessive insurance premiums, which he reduced from 25 to 35 per cent. Heavy telephone charges were cut down and the expenses of the company's legal department were pared. Nepotism was rampant and he "cleaned house."

Expenditures Reduced

Hertz reduced expenditures by about one-sixth, it was explained, but nevertheless was forced to resign.

"We mention these allegations of diversion of company assets, of nepotism, of profligate management, and of tempermental direction of corporate affairs, not to evaluate this bitter Hertz-Zukor controversy, but because of the frequent importance of such matters in reorganizations," the S.E.C. said in its report. "They are of the variety with which committees must deal, not only in discovering corporate assets in the form of claims against the management, but more particularly in appraising the faithfulness and competence of the management. It seems obvious that committees dominated and controlled by a profligate management would be apt to close their eyes to such matters irrespective of their importance to security holders."

As other evidences of matters with which committees must deal, the report cited the alleged wrongful hypothecation of assets through transfers to a subsidiary, the Film Production Corp., and the giving of bank creditors a claim against those assets prior to that of Paramount's debenture holders, the alleged wrongful repurchase of its stock out of capital, and alleged excessive salaries and bonuses.

Reorganization Hit

The commission also cited the Paramount reorganization as an illustration of underwriters and bankers active in the management of a company and later participating in its reorganization, in this instance Kuhn, Loeb & Co. It pointed out the importance to the underwriters of having the control fall into "friendly" hands.

"It seems clear that the reconstituted reorganization system should entail a basic and fundamental change in the present system," the report concluded. "No longer should the management and investment bankers be in a position of domination and control. No longer should stockholders be permitted to represent bondholders. The result should be not only a shift of the power from the inside groups to security holders and their representatives, but also a reconstitution of committees so as to provide security holders with more adequate representation.

"The key to reform in the activities of protective committees lies in the legislative grant of the power to deal with these conflicts of interest directly and forthrightly."

Paramount N. E. Men Discussing Product

BOSTON, June 21.—Details on the company's new product lineup were discussed to approximately 60 Paramount theatre executives, salesmen and branch managers today by William Erbb, division manager, who is presiding at the local two-day regional.

Among those from New York attending the meetings at the Copley-Plaza are Neil F. Agnew, J. J. Unger, Milton S. Kusell, Robert Gillham and Don Velde. The first meeting was adjourned tonight for dinner at the Fox and Hounds Club and "Fo'cas'le" in Marblehead.

Following tomorrow's session, the New York force will return by boat.

Empire Union Seeks Writ on Dismissals

operates a Brooklyn theatre, to restrain it from discharging union members.

Alexander Kindler, president of the union, stated in an affidavit that the Quinral Corp. entered into a contract with the union in 1932 to hire members of the Empire State union. The affidavit further charges that two union operators were discharged last February without reason. Quinral in reply filed an affidavit that the union has made no effort to arbitrate the differences which were the cause of the dismissal and further that the complaint is technically defective. Justice Furman reserved decision.

Warner Suit on Calendar

Federal Judge John C. Knox yesterday restored to the calendar for trial the $500,000 copyright infringement action of Irving Gielow against Warners and M. Witmark & Sons. The suit was marked off the calendar in May, 1936, to allow depositions of witnesses in California to be taken. Gielow charges that his three songs, "Flirtation Walk," "I Can't Believe" and "Mr. and Mrs. is the Name" were infringed in the Warner picture, "Flirtation Walk."

Call Mass Meet to Protest Para. Pacts

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A mass meeting of national exhibitor organizations to protect Paramount's removing of pictures from its 1936 contract to the 1937 contract, at increased rentals, has been called for June 29, at the Carlton Hotel.

The session is the outgrowth of the Ohio Theatre Owners Ass'n idea and will be presided over by P. E. Woods, of Columbus. The main objective of the meeting will be the declaring of a booking holiday against Paramount and also the protesting of the Adolph Zukor salary arrangement. Approximately 150 organizations have been invited, including all the affiliates of the M.P.P.DA. and Allied groups as well as unaffiliated exhibitor units.

U.M.P.T.O. Plans Para. Protest

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Plans for a mass demonstration against Paramount's 1937-'38 selling plan were laid today at a meeting of the U.M.P.T.O. One day next week exhibitors using Paramount product and their employees will march down Vine Street to deliver their demands to the exchange. The group expects at least 2,000 in the line of march. Theatre employees will be asked to join in the demonstration. It is the group's theory that if the Paramount selling plan goes through and is adopted by other companies, employees as well as exhibitors will be jeopardized.

Lewin Pizor, Charles Segall and Dave Barrist will represent the local group at the meeting in Washington on June 29 and will endeavor to suggest mass demonstrations on a national basis, having exhibitors all over the country stage similar marches also. A special committee of 15 U.M.P.T.O. men will meet on Friday to lay final plans for the demonstration. More than 100 theatres were represented at today's meeting. Absent members were notified by wire of the strike against Paramount until demands are met.

Clevelanders Join Protest

CLEVELAND, June 21.—The Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Ass'n at a recent meeting voted to send two or more representatives to Washington to attend a meeting there on June 29, at which it is expected that action will be taken in regard to the Paramount situation as regards holding over for the 1937-38 program certain pictures originally sold on the 1936-37 program.

RKO Sales Forces Leave After Meet

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—The delegates to the RKO convention, which ended here yesterday with a sightseeing session, entrained tonight for their respective territories.

Jules Levy, general sales manager, in his concluding address on sales policy, declared that of the 48 features which RKO will produce, 25 will be films of major importance, with an increase in percentage figures. Two specials, the Walt Disney cartoon feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and Herbert Wilcox's British production, "Victoria the Great," will be sold separately, Levy said. The percentage on the Disney feature will be computed when the film is near completion and the cost can be ascertained.

Levy also declared that more than 2,500 independent theatre contracts have been signed for the new season thus far, a gain of almost 500 over the same period last year.

RKO's business increased 150 per cent for the first quarter of the year over the corresponding period last year, Leo Spitz, president, told the convention in his closing speech. The fiscal year 1936 showed a gain of 250 per cent over 1935, he said. He lauded Ned E. Depinet, vice-president in charge of distribution, Levy and Phil Reisman, in charge of foreign sales.

The convention was told that the next Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers picture will be made entirely in Technicolor.

Short Subjects

"The Wily Weasel"

(Universal)

Oswald is troubled by the depredations of a weasel among his hens and their eggs. He sets his dogs to watch and sets clever snares and traps. Looking 'Em Over

"Damaged Goods"

(Criterion-Grand National)

This film adaptation of Eugene Brieux's famous stage play—the indictment of social forces concerning suppressed knowledge of the prevention and treatment of venereal disease—is said to be the producer's sincere effort to aid President Roosevelt's campaign to educate the nation to such disease.

The film presents its dramatized case in a straightforward manner. A young man contracts a disease shortly before he is to be married. He refuses to heed the advice of a doctor and visits a quack. Within a short period he marries, thinking himself cured. Later his infected child is born and then he realizes his reluctance to listen to sound medical advice. But the kindly medico whose advice was ignored manages to mend the broken lives and inculcate in the bride's father, a Congressman, the need for widespread action.

Upton Sinclair is credited with the adaptation. Phil Stone directed. The leading roles are played by Pedro De Cordoba, Phyllis Barry, Douglas Walton, Aletta Duncan, Ferdinand Munier, Esther Dale, Clarence Wilson, Frank Melton and Gretchen Thomas.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY, however is of the opinion the subject matter does not properly fit into the entertainment formula and that films of the nature of "Damaged Goods," therefore, do not belong in commercial theatres.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"The Thirteen"

(Amkino)

The Russian studios in this latest importation have eliminated their usual propagandistic thrusts. Instead they have dramatized a real-life incident that unfolds with a forceful impact. It bears a similarity to "The Lost Patrol."

A patrol of Red Army soldiers is returning from eastern Russia, the period of service expired. They are accompanied by a geologist. Their trek across the desert leads them to a water hole where bandit arms have been buried in a well. A little water still flows, however. Soon after the discovery of the cache, outlaws arrive and a pitched battle occurs. This is followed by a truce. Terms are offered and refused. The vicious tribesmen lay siege to the water hole. One by one the defenders are killed. In the meantime, military aid is being sought. The series of raids on the well are particularly fine dramatic examples of the Russian flair for battle scenes and military action, the atmosphere of the desert background location lending to the story. The defense is finally reduced to one man. When his ammunition is exhausted he runs from cover to find the reinforcements taking over the struggle.

There are incidents during the siege that are masterfully handled. The propaganda element, almost entirely absent, merely stresses the devotion of soldiers—any soldiers—to their officers. The survivor does, however, state that he has held out so long for "the people." Mikhail Romm directed.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

"Timberesque"

(Syndicate)

The only variation from the boy-meets-girl theme here is the inclusion in the narrative of a number of exciting scenes of animals in combat. The cutting and editing is poor. It may manage to hold interest, but that is all.

A playboy is jilted. He runs away to find solace in the "great outdoors," away from women and their entanglements. But, true to form, a female intrudes and love blooms once again. The unfolding of the simple scenario is heightened to a degree by sequences of woodland inhabitants in their struggle against natural enemies.

Continental Is Low Bidder on Roxy Job

Continental Bank & Trust Co., which was trustee under the indenture for the old Roxy bonds, was the low bidder yesterday at a hearing in Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey's chambers at which bids for trustee's services for the new bonds of the reorganized Roxy were opened.

Six banks entered bids. The Continental's bid was $2,000 for the first year's services and $750 a year thereafter for the remaining 19 years. Other bidders were: Sterling National Bank & Trust Co., $2,150 for the first year and $850 thereafter; Lawyers Trust Co., $2,500 the first year and $1,000 thereafter; Empire Trust Co., $2,557, and $1,057; Clinton Trust Co., first year's fee to be set by court, $1,250 per year thereafter, and Manufacturers' Trust Co., $4,562 for the first year and $1,500 a year thereafter. Judge Caffey will designate the trustee at a regular reorganization hearing on Friday.

I. Bernard Leff of the D. W. Blumenthal office, representing the Adler first mortgage bondholders' committee, urged the court to appoint an individual trustee in addition to a corporate trustee on the grounds that the bondholders' interests would be better served.

Ontario Censor Head Outlines New Rules

Toronto, June 21.—O. J. Silverthorne, chairman of the Ontario film censor board, following his recent attack on British film standards, in which he suggested a need for more censorship of British films, has outlined the new policy for his board in the viewing of pictures.

Among the censorship requirements which will act as the official guide for the Ontario board will be: disapproval of films ridiculing religious sects, or races; elimination of all matter which tends to debase morals; loose conduct between men and women will be barred; criminal methods and crimes which give instruction in crime through suggestion will be eliminated; prolonged or passionate love scenes, when suggestive of immorality, will be eliminated. Silverthorne declared also that the board will disapprove any films of a propaganda nature, or which are definitely partisan.

Few Theatre Fires In Canada in Year

Toronto, June 21.—Only eight of the 1,025 theatres in Canada suffered any kind of a fire during the past calendar year, according to a report from J. Grove Smith, Fire Commissioner of the Dominion Government, before the annual convention of the Dominion Fire Prevention Ass'n.

The total loss incurred in the eight fires was only $3,176, making the theatres of the country the lowest fire risk of any branch of business. The commissioner referred to the railways of Canada as having made an excellent showing in ratio to capital investment, but in the rail service there were 482 recorded fires.

Oklahoma City, June 21.—The "sawed house" libel suit, in and out of two courts in two years, has been returned to District Court here by Mrs. Fern G. Chadwick, who is seeking $25,000 damages from Universal, Warners, Standard Theatres and Midwest Enterprises Co. She claimed newsreels gave the impression that she had been thrown out of her house.

Japan Will Produce About 500 Next Year—Kawakita

the American companies, all of which have offices in the country.

With 1,600 theatres now operating, about 11 new houses are now under construction in Osaka and Tokyo. In the large towns, the seating capacity of new theatres averages 4,000.

Kawakita brought with him a print of "New Earth." Setusko Hara, the star of the picture, accompanies the producer and his wife. According to Kawakita, this is the first Japanese film produced with an aim for international release.

"I think the world is interested in what is being done in the Far East," he said, "and while I am here I will try to find producers who will cooperate with us in the production of pictures for distribution in every country. I hope to have some companies visit Japan and produce there."

After a week in New York, Kawakita will leave for Hollywood where he plans to spend a week to 10 days studying production methods. He will sail July 14 from San Francisco on the Tatsuta Maru.

Modern Films will handle "New Earth," also called "The Daughter of the Samurai," in this country.

New Manufacturers' Association Formed

the situation here this year, which found two factions fighting for leadership, the dealers in almost continuous conference, and little or no attention paid to the exhibits of the manufacturers. Plans for the manufacturers' show next year will be made by a committee composed of Joseph B. Kleckner, chairman; Oscar Neu, William Geddris, H. C. Hecht, Harry Strong, C. H. Ashcraft and Joe Robin.

The committee will hold numerous meetings within the next few months. Major and independent producers will be contacted, and commercial and educational film producers will also be asked to cooperate in the venture, which is expected to be held here, probably in June of next year. It is also thought probable that the 1939 show will be held in New York to coincide with the New York World's Fair.

Theatres Fighting St. Louis Tax Bill

St. Louis, June 21.—Local theatres are circulating petitions of protest and some are running trailers opposing the proposed new tax legislation in the Board of Aldermen, which includes taxes on amusement admissions, newspaper advertising, cigarettes and gasoline. It was intended to rush the measures through to passage, but public protest reached such proportions that the board postponed its adjournment date and will reconsider the bills.

The amusement measures would provide for a tax ranging from one cent on tickets costing 75 cents or less, to 10 cents on tickets costing $4. Theatres also would be affected by the proposed tax on newspaper advertising.

St. Louis, June 21.—The Aldermanic Legislation Committee today asked the City Councilor's office for an opinion on the legality of six proposed new taxation bills now pending, including the amusement measure. The committee adjourned until Thursday. They did not act on the amendment to eliminate the tax on tickets selling for less than 25 cents. If acted upon the elimination of this tax would meet the objections raised by Fred Wehrenberg, MPTO president.

Attendance Is Heavy At CEA's Convention

for the banquet. In all, about 1,600 managers and operators of theatres from northern counties attended a preview exhibition yesterday. The exhibition stands, totaling 40, were the largest number ever in use at a C.E.A. convention.

Following adjournment, the CEA-Moyne negotiating committee met at 10 P. M. They were still sitting at midnight trying to evolve a new quota policy in reply to Government suggestions. They must make their suggestions in council tomorrow.

It is rumored that circuit influences are trying to force a policy agreement with the KRS, but C. P. Metcalfe and Kenneth Nyman were adhering to their opposition to the cost clause, and it is likely that they will appeal against any majority committee decision to the full council. The differences are believed to be acute and may possibly split the CEA seriously.

Wednesday is expected to be the most lively day of the meeting, with Lord Tyrrell, president of the British Board of Film Censors, scheduled to speak, and when C. P. Metcalfe, C.E.A. president, will preside at an open forum for the airing of exhibitors problems.

No Games for Skouras

Despite the fact that Loew's and RKO have reinstated games in local theatres, Skouras Theatres will not revive the practice, it was stated at the circuit's headquarters. According to executives of Skouras, they believe it is a mistake to put games back during the summer months. However, the current moves are being watched closely, and unless something is done to do away with the practice, circuit executives feel they may be forced to book Screeno and Bank Night again.

To Study Texas Bank Night

Houston, June 21.—The Grand Jury of the Criminal District Court at Beaumont has been instructed by Judge R. A. Shivers to investigate Bank Night drawings. In a special charge Judge Shivers told the jurors that the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin has ruled that Bank Night as commonly practised by theatres is a violation of the state gambling statutes.

Series of College Musicals in Sight

Hollywood, June 21.—A college musical cycle has hit the town. Following closely upon the heels of Paramount's announcement that it would produce a sequel to "College Holiday," came 20th Century-Fox's plans to star the Ritz Brothers in "Life Begins in College" and Selznick International's idea of having a musical with a college background in Technicolor.

Selznick has signed John Monks, Jr., and Fred Finklehoffe, authors of the play "Brother Rat," to bat out an original on college life, on which Oscar Serlin will be production aide to David O. Selznick.

W. C. Menzies and Robert Sinclair, the latter working in films for the first time, will direct it.

The 20th Century-Fox film will feature football sequences, as in "Pigskin Parade."

Asks Riot Film Showing

Edward Kelly after which Myers greeted the delegates and expressed confidence in the N.A.B. and in the continuance of its work. He pointed out that last year much had been done for broadcasters, that several problems are now due for serious consideration and that they will be brought up at the proper time.

Judge Eugene Octave Sykes then spoke on the duties and responsibilities of broadcasters. He cited the need for improvement in radio programs in view of the fact that "radio is in the home 16 hours a day." He criticized the assumption of some stations that the right to broadcast is a gift to radiomen by the Government. He emphasized strongly the necessity for subservience to Governmental rules and regulations.

Approve Treasurer's Report

Following Sykes, Harold Hough gave the treasurer's report which met with approval. James W. Baldwin, managing director, then spoke. He stated that important questions before the N.A.B. this year include possibility of the Government entering broadcasting, copyright law changes, taxation on broadcasting stations, extension of licensing periods and the development of a copyright bureau. Baldwin advocated the fighting of a bill seeking to establish Government broadcasting stations for the following reasons: (1) enactment of such a bill might bring Government control to all stations; (2) the existing system gives the Government all the broadcasting time it wants free of charge; (3) the present system offers the greater radio audience; (4) the official handling of radio would destroy the entertainment features of radio by too much time being devoted to educational plans; (5) due to Federal affiliation, statements made over such stations might result in foreign entanglements through misunderstanding; (6) the cost of creating and operating such a system would be a tremendous burden to taxpayers.

Baldwin went on to say that the NAB should continue to support the Government in the Ascap fight. He said only by thorough cooperation could this be done as the Ascap lobby is one of the strongest and best organized. He advocated that one person from each state be selected at this meeting and when the proper time comes each should go to Washington and fight the battle to a finish.

"I think the tax on broadcasting stations a matter for government consideration. Perhaps broadcasters should pay something for their franchise. If the NAB would work with the Government I think something worthwhile would develop," Baldwin said.

Seeks Long License Period

With the F. C. C. desiring at present a six-months' license plan to continue as only a means of holding broadcasters in line the NAB group plans to continue its fight for a longer license period as Congress has the power to license radio stations for three years. A fight to put through such legislation was suggested to the delegates because longer license periods are needed to stabilize business, Baldwin said.

Baldwin also outlined the present setup of the Bureau of Copyright which has been incorporated. A special NAB committee controls 51 per cent of its stock. Through this bureau, raw material music sources are protected and fee-free music is available. Another thing Baldwin mentioned was that the A. T. & T. had lowered its rates for long distance line charges but for shorter lines local tariffs had often been increased. Such things, he said, should be reported to headquarters. In closing Baldwin stated that 20 hours of recorded music now is available to all members at a low price. He also outlined the accomplishments during the last year before closing.

Ascap Condemned

Ed Craney of KGIR, Butte, Mont., took the floor and denounced Ascap in no uncertain terms. Ascap is doing such a good job of lobbying, Craney said, that unless something is done immediately their suit now in the courts will be dropped. He berated Ascap officials, pointing out that conditions outlined by Ascap were untrue in most instances. Craney said that all broadcasters wanted was honest legislation and protection from infringement suits and a chance to pay those who deserved money for their music instead of numerous others. He stated that the money was not going to the right people and until it did the situation would be unhealthy for all. The NAB did not kick about the price paid for music, he added, but they did object to whom it was paid. He said composers and the rightful parties were not getting their share or anywhere near it. Craney's resolution will be taken up tomorrow for adoption. Craney also asked for the starting of state legislation to protect broadcaster's interests. He said that fighting Ascap on all fronts, including Washington, would help.

Officers Nominated

The nominating committee named reported as follows: For president, John Elmer, WCBM, Baltimore; first vice-president, John J. Gillin, WOW, Omaha; second vice-president; William J. Scripps, WWJ, Detroit; treasurer, Harold Hough, WBAP, Forth Worth. For directors, three-year term: Charles Myers, KOIN; Herbert Hollister, Wichita, Kan.; Harry Butcher, CBS, Washington, D. C.; Frank Russell, NBC, Washington; Theodore Streibert, MBS, New York, and for one-year term, Eugene Dyer, WGES, Chicago.

It is understood that the slate selected will undoubtedly be approved.

A special race in honor of the NAB is scheduled at Washington Park tomorrow afternoon. The conventioneers will attend the Louis-Braddock fight 100 per cent. tomorrow night.

As many as possible of the original cast will be assembled for the program, which will be a complete re-playing of the old scripts, not a continuation written by new scriptors. H. C. Connette, local newspaperman who originated the series more than 10 years ago, died last year.

The Bard—Under Difficulties

Static which crackled and thundered in radio receivers throughout the metropolitan area last night made listening an ordeal and well nigh ruined reception of the first of NBC's Shakespearean cycle, "Hamlet," featuring John Barrymore as the melancholy Dane.

As a consequence of the atmospheric conditions which distorted the dialogue so as to make it almost unintelligible, and in justice to NBC which has much at stake in this series, we defer our review of the Shakespearean productions until next week.

"Universal Rhythm"

Sunday on CBS, from 9 to 10 P. M., E.D.S.T., the program known as "Universal Rhythm," heard before on CBS as a half-hour feature, took the place of the "Sunday Evening Hour," institutional Ford program of classical music, which has vacated for the summer season.

The expanded "Universal Rhythm" program, with Frank Crumit, as "em cee," added to the cast, provides a pleasant hour of light orchestral music and vocals, performed and sung by Rex Chandler's orchestra, Alex Templeton, pianist, and Richard Bonelli and Carolyn Urbaneck.

Orchestral selections included "Swing High, Swing Low," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Soldiers on Parade," "September in the Rain" and other light pieces. Bonelli's contributions were "Gypsy John" and "My Little Buckaroo," while Miss Urbaneck's solo was "Smilin' Thru." Duets and choral numbers, plus several piano selections by Templeton effectively clinched the right of "Universal Rhythm" to being rated as one of the most pleasant of the summer programs.

"Hi There, Audience"

Evaluating the new WOR feature, "Hi There, Audience" via the schoolroom method, we grade it 50 per cent for music, 30 per cent for song, and 20 per cent for comedy.

And speaking of schools, we'd like to suggest the formation of a school for radio comedians. In this fanciful institution all comedy aspirants would be compelled to enroll for a course before being permitted to don the cap and bells on an individual program. As a starter, the faculty should comprise Professors Fred Allen, Jack Benny and W. C. Fields. Long suffering listeners would happily endow such an institution, we're positive . . .

We expected great things of Ray Perkins, mainstay of the new production. In the past Ray has supplied many mirthful moments on the air, but his comedy Sunday night was pretty awful. And in this instance, one can't blame the scriptwriter for the debacle, because Perkins writes his own material. Invariably, his material in the past has been excellent. The only explanation we have for his poor effort Sunday is that it was simply one of his off nights, and we look forward to a much improved showing next week.

The musical lineup included Nat Brusiloff's orchestra, Sid Gary, Barbara La Marr and Willard Amison. They performed satisfactorily.

"Hi, There Audience" is offered Sundays from 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T. It is a sustainer. BANNER

CBS Lines Up Big Names For Shakespearean Series

CBS yesterday made public the names of the first 14 of the more than 25 stage, screen and radio players who have been signed for that network's cycle of eight Shakespearean plays, which will be broadcast each Monday beginning July 12, from 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T. The engagements are as follows:

Leslie Howard to play the role of "Benedick" in "Much Ado About Nothing," Burgess Meredith to play the title role of "Hamlet," Edward G. Robinson to play "Petruchio" in "Taming of the Shrew," Walter Huston to play the title role in "Henry IV," Sir Cedric Hardwicke to play "Malvolio" in "Twelfth Night," Tallulah Bankhead to play "Viola" in "Twelfth Night," Walter Abel as "Horatio" in "Hamlet," Montagu Love as the "King" and Grace George as the "Queen" in "Hamlet," Orson Welles as "Duke" in "Twelfth Night," William A. Brady as the "Ghost" in "Hamlet," Brian Aherne as "Prince Hal" and Walter Connolly as "Falstaff," both in "Henry IV," and Estelle Winwood as "Maria" in "Twelfth Night."

Talent Being Lined Up

W. B. Lewis, CBS vice-president in charge of programs, is now in Hollywood completing the casting of talent.

The cast thus far signed is far more elaborate than was originally expected, and the inside story has it that the signatoring of the foregoing artists is due to the CBS "burn-up" as a consequence of NBC's scheduling a Shakespearean series in the wake of the CBS announcement. The understanding in radio circles is that William S. Paley's dander has been aroused to such an extent that he's instructed his vice-presidents to sign up the biggest names in show business, no matter what the expense.

Apparently his orders have been obeyed, for most of the artists named above are each in the $1,500 to $3,000 per performance class.

A. C. Love to Hollywood

San Francisco, June 21.—Andrew C. Love, NBC's continuity acceptance head here, will be transferred to Hollywood effective July 1, where he will head the new continuity department. The move is necessitated by the increase in program production at NBC's Hollywood studios.

Byron Mills, a member of the local continuity acceptance staff, will move into Love's post here. Additionally, Lee Strahorn, formerly with Lord & Thomas, has joined the NBC publicity staff here.

Blumenschein Joins Agency

Denies KROW Sale

Oakland, June 21.—KROW is not for sale, and will not affiliate with any of the Hollywood stations on a network, H. P. Drey, general manager, asserts.

Drey's statement that present station policy will continue was in denial of persistent rumors that some type of network affiliation was in prospect.

Canada to Open New Unit Near Montreal

Montreal, June 21.—Plans for the opening of a 50-kilowatt transmitter of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. at Vercheres, Quebec, have been made known by H. Rooney Pelletier, program director of CRCM.

The opening of the new transmitter scheduled for this fall, was discussed along with other governmental radio expansion plans at a recent convention in Ottawa.

Pelletier said the station will be used for experimentation with ideas, programs and artists this summer.

Birmingham Station May Shift Networks

CBS are considering such a project. Should the move be approved and go into effect, it would simply mean that WAPI would be the CBS outlet and WBRC the NBC outlet. At present, WBRC gets CBS programs while WAPI pipes NBC offerings.

It is conceivable too, that the move, if it is consummated, would result in WAPI getting a full-time wave length. At present the station operates on a part-time schedule, sharing its evening time with KVOO at Tulsa, Okla.

Tidewater Renews at WFIL

Philadelphia, June 21.—The Tidewater Associated Oil Co. of New York, continues as WFIL's largest national time buyer, by renewing a 52-week news contract through Lennen & Mitchell agency. The deal, like a similar one just completed, calls for three five-minute and one 15-minute news program daily, six times per week for the year. Staff announcer Gene Morgan will continue as the "Tydol Reporter" for the news commentations.

M. H. Boyd Is Promoted

Maurice M. Boyd, of the national spot sales division of NBC's eastern sales department, has been appointed head of the division, effective July 1. He succeeds F. E. Spencer, Jr., who has resigned.

Weed & Co. Expands Office

Don Lee Web Concentrating In Hollywood

Following the current trend of radio to Hollywood, it has been confirmed here that the Don Lee Broadcasting System, an important link in the Mutual network, will concentrate all future Pacific Coast production of the network in Hollywood and Los Angeles.

In a wire to the Mutual offices here, Lewis Allen Weiss, general manager of Don Lee, stated that in line with the general production expansion of the combined Don Lee and Mutual networks scheduled for the fall, he was currently negotiating for new headquarters in Hollywood for the combined webs, with KHJ as western key station of the chains.

First Switches Set

First Pacific Coast programs to be switched to KHJ, Los Angeles, for origination, are "Feminine Fancies" and "Morning Merrymakers," which have been heard from KFRC, San Francisco, for some time. Mel Venter, Bob Bence and Bill Davidson, central personnel of the programs, will move south with the shows, to start broadcasting over the chain from Los Angeles June 28.

Weiss, now in Chicago attending the N.A.B. convention, leaves for the east this week for conferences with Mutual network officials and advertising agencies to work out the lineup of new fall shows which are slated for Hollywood origination over the Mutual-Don Lee system.

It is understood that several of the chain's more important commercial programs, currently being broadcast from New York, will be moved to the coast as soon as quarters can be obtained in Hollywood.

Anderson Joins N. Y. System

G. William Anderson, until recently with the Herald-Tribune, has joined the sales staff of the New York State Broadcasting System. Burt Squire is general manager of the network.

Prior to his association with the Herald-Tribune, Anderson was with the Hearst International Magazines, and was advertising manager of several trade publications.

Actors Guild May Organize Radio Talent

The organizing of radio talent in Hollywood may be carried on under the direction of the Screen Actors' Guild for Actors' Equity Ass'n, it was indicated here yesterday.

Kenneth Thomson, secretary of the guild, will attend a meeting of the Equity council today at which plans may be set for the radio talent organizing drive on the west coast. The guild, an Equity affiliate, already has promised to cooperate in Hollywood, where a large part of the talent engaged in radio are guild members. Indications are that any film player appearing on the air will have to become a member either of Equity or its radio affiliate, in the event a separate organization is set up for radio talent.

Thomson, who came here from the coast last week to open a guild office in New York, plans to leave for Hollywood tomorrow. The guild will sign contracts with eastern producers between now and Aug. 1, when the guild shop goes into effect in eastern studios.

Realism Draws Police

Oklahoma City, June 21.—"There's shooting going on at the Hightower Bldg.," shrieked a voice over the telephone.

"All right, we'll investigate," came a calm voice from the Oklahoma City police station. Three patrol cars were dispatched to the building. After searching for the "Killer," here's what they learned:

That a certain city merchant had $10,000 worth of firecrackers stocked for the next three years, which the City Council had banned after this year. So he prepared to put on a sale, which was advertised over KFXR, in the Hightower Bldg.

As an overture to the broadcast, several firecrackers were shot off before the microphone by Announcer Harold Sparks.

"Maybe the boys shot off one or two in the building," said Bob Elliston, station commercial manager. "Anyway, the next thing we knew the building was under martial law."

Myers declared that the question of copyright "demands the attention of all radio broadcasters" and stated that every attempt should be made to protect radio interests. He added that if the Federal Government has plans for the building and operation of radio broadcasting stations efforts should be made to halt the plan as such a condition would do broadcasting generally more harm than good.

New Law Asked to Rule Reorganizations

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Drawing upon the testimony it developed in its investigation of the Paramount reorganization, the Securities and Exchange Commission today submitted to Congress a report on its study of protective and reorganization committees and recommended placing such bodies under Federal control.

Uncontrolled reorganization committees, the commission asserted, have failed to make appraisal of the qualifications of the old management of the corporation and the manner in which it discharged its trust, resulting in a failure to complete the reorganization process.

"Restitution for assets illegally diverted and reparation for mismanagement are not made, and the causes of failure of the old enterprise are car-

May Tax Revenue Is $52,000 Under April

By CLARENCE LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A $52,000 drop in admission tax collections during May brought the total for the month to $1,537,119, compared with $1,589,682, in April, it was reported today by the Internal Revenue Bureau. May collections, however, were nearly $220,000 above the $1,318,765 reported for the corresponding month last year.

For the first five months of the current year, the bureau reported, admission tax revenues were $7,645,239 against $6,705,115 for the corresponding period in 1936, and for the 11 months of the fiscal year which ends June 30, receipts were $17,865,416, a gain of $2,285,430 over the $15,579,986 reported to the same date last year.

Japan Will Produce About 500 Next Year—Kawakita

About 500 Japanese pictures will be produced next season, Nagamasa Kawakita, head of Towa Shoji-Kaisha, distributor of European-made films in Japan, stated yesterday on his arrival on the Queen Mary for a three-week visit.

"This number of pictures is necessary," Kawakita said, "because of double and triple bills in the country. Triple feature programs are prevalent in the smaller towns with duals the practice in the big cities." Kawakita added that for 10 cents patrons can sit through a show lasting five hours.

There are approximately 300 American features shown in Japan a year. The pictures are shown with superimposed titles in Japanese. Among the favorite American actors and actresses are Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo, Shirley Temple, Clark Gable, Robert Taylor and Gary Cooper, according to Kawakita. He said this is largely due to the publicity campaigns put on by

UA Will Sell Percentage or Flat Rentals

Circuits on Set Prices; Others Have Choice

United Artists sales policy next season will be flexible with exhibitors to be offered the program of 36 pictures on percentage terms or flat rentals, it was stated yesterday.

Major and independent circuits as well as subsequent runs during the 1936-37 season have been playing the company's product on a flat rental basis, it was said, and this policy will be continued. However, percentages will be asked with the exhibitor having his choice of either playing this way or on set rentals.

In addition to four Samuel Goldwyn films listed at 40 per cent each, another group of four will be offered at 35 per cent each. Walter Wanger will have four at 35 per cent and a like number at 30 per cent. Alexander Korda will have two at 35 per cent, another two at 30 and two others at 25. David O. Selznick's group of five will be from 25 per cent up to 35 per cent.

All home office executives who attended the Chicago sales meeting returned yesterday with the exception of L. Jack Schlaifer, western sales manager, who is making a tour of his exchanges. Other division and district managers will shortly visit branches under their supervision.

A third branch will be an amateur film show next April.

membership was held last night at the union's headquarters, but no one affiliated with a film company attended, it was said at the organization's headquarters.

This morning home office representatives will go into session with representatives of exchange service employes and I.A.T.S.E. executives on a number of out-of-town situations. Arrangements for recognizing union exchange groups at Oklahoma City and Cincinnati were completed last week.

Oklahoma Strike Prevented

Oklahoma City, June 21.—The possibility of a strike by 76 exchange employees has been averted by the accession of producers to the wage demands of the Film Exchange Employees Union, George Snodgrass, president, said today. "While we haven't yet received a contract, it is expected today," he stated. "George Krause, assistant to the president of the I.A.T.S.E., wired me this morning assuring me that union terms have been met and a contract has only to be signed," he concluded.

The contract demanded by the union provides for a minimum weekly salary wage of $40 for shipping clerks, $35 for postal clerks, $25 for inspectors and $22.50 for assistant inspectors. Seven local exchanges are included in the contract drawn between Krause and the heads of film companies in New York. They are Paramount, 20th Century-Fox, Warners, Universal, Columbia, RKO, and M-G-M. An eighth, Republic, has agreed to sign, Snodgrass said.

Guild Still Men Irked

Hollywood, June 21.—A peculiar situation has arisen over still photographers for newspapers and studios here in which the American Newspaper Guild and the I. A. T. S. E. may be embroiled in a jurisdictional dispute.

Under the present I. A. T. S. E. setup, all photographers working inside of film studios must be I. A. T. S. E. men. Under closed shop, no new cards are being issued by Local 659.

This means that local or out-of-town newspaper photographers, on regular assignment, cannot shoot stills inside of the lots. Not even Newspaper Guild members can break through.

While there has been no direct beef from the Newspaper Guild, it admittedly is becoming a serious matter of jurisdiction. The I. A. T. S. E. is not even issuing temporary work permits for outside photographers.

Painters, Casey in Confab

Hollywood, June 21.—Committees of scenic artists, painters and makeup men's locals of the Painters' Brotherhood met todav with Pat Casey. The presented their demands for wage scales and working conditions in accordance with the agreement reached when the strike was called off.

The painters are asking a dollar daily increase which means a dollar hourly pay. The scenic artists are satisfied with $2.25 hourly, asking only for a 36-hour week. Makeup men are chiefly concerned with pay for overtime and a 40-hour week. The painters also ask for a 36-hour week.

Musicians to Study Studio Conditions

Louisville, June 21.—The American Federation of Musicians, at the closing session of its annual convention here Saturday, turned over to the executive board for consideration the matter of hours and conditions of employment of union members at the Hollywood studios, for action 30 days after the convention closing date.

At a special session Saturday night, a discussion was held on the use of transcriptions by radio stations and the unauthorized use of musicians in making sound tracks on the coast. Joseph Weber, president of the A. F. of M., declared that the federation has a contract with the studios, which has a year still to run, and expressed the belief that action by the convention might upset the present favorable setup. All the present officers and the executive board of the A. F. of M. were reelected.

Writers, Nylander to Meet

Hollywood, June 21.—Conferences in which the Screen Writers' Guild will seek to supplant Screen Playwrights, Inc., as the collective bargaining agency for film writers will open Wednesday when representatives of both writer groups will meet with Dr. Towne Nylander of the National Labor Relations Board.

Wednesday's conference will be the first of a series to determine whether a poll of writers in the studios or a public hearing is necessary to decide which of the organizations shall be designated as the bargaining agency. At the present time the Screen Playwrights' code with the producers is in effect.

Fleischer Report to NLRB

Washington, June 21.—Officials of the National Labor Relations Board today were in receipt of the confidential informal report of the examiner who last week held hearings in New York on the Max Fleischer studio strike, but expressed the opinion that probably a week or more would elapse before a decision could be rendered as to whether an election should be held to determine what organization represents a majority of the employes.

The board not only has a number of cases pending before it, it was explained, but makes a thorough study of the examiners' reports before rendering decisions.

ried over into the new," it was declared. "Graphic illustration of the type of management policies and activities which should be examined in any reorganization is afforded by incidents from the history of Paramount-Publix Corp."

Quoting from the testimony of John D. Hertz, the commission pointed out that prior to the time he joined the Paramount management nothing had been done in the way of negotiating for reductions in theatre rentals, and under his direction $5,900,000 was taken off the theatre leases. The company also was paying excessive insurance premiums, which he reduced from 25 to 35 per cent. Heavy telephone charges were cut down and the expenses of the company's legal department were pared. Nepotism was rampant and he "cleaned house."

Expenditures Reduced

Hertz reduced expenditures by about one-sixth, it was explained, but nevertheless was forced to resign.

"We mention these allegations of diversion of company assets, of nepotism, of profligate management, and of tempermental direction of corporate affairs, not to evaluate this bitter Hertz-Zukor controversy, but because of the frequent importance of such matters in reorganizations," the S.E.C. said in its report. "They are of the variety with which committees must deal, not only in discovering corporate assets in the form of claims against the management, but more particularly in appraising the faithfulness and competence of the management. It seems obvious that committees dominated and controlled by a profligate management would be apt to close their eyes to such matters irrespective of their importance to security holders."

As other evidences of matters with which committees must deal, the report cited the alleged wrongful hypothecation of assets through transfers to a subsidiary, the Film Production Corp., and the giving of bank creditors a claim against those assets prior to that of Paramount's debenture holders, the alleged wrongful repurchase of its stock out of capital, and alleged excessive salaries and bonuses.

Reorganization Hit

The commission also cited the Paramount reorganization as an illustration of underwriters and bankers active in the management of a company and later participating in its reorganization, in this instance Kuhn, Loeb & Co. It pointed out the importance to the underwriters of having the control fall into "friendly" hands.

"It seems clear that the reconstituted reorganization system should entail a basic and fundamental change in the present system," the report concluded. "No longer should the management and investment bankers be in a position of domination and control. No longer should stockholders be permitted to represent bondholders. The result should be not only a shift of the power from the inside groups to security holders and their representatives, but also a reconstitution of committees so as to provide security holders with more adequate representation.

"The key to reform in the activities of protective committees lies in the legislative grant of the power to deal with these conflicts of interest directly and forthrightly."

Paramount N. E. Men Discussing Product

Boston, June 21.—Details on the company's new product lineup were discussed to approximately 60 Paramount theatre executives, salesmen and branch managers today by William Erbb, division manager, who is presiding at the local two-day regional.

Among those from New York attending the meetings at the Copley-Plaza are Neil F. Agnew, J. J. Unger, Milton S. Kusell, Robert Gillham and Don Velde. The first meeting was adjourned tonight for dinner at the Fox and Hounds Club and "Fo'cas'le" in Marblehead.

Following tomorrow's session, the New York force will return by boat.

operates a Brooklyn theatre, to restrain it from discharging union members.

Alexander Kindler, president of the union, stated in an affidavit that the Quinral Corp. entered into a contract with the union in 1932 to hire members of the Empire State union. The affidavit further charges that two union operators were discharged last February without reason. Quinral in reply filed an affidavit that the union has made no effort to arbitrate the differences which were the cause of the dismissal and further that the complaint is technically defective. Justice Furman reserved decision.

Warner Suit on Calendar

Federal Judge John C. Knox yesterday restored to the calendar for trial the $500,000 copyright infringement action of Irving Gielow against Warners and M. Witmark & Sons. The suit was marked off the calendar in May, 1936, to allow depositions of witnesses in California to be taken. Gielow charges that his three songs, "Flirtation Walk," "I Can't Believe" and "Mr. and Mrs. is the Name" were infringed in the Warner picture, "Flirtation Walk."

Call Mass Meet to Protest Para. Pacts

Washington, June 21.—A mass meeting of national exhibitor organizations to protect Paramount's removing of pictures from its 1936 contract to the 1937 contract, at increased rentals, has been called for June 29, at the Carlton Hotel.

The session is the outgrowth of the Ohio Theatre Owners Ass'n idea and will be presided over by P. E. Woods, of Columbus. The main objective of the meeting will be the declaring of a booking holiday against Paramount and also the protesting of the Adolph Zukor salary arrangement. Approximately 150 organizations have been invited, including all the affiliates of the M.P.P.DA. and Allied groups as well as unaffiliated exhibitor units.

U.M.P.T.O. Plans Para. Protest

Philadelphia, June 21.—Plans for a mass demonstration against Paramount's 1937-'38 selling plan were laid today at a meeting of the U.M.P.T.O. One day next week exhibitors using Paramount product and their employees will march down Vine Street to deliver their demands to the exchange. The group expects at least 2,000 in the line of march. Theatre employees will be asked to join in the demonstration. It is the group's theory that if the Paramount selling plan goes through and is adopted by other companies, employees as well as exhibitors will be jeopardized.

Lewin Pizor, Charles Segall and Dave Barrist will represent the local group at the meeting in Washington on June 29 and will endeavor to suggest mass demonstrations on a national basis, having exhibitors all over the country stage similar marches also. A special committee of 15 U.M.P.T.O. men will meet on Friday to lay final plans for the demonstration. More than 100 theatres were represented at today's meeting. Absent members were notified by wire of the strike against Paramount until demands are met.

Clevelanders Join Protest

Cleveland, June 21.—The Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors Ass'n at a recent meeting voted to send two or more representatives to Washington to attend a meeting there on June 29, at which it is expected that action will be taken in regard to the Paramount situation as regards holding over for the 1937-38 program certain pictures originally sold on the 1936-37 program.

Derr Signs for Studio

Hollywood, June 21.—E. B. Derr has signed a contract with Hollywood Studios (formerly Talisman) for space and offices for the 16 productions he plans for the new season. Six will be in the "Secret Service Smith" series and 10 of the action adventure type.

Two Titles Changed

Hollywood, June 21.—Twentieth Century-Fox has changed the title of "Lancer Spy" to "Life of a Lancer Spy" and Walter Wanger has changed the title of the picture which started out as "Summer Lightning" and has had three other names to "I Met My Love Again."

RKO Sales Forces Leave After Meet

Los Angeles, June 21.—The delegates to the RKO convention, which ended here yesterday with a sightseeing session, entrained tonight for their respective territories.

Jules Levy, general sales manager, in his concluding address on sales policy, declared that of the 48 features which RKO will produce, 25 will be films of major importance, with an increase in percentage figures. Two specials, the Walt Disney cartoon feature, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and Herbert Wilcox's British production, "Victoria the Great," will be sold separately, Levy said. The percentage on the Disney feature will be computed when the film is near completion and the cost can be ascertained.

Levy also declared that more than 2,500 independent theatre contracts have been signed for the new season thus far, a gain of almost 500 over the same period last year.

RKO's business increased 150 per cent for the first quarter of the year over the corresponding period last year, Leo Spitz, president, told the convention in his closing speech. The fiscal year 1936 showed a gain of 250 per cent over 1935, he said. He lauded Ned E. Depinet, vice-president in charge of distribution, Levy and Phil Reisman, in charge of foreign sales.

The convention was told that the next Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers picture will be made entirely in Technicolor.

Looking 'Em Over

"Damaged Goods"

(Criterion-Grand National)

This film adaptation of Eugene Brieux's famous stage play—the indictment of social forces concerning suppressed knowledge of the prevention and treatment of venereal disease—is said to be the producer's sincere effort to aid President Roosevelt's campaign to educate the nation to such disease.

The film presents its dramatized case in a straightforward manner. A young man contracts a disease shortly before he is to be married. He refuses to heed the advice of a doctor and visits a quack. Within a short period he marries, thinking himself cured. Later his infected child is born and then he realizes his reluctance to listen to sound medical advice. But the kindly medico whose advice was ignored manages to mend the broken lives and inculcate in the bride's father, a Congressman, the need for widespread action.

Upton Sinclair is credited with the adaptation. Phil Stone directed. The leading roles are played by Pedro De Cordoba, Phyllis Barry, Douglas Walton, Aletta Duncan, Ferdinand Munier, Esther Dale, Clarence Wilson, Frank Melton and Gretchen Thomas.

Motion Picture Daily, however is of the opinion the subject matter does not properly fit into the entertainment formula and that films of the nature of "Damaged Goods," therefore, do not belong in commercial theatres.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 60 minutes. "G."

"The Thirteen"

(Amkino)

The Russian studios in this latest importation have eliminated their usual propagandistic thrusts. Instead they have dramatized a real-life incident that unfolds with a forceful impact. It bears a similarity to "The Lost Patrol."

A patrol of Red Army soldiers is returning from eastern Russia, the period of service expired. They are accompanied by a geologist. Their trek across the desert leads them to a water hole where bandit arms have been buried in a well. A little water still flows, however. Soon after the discovery of the cache, outlaws arrive and a pitched battle occurs. This is followed by a truce. Terms are offered and refused. The vicious tribesmen lay siege to the water hole. One by one the defenders are killed. In the meantime, military aid is being sought. The series of raids on the well are particularly fine dramatic examples of the Russian flair for battle scenes and military action, the atmosphere of the desert background location lending to the story. The defense is finally reduced to one man. When his ammunition is exhausted he runs from cover to find the reinforcements taking over the struggle.

There are incidents during the siege that are masterfully handled. The propaganda element, almost entirely absent, merely stresses the devotion of soldiers—any soldiers—to their officers. The survivor does, however, state that he has held out so long for "the people." Mikhail Romm directed.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

"Timberesque"

(Syndicate)

The only variation from the boy-meets-girl theme here is the inclusion in the narrative of a number of exciting scenes of animals in combat. The cutting and editing is poor. It may manage to hold interest, but that is all.

A playboy is jilted. He runs away to find solace in the "great outdoors," away from women and their entanglements. But, true to form, a female intrudes and love blooms once again. The unfolding of the simple scenario is heightened to a degree by sequences of woodland inhabitants in their struggle against natural enemies.

Ontario Censor Head Outlines New Rules

TORONTO, June 21.—O. J. Silverthorne, chairman of the Ontario film censor board, following his recent attack on British film standards, in which he suggested a need for more censorship of British films, has outlined the new policy for his board in the viewing of pictures.

Among the censorship requirements which will act as the official guide for the Ontario board will be: disapproval of films ridiculing religious sects, or races; elimination of all matter which tends to debase morals; loose conduct between men and women will be barred; criminal methods and crimes which give instruction in crime through suggestion will be eliminated; prolonged or passionate love scenes, when suggestive of immorality, will be eliminated. Silverthorne declared also that the board will disapprove any films of a propaganda nature, or which are definitely partisan.

Few Theatre Fires In Canada in Year

TORONTO, June 21.—Only eight of the 1,025 theatres in Canada suffered any kind of a fire during the past calendar year, according to a report from J. Grove Smith, Fire Commissioner of the Dominion Government, before the annual convention of the Dominion Fire Prevention Ass'n.

The total loss incurred in the eight fires was only $3,176, making the theatres of the country the lowest fire risk of any branch of business. The commissioner referred to the railways of Canada as having made an excellent showing in ratio to capital investment, but in the rail service there were 482 recorded fires.

Japan Will Produce About 500 Next Year—Kawakita

the American companies, all of which have offices in the country.

With 1,600 theatres now operating, about 11 new houses are now under construction in Osaka and Tokyo. In the large towns, the seating capacity of new theatres averages 4,000.

Kawakita brought with him a print of "New Earth." Setusko Hara, the star of the picture, accompanies the producer and his wife. According to Kawakita, this is the first Japanese film produced with an aim for international release.

"I think the world is interested in what is being done in the Far East," he said, "and while I am here I will try to find producers who will cooperate with us in the production of pictures for distribution in every country. I hope to have some companies visit Japan and produce there."

After a week in New York, Kawakita will leave for Hollywood where he plans to spend a week to 10 days studying production methods. He will sail July 14 from San Francisco on the Tatsuta Maru.

Modern Films will handle "New Earth," also called "The Daughter of the Samurai," in this country.

New Manufacturers' Association Formed

the situation here this year, which found two factions fighting for leadership, the dealers in almost continuous conference, and little or no attention paid to the exhibits of the manufacturers. Plans for the manufacturers' show next year will be made by a committee composed of Joseph B. Kleckner, chairman; Oscar Neu, William Geddris, H. C. Hecht, Harry Strong, C. H. Ashcraft and Joe Robin.

The committee will hold numerous meetings within the next few months. Major and independent producers will be contacted, and commercial and educational film producers will also be asked to cooperate in the venture, which is expected to be held here, probably in June of next year. It is also thought probable that the 1939 show will be held in New York to coincide with the New York World's Fair.

Theatres Fighting St. Louis Tax Bill

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—Local theatres are circulating petitions of protest and some are running trailers opposing the proposed new tax legislation in the Board of Aldermen, which includes taxes on amusement admissions, newspaper advertising, cigarettes and gasoline. It was intended to rush the measures through to passage, but public protest reached such proportions that the board postponed its adjournment date and will reconsider the bills.

The amusement measures would provide for a tax ranging from one cent on tickets costing 75 cents or less, to 10 cents on tickets costing $4. Theatres also would be affected by the proposed tax on newspaper advertising.

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—The Aldermanic Legislation Committee today asked the City Councilor's office for an opinion on the legality of six proposed new taxation bills now pending, including the amusement measure. The committee adjourned until Thursday. They did not act on the amendment to eliminate the tax on tickets selling for less than 25 cents. If acted upon the elimination of this tax would meet the objections raised by Fred Wehrenberg, MPTO president.

Attendance Is Heavy At CEA's Convention

for the banquet. In all, about 1,600 managers and operators of theatres from northern counties attended a preview exhibition yesterday. The exhibition stands, totaling 40, were the largest number ever in use at a C.E.A. convention.

Following adjournment, the CEA-Moyne negotiating committee met at 10 P. M. They were still sitting at midnight trying to evolve a new quota policy in reply to Government suggestions. They must make their suggestions in council tomorrow.

It is rumored that circuit influences are trying to force a policy agreement with the KRS, but C. P. Metcalfe and Kenneth Nyman were adhering to their opposition to the cost clause, and it is likely that they will appeal against any majority committee decision to the full council. The differences are believed to be acute and may possibly split the CEA seriously.

Wednesday is expected to be the most lively day of the meeting, with Lord Tyrrell, president of the British Board of Film Censors, scheduled to speak, and when C. P. Metcalfe, C.E.A. president, will preside at an open forum for the airing of exhibitors problems.

No Games for Skouras

Despite the fact that Loew's and RKO have reinstated games in local theatres, Skouras Theatres will not revive the practice, it was stated at the circuit's headquarters. According to executives of Skouras, they believe it is a mistake to put games back during the summer months. However, the current moves are being watched closely, and unless something is done to do away with the practice, circuit executives feel they may be forced to book Screeno and Bank Night again.

To Study Texas Bank Night

HOUSTON, June 21.—The Grand Jury of the Criminal District Court at Beaumont has been instructed by Judge R. A. Shivers to investigate Bank Night drawings. In a special charge Judge Shivers told the jurors that the Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin has ruled that Bank Night as commonly practised by theatres is a violation of the state gambling statutes.

Series of College Musicals in Sight

HOLLYWOOD, June 21.—A college musical cycle has hit the town. Following closely upon the heels of Paramount's announcement that it would produce a sequel to "College Holiday," came 20th Century-Fox's plans to star the Ritz Brothers in "Life Begins in College" and Selznick International's idea of having a musical with a college background in Technicolor.

Selznick has signed John Monks, Jr., and Fred Finklehoffe, authors of the play "Brother Rat," to bat out an original on college life, on which Oscar Serlin will be production aide to David O. Selznick.

W. C. Menzies and Robert Sinclair, the latter working in films for the first time, will direct it.

The 20th Century-Fox film will feature football sequences, as in "Pigskin Parade."

Asks Riot Film Showing

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A resolution calling for the exhibition of newsreel pictures of the Chicago riot at the Republic Steel Co. plant before members of the House was introduced in that body today by Representative Teigan of Minnesota. The film is in the possession of Senator Robert M. LaFollette, chairman of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee.

Edward Kelly after which Myers greeted the delegates and expressed confidence in the N.A.B. and in the continuance of its work. He pointed out that last year much had been done for broadcasters, that several problems are now due for serious consideration and that they will be brought up at the proper time.

Judge Eugene Octave Sykes then spoke on the duties and responsibilities of broadcasters. He cited the need for improvement in radio programs in view of the fact that "radio is in the home 16 hours a day." He criticized the assumption of some stations that the right to broadcast is a gift to radiomen by the Government. He emphasized strongly the necessity for subservience to Governmental rules and regulations.

Approve Treasurer's Report

Following Sykes, Harold Hough gave the treasurer's report which met with approval. James W. Baldwin, managing director, then spoke. He stated that important questions before the N.A.B. this year include possibility of the Government entering broadcasting, copyright law changes, taxation on broadcasting stations, extension of licensing periods and the development of a copyright bureau. Baldwin advocated the fighting of a bill seeking to establish Government broadcasting stations for the following reasons: (1) enactment of such a bill might bring Government control to all stations; (2) the existing system gives the Government all the broadcasting time it wants free of charge; (3) the present system offers the greater radio audience; (4) the official handling of radio would destroy the entertainment features of radio by too much time being devoted to educational plans; (5) due to Federal affiliation, statements made over such stations might result in foreign entanglements through misunderstanding; (6) the cost of creating and operating such a system would be a tremendous burden to taxpayers.

Baldwin went on to say that the NAB should continue to support the Government in the Ascap fight. He said only by thorough cooperation could this be done as the Ascap lobby is one of the strongest and best organized. He advocated that one person from each state be selected at this meeting and when the proper time comes each should go to Washington and fight the battle to a finish.

"I think the tax on broadcasting stations a matter for government consideration. Perhaps broadcasters should pay something for their franchise. If the NAB would work with the Government I think something worthwhile would develop," Baldwin said.

Seeks Long License Period

With the F. C. C. desiring at present a six-months' license plan to continue as only a means of holding broadcasters in line the NAB group plans to continue its fight for a longer license period as Congress has the power to license radio stations for three years. A fight to put through such legislation was suggested to the delegates because longer license periods are needed to stabilize business, Baldwin said.

Baldwin also outlined the present setup of the Bureau of Copyright which has been incorporated. A special NAB committee controls 51 per cent of its stock. Through this bureau, raw material music sources are protected and fee-free music is available. Another thing Baldwin mentioned was that the A. T. & T. had lowered its rates for long distance line charges but for shorter lines local tariffs had often been increased. Such things, he said, should be reported to headquarters. In closing Baldwin stated that 20 hours of recorded music now is available to all members at a low price. He also outlined the accomplishments during the last year before closing.

Ascap Condemned

Ed Craney of KGIR, Butte, Mont., took the floor and denounced Ascap in no uncertain terms. Ascap is doing such a good job of lobbying, Craney said, that unless something is done immediately their suit now in the courts will be dropped. He berated Ascap officials, pointing out that conditions outlined by Ascap were untrue in most instances. Craney said that all broadcasters wanted was honest legislation and protection from infringement suits and a chance to pay those who deserved money for their music instead of numerous others. He stated that the money was not going to the right people and until it did the situation would be unhealthy for all. The NAB did not kick about the price paid for music, he added, but they did object to whom it was paid. He said composers and the rightful parties were not getting their share or anywhere near it. Craney's resolution will be taken up tomorrow for adoption. Craney also asked for the starting of state legislation to protect broadcaster's interests. He said that fighting Ascap on all fronts, including Washington, would help.

Officers Nominated

The nominating committee named reported as follows: For president, John Elmer, WCBM, Baltimore; first vice-president, John J. Gillin, WOW, Omaha; second vice-president; William J. Scripps, WWJ, Detroit; treasurer, Harold Hough, WBAP, Forth Worth. For directors, three-year term: Charles Myers, KOIN; Herbert Hollister, Wichita, Kan.; Harry Butcher, CBS, Washington, D. C.; Frank Russell, NBC, Washington; Theodore Streibert, MBS, New York, and for one-year term, Eugene Dyer, WGES, Chicago.

It is understood that the slate selected will undoubtedly be approved.

A special race in honor of the NAB is scheduled at Washington Park tomorrow afternoon. The conventioneers will attend the Louis-Braddock fight 100 per cent. tomorrow night.

Annual Awards For Scripters Now Planned

The Radio Script Foundation will establish semi-annual awards for radio script writers and producers, it was announced yesterday. The purpose behind the chartering of the Foundation, it was stated, is to secure for the radio playwrights the same recognition that is given playwrights of the stage and screen.

The best original radio play will be given a first prize of $100 in cash. To the second and third best, a prize of $50 in cash each; and to the fourth, a prize of $25 in cash. With each award will go an engraved citation to the writer.

To the director of the winning play will go a special award, not yet decided upon. The Foundation will give to the station over which the winning play has been broadcast, a commemorative plaque.

Nominations Start Sept 1

The Foundation will begin receiving nominations for the prizes Sept. 1. The selections will terminate Feb. 28, 1938.

The Radio Awards Script Committee comprises: Alfred J. McCosker, president of WOR; Brock Pemberton, representing the theatre; Ben Gross of the New York News, representing radio critics; William Burnham; advertising manager Bigelow-Sanford Carpet Co., representing sponsors; Tony Sanford of J. Walter Thompson, representing agencies; Selena Royle, representing stage players; Carl Reed, representing stage playwrights; Dr. O. H. Caldwell, representing technicians, and Paul S. Ellison of the Hygrade Sylvania Corp., representing the radio industry. Joseph M. Koehler, Georgia Bachus and Lloyd Jacquet will judge for the Foundation.

"Guiding Light" Adds Six

CHICAGO, June 21.—"Guiding Light," authored by Irna Phillips, will add six new stations on June 28, bringing its total network to 55. The six new stations are WOOD, Grand Rapids; KTAR, Phoenix; KDIR, Butte; KGHL, Billings; KDBX, Springfield, Missouri; KDNC, Amarillo. There is no change in time.

June Babies Arrive

San Francisco, June 21.—Not June brides, but June parents, are the order of the month in San Francisco radio circles, with the Stork making four trips in 30 days, two to NBC, two to KYA.

Recipients of the traditional small bundles of charm are: Arthur and Mrs. Schwarzman KPO pianist and harpist; David Vaile, KYA studio supervisor; Carl Kalisch, NBC violinist, and Gordon Owen, KYA's sports broadcaster.

All were boys except Schwarzman's daughter, who was christened Sandra.

The Bard—Under Difficulties

Static which crackled and thundered in radio receivers throughout the metropolitan area last night made listening an ordeal and well nigh ruined reception of the first of NBC's Shakespearean cycle, "Hamlet," featuring John Barrymore as the melancholy Dane.

As a consequence of the atmospheric conditions which distorted the dialogue so as to make it almost unintelligible, and in justice to NBC which has much at stake in this series, we defer our review of the Shakespearean productions until next week.

"Universal Rhythm"

Sunday on CBS, from 9 to 10 P. M., E.D.S.T., the program known as "Universal Rhythm," heard before on CBS as a half-hour feature, took the place of the "Sunday Evening Hour," institutional Ford program of classical music, which has vacated for the summer season.

The expanded "Universal Rhythm" program, with Frank Crumit, as "em cee," added to the cast, provides a pleasant hour of light orchestral music and vocals, performed and sung by Rex Chandler's orchestra, Alex Templeton, pianist, and Richard Bonelli and Carolyn Urbaneck.

Orchestral selections included "Swing High, Swing Low," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Soldiers on Parade," "September in the Rain" and other light pieces. Bonelli's contributions were "Gypsy John" and "My Little Buckaroo," while Miss Urbaneck's solo was "Smilin' Thru." Duets and choral numbers, plus several piano selections by Templeton effectively clinched the right of "Universal Rhythm" to being rated as one of the most pleasant of the summer programs.

"Hi There, Audience"

Evaluating the new WOR feature, "Hi There, Audience" via the schoolroom method, we grade it 50 per cent for music, 30 per cent for song, and 20 per cent for comedy.

And speaking of schools, we'd like to suggest the formation of a school for radio comedians. In this fanciful institution all comedy aspirants would be compelled to enroll for a course before being permitted to don the cap and bells on an individual program. As a starter, the faculty should comprise Professors Fred Allen, Jack Benny and W. C. Fields. Long suffering listeners would happily endow such an institution, we're positive . . .

We expected great things of Ray Perkins, mainstay of the new production. In the past Ray has supplied many mirthful moments on the air, but his comedy Sunday night was pretty awful. And in this instance, one can't blame the scriptwriter for the debacle, because Perkins writes his own material. Invariably, his material in the past has been excellent. The only explanation we have for his poor effort Sunday is that it was simply one of his off nights, and we look forward to a much improved showing next week.

The musical lineup included Nat Brusiloff's orchestra, Sid Gary, Barbara La Marr and Willard Amison. They performed satisfactorily.

"Hi, There Audience" is offered Sundays from 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T. It is a sustainer.

BANNER

CBS Lines Up Big Names For Shakespearean Series

CBS yesterday made public the names of the first 14 of the more than 25 stage, screen and radio players who have been signed for that network's cycle of eight Shakespearean plays, which will be broadcast each Monday beginning July 12, from 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T. The engagements are as follows:

Leslie Howard to play the role of "Benedick" in "Much Ado About Nothing," Burgess Meredith to play the title role of "Hamlet," Edward G. Robinson to play "Petruchio" in "Taming of the Shrew," Walter Huston to play the title role in "Henry IV," Sir Cedric Hardwicke to play "Malvolio" in "Twelfth Night," Tallulah Bankhead to play "Viola" in "Twelfth Night," Walter Abel as "Horatio" in "Hamlet," Montagu Love as the "King" and Grace George as the "Queen" in "Hamlet," Orson Welles as "Duke" in "Twelfth Night," William A. Brady as the "Ghost" in "Hamlet," Brian Aherne as "Prince Hal" and Walter Connolly as "Falstaff," both in "Henry IV," and Estelle Winwood as "Maria" in "Twelfth Night."

Talent Being Lined Up

W. B. Lewis, CBS vice-president in charge of programs, is now in Hollywood completing the casting of talent.

The cast thus far signed is far more elaborate than was originally expected, and the inside story has it that the signatoring of the foregoing artists is due to the CBS "burn-up" as a consequence of NBC's scheduling a Shakespearean series in the wake of the CBS announcement. The understanding in radio circles is that William S. Paley's dander has been aroused to such an extent that he's instructed his vice-presidents to sign up the biggest names in show business, no matter what the expense.

Apparently his orders have been obeyed, for most of the artists named above are each in the $1,500 to $3,000 per performance class.

A. C. Love to Hollywood

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Andrew C. Love, NBC's continuity acceptance head here, will be transferred to Hollywood effective July 1, where he will head the new continuity department. The move is necessitated by the increase in program production at NBC's Hollywood studios.

Byron Mills, a member of the local continuity acceptance staff, will move into Love's post here. Additionally, Lee Strahorn, formerly with Lord & Thomas, has joined the NBC publicity staff here.

Blumenschein Joins Agency

Denies KROW Sale

Oakland, June 21.—KROW is not for sale, and will not affiliate with any of the Hollywood stations on a network, H. P. Drey, general manager, asserts.

Drey's statement that present station policy will continue was in denial of persistent rumors that some type of network affiliation was in prospect.

Canada to Open New Unit Near Montreal

MONTREAL, June 21.—Plans for the opening of a 50-kilowatt transmitter of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. at Vercheres, Quebec, have been made known by H. Rooney Pelletier, program director of CRCM.

The opening of the new transmitter scheduled for this fall, was discussed along with other governmental radio expansion plans at a recent convention in Ottawa.

Pelletier said the station will be used for experimentation with ideas, programs and artists this summer.

CBS are considering such a project. Should the move be approved and go into effect, it would simply mean that WAPI would be the CBS outlet and WBRC the NBC outlet. At present, WBRC gets CBS programs while WAPI pipes NBC offerings.

It is conceivable too, that the move, if it is consummated, would result in WAPI getting a full-time wave length. At present the station operates on a part-time schedule; sharing its evening time with KVOO at Tulsa, Okla.

Tidewater Renews at WFIL

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—The Tidewater Associated Oil Co. of New York, continues as WFIL's largest national time buyer, by renewing a 52-week news contract through Lennen & Mitchell agency. The deal, like a similar one just completed, calls for three five-minute and one 15-minute news program daily, six times per week for the year. Staff announcer Gene Morgan will continue as the "Tydol Reporter" for the news commentations.

M. H. Boyd Is Promoted

Maurice M. Boyd, of the national spot sales division of NBC's eastern sales department, has been appointed head of the division, effective July 1. He succeeds F. E. Spencer, Jr., who has resigned.

Weed & Co. Expands Office

Don Lee Web Concentrating In Hollywood

Following the current trend of radio to Hollywood, it has been confirmed here that the Don Lee Broadcasting System, an important link in the Mutual network, will concentrate all future Pacific Coast production of the network in Hollywood and Los Angeles.

In a wire to the Mutual offices here, Lewis Allen Weiss, general manager of Don Lee, stated that in line with the general production expansion of the combined Don Lee and Mutual networks scheduled for the fall, he was currently negotiating for new headquarters in Hollywood for the combined webs, with KHJ as western key station of the chains.

First Switches Set

First Pacific Coast programs to be switched to KHJ, Los Angeles, for origination, are "Feminine Fancies" and "Morning Merrymakers," which have been heard from KFRC, San Francisco, for some time. Mel Venter, Bob Bence and Bill Davidson, central personnel of the programs, will move south with the shows, to start broadcasting over the chain from Los Angeles June 28.

Weiss, now in Chicago attending the N.A.B. convention, leaves for the east this week for conferences with Mutual network officials and advertising agencies to work out the lineup of new fall shows which are slated for Hollywood origination over the Mutual-Don Lee system.

It is understood that several of the chain's more important commercial programs, currently being broadcast from New York, will be moved to the coast as soon as quarters can be obtained in Hollywood.

Anderson Joins N. Y. System

G. William Anderson, until recently with the Herald-Tribune, has joined the sales staff of the New York State Broadcasting System. Burt Squire is general manager of the network.

Prior to his association with the Herald-Tribune, Anderson was with the Hearst International Magazines, and was advertising manager of several trade publications.

Actors Guild May Organize Radio Talent

The organizing of radio talent in Hollywood may be carried on under the direction of the Screen Actors' Guild for Actors' Equity Ass'n, it was indicated here yesterday.

Kenneth Thomson, secretary of the guild, will attend a meeting of the Equity council today at which plans may be set for the radio talent organizing drive on the west coast. The guild, an Equity affiliate, already has promised to cooperate in Hollywood, where a large part of the talent engaged in radio are guild members. Indications are that any film player appearing on the air will have to become a member either of Equity or its radio affiliate, in the event a separate organization is set up for radio talent.

Thomson, who came here from the coast last week to open a guild office in New York, plans to leave for Hollywood tomorrow. The guild will sign contracts with eastern producers between now and Aug. 1, when the guild shop goes into effect in eastern studios.

Realism Draws Police

Oklahoma City, June 21.—"There's shooting going on at the Hightower Bldg.," shrieked a voice over the telephone.

"All right, we'll investigate," came a calm voice from the Oklahoma City police station. Three patrol cars were dispatched to the building. After searching for the "Killer," here's what they learned:

That a certain city merchant had $10,000 worth of firecrackers stocked for the next three years, which the City Council had banned after this year. So he prepared to put on a sale, which was advertised over KFXR, in the Hightower Bldg.

As an overture to the broadcast, several firecrackers were shot off before the microphone by Announcer Harold Sparks.

"Maybe the boys shot off one or two in the building," said Bob Elliston, station commercial manager. "Anyway, the next thing we knew the building was under martial law."

Educational Pictures will conduct a survey of the 16 mm. field this summer to determine the possibilities of the market and to assist the company in deciding whether or not to enter 16 mm. film production, E. W. Hammons, Educational president, said yesterday.

Hammons pointed out that practically all of the catalogued subjects available for 16 mm. projectors are at least two and one-half years old and that the absence of a fresh supply of subjects is felt to be a retarding influence in the marketing of 16 mm. equipment. The company's survey, he said, in addition to determining the number of projectors of this type actually in use, will also attempt to ascertain the extent to which the market

Steel Riot Film Pops Up In London; Para. Amazed

England is seeing the Paramount News shots of the Republic Steel riots at Chicago the Sunday before Memorial Day and this country isn't. You could have fanned a lot of Paramount executives over with a humming bird's feather when they heard about it yesterday afternoon.

On his way west to the Paramount convention A. J. Richard, editor of the reel, said he thought he was doing a public service by not permitting the reel to be shown. It might cause more riots.

Senator La Follette's Civil Liberties Committee investigating labor troubles asked that the film be shown. Somehow or other a St. Louis Post-Dispatch reporter got into the screening and wrote two columns about it. The article was reprinted widely in this country.

Yesterday cables came through

CEA Quality Clause Fight To Be Pressed

Council Votes to Force Demand on Quota

By BRUCE ALLAN

HARROGATE, England, June 22.—present general council of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n, after a four-hour discussion today at the annual summer conference here, passed resolutions "that this general council confirms its previous decision to press for a quality clause."

The resolutions were passed by a vote of 53 to 20, and referred to the demand of the C.E.A. that the proposed new Films Act include a provision for the determination of quota films on a quality basis.

The council appointed a new committee of 11 members and the presiment and vice-president of the C.E.A. in place of the Moyne negotiating committee. The decision amounts to a dismissal of the old Moyne committee and endorsement of the stand of C. P. Metcalfe, president, and Ken Nyman, vice-president.

The committee includes: J. Prendergast, E. Trounson, J. Alexander, Major C. H. Bell, Richard Dooner, Sydney K. Lewis, E. J. Hinge, T. H. Hartley, F. G W. Chamberlain, J. McCullie and H. P. E. Mears. Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

JUST like the plots out of Hollywood and, in many ways more dramatic than most, came Joe Schenck's deal for a fifty per cent interest in the Robb and Rowley chain. On behalf of the United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., of which he is the dominant factor, Schenck has embarked upon this expansion in a field not identified with his post as chairman of the board of Twentieth Century-Fox. And before there need arise any confusion, it is well to set down early that the company which made the investment in this important Southwestern circuit, has no connection, near or far, with the United Artists Distributing Corporation. . .

What is the why behind the deal? After some digging around, your researcher ran into the circumstances and gives them to you with something beyond mere reasonable assurance that they represent only hearsay:

Firstly, you're apt to be in difficulties if you seek to stifle a man's ambition. Schenck is ambitious and always has been. It is our understanding he looks upon Texas as pretty much of an empire of its own, sees no particular reason why Karl Hoblitzelle and Bob O'Donnell, which is to say Paramount, should be the sole large factor in that territory. Having reached such a conclusion, he planned to act. The Robb and Rowley deal, it can be said now, is not to be likened to a complete bolt out of the blue. It has been under discussion for about six months. . . .

On or about the time the word was bruited about that Schenck was looking it over with much assurance a deal eventually would be struck, Paramount did not lag far behind. It expressed its displeasure and, as we piece the inside together, it went further by hinting darkly at reprisals against Twentieth Century-Fox in its richest theatre territory, the Pacific seaboard where Fox West Coast is king, emperor and, many insist, dictator all in the one swoop. Sidney Kent and Sypros Skouras reputedly pointed at long length the difficulties which might trail any deal Schenck might make with Robb and Rowley. How their point of view was disposed of is effectively indicated by the fact that the purchase ultimately was made. . . .

Thereby the United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., took a decided step forward in the neighborhood of the other national chains. It has its scattered theatres in some of the "A" towns. It is in Los Angeles and in Pasadena and it controls what was formerly known as the Fox Metropolitan Playhouses here in little old New York. The investment has its curious angle, also, in the fact that, while Robb and Rowley continue management, Schenck as half owner will, or ought to, have something to say about any deals R. & R. might make for Twentieth Century-Fox product. Schenck, in a word, thereby is a seller and a buyer of his own output in this one direction anyway.

Will he go further? Years ago, we learned the dangers inherent in the crystal ball and, thus and generally speaking, laid off. However, and provided you don't hold us to it, we feel informed sufficiently in this one instance, at least, to urge that you experience no special surprise if you find the United Artists circuit stepping elsewhere in due course. Not in the form of new theatres; there is little purpose these days of building them. But it could easily, and it probably will, take shape in an acquired interest, if not to say a control, in existing circuits. Thus, on the one side, you find Schenck a heavily interested exhibitor by virtue of National Theatres, Twentieth Century-Fox's exhibition arm and a stalwart one. On the other, you see a sort of a paralleling activity growing apace through the U.A. circuit. Will he put the one into his major interest which, in terms of outlets, is National Theatres? You might view yourself as having been in the know if one of these minutes, weeks, months and, perhaps as far off as years, he does.

The pleasant and rotund Douglas W. Churchill, covering Hollywood for The New York Times:

> A radically altered "Stage Door" is being photographed at RKO. . . . It is probable that playwrights Edna Ferber and George J. Kaufman will be vexed by some of the changes. Director Gregory La Cava has tossed out all the original with the exception of the framework, but La Cava and the studio believe that the film will present a more faithful conception of the children who stem from everywhere and who converge with their hopes, deceits and tragedies in the parlor of Mrs. Orcutt's boarding house. . . . La Cava believes that much of the reasoning of Authors Ferber and Kaufman is specious and that they failed to create a document that accurately presents the problems and psychology of the dozen or so girls with whom the play deals. He turned several stenographers loose on the town with pencils and books and they rode in buses, sat in studio reception rooms, talked to extras on sets. . . . La Cava says that the result is far richer, far more dramatic than the dialogue of the play.

Question: Why, then did Radio buy the play for something like $150,000? . . .

Warners were after "Room Service." Radio topped the offer and made the killing for $255,000. Reported conversation between Mervyn LeRoy and Sam Briskin:

Mervyn: "Sam, you're ruining the business, spending that kind of money for a play."

Sam: "What did Warners offer?"

LeRoy: "$250,000." . . .

Max Gordon, stage producer and film producer-to-be, has been doing very well by himself with "The Women." His profit has been hitting regularly in the five figure division each week.

Hand-waving by Gordon prior to his departure for Europe:

"Sure, I'm making money, but I'm making it in the wrong era."

Only God, they say, makes trees.
Can he make lovelier names than these:

Darryl Zanuck, Hermes Pan,
Van Nest Polglase? Lowly man
Offers thus on silver screen
Names whose bearers rest unseen.
Jasper Blystone, one Field Gray,
Pandro Berman. Stay, oh stay!
Let me know what form or nature
Dwells behind such nomenclature.
Let me see your features clear,
Who rings so finely on the ear.

Field Gray, say that you'll be mine.

Ask Fight on Ascap In Kansas-Missouri

Topeka, June 22.—That exhibitors secure cooperation of the parent teacher associations in eliminating the Ascap music tax and then establish local scholarships with the amount thus saved to be administered by P.T.A. groups was suggested by John Stapel, president, to members of the Kansas-Missouri Theatre Ass'n in convention here today. Stapel believes that the M.P.T.O. and Allied have failed in their efforts to free exhibitors of the tax and that exhibitors should arouse public opposition to it on their own screens. Scholarships paid for by money saved from the tax would secure everlasting good-will of communities for exhibitors, theatres and motion pictures alike, thinks Stapel.

Membership Drive to Start

While the idea was accepted enthusiastically by the delegates, definite action is not likely until the association's aggressive campaign to strengthen itself with new members and increased dues begins to function in the next 60 days. A series of local committees throughout the area have been appointed by the directors to sell exhibitors the need of a strong association, particularly in view of the present labor situation. Such problems as double bills, exhibitor support for the bill in the next Kansas legislature session taxing Bank Night winnings 15 per cent and thus making the promotion legal in Kansas where the Supreme Court last year banned it as lottery and use of vaudeville to replace chance games, premiums and doubles were discussed but action was postponed by the association until the drive has developed new strength.

Exhibitors, including Ed Haas, Fox midwest district manager; San Sosna, Manhattan, Kansas, and Homer Strowig, Abilene, Kansas, disclosed that straight picture programs consistently make more money than when combined with vaudeville. Vaudeville suffers too much by comparison with good talking films, said Haas.

Italy Decree Has No Effect on Hays Deal

Hays, president of the M. P. P. D. A., and Premier Mussolini.

Associated Press and United Press dispatches published yesterday interpreted the decree as invalidating the Hays-Mussolini agreement, which provided for the number of American films to be imported into Italy and the amount of money which American firms could export from Italy. It was pointed out here, however, that the principal features of the decree of yesterday as published made no mention of the salient features of the Hays-Mussolini agreement, but merely detailed the important terms of the dubbing tax increase and quota as decided some weeks ago and made known at the time.

The Italian Government yesterday banned two more American films, "Crack-Up" and a "Charlie Chan."

Dwight Is Cited By Congress Committee

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Richard E. Dwight, legal associate of 20th Century-Fox and former member of the law firm of Hughes, Schurman & Dwight, was named today at a Senate-House committee hearing as one of a group who sought to reduce income tax payments between 1932 and 1936 by taking out large insurance policies with a Bahamas company.

Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., son of the Chief Justice of the U. S., was a member of Dwight's law firm. On June 10 the firm was dissolved, with Dwight and several of his associates forming the new firm of Dwight, Harris, Koegel and Caskey. The dissolution of the firm was attributed at the hearing to Dwight's differences with the Treasury Dep't. over the transactions cited. A Treasury attorney told the committee that by taking out a $4,000,000 policy with the Bahamas company, paying a single premium, then borrowing on the policy and deducting the interest payment from his income tax return, Dwight was enabled to reduce his 1932 income tax payment by $53,448. He said that for the period from 1932-35, the Internal Revenue Bureau decided that Dwight owed $230,399 in taxes.

he said. With M. H. Hoffman he will leave for the coast today with plans for resuming production on two new pictures in about 10 days. Failure of the S. E. C. to approve Condor's application, filed April 2, brought about a suspension of production activities last week, due to an S. E. C. stop-order which, Hirliman said, obstructed both public and private financing during the period in which the S. E. C. took no action on the application.

Union in K. C. Asks Theatre Agreement

KANSAS CITY, June 22.—Substantial increases in wages and decreases in hours, a closed shop and continuation of vacations with pay, are asked in a proposed agreement submitted to Kansas City theatres by the recently formed Theatre Employes' Local 24. The agreement, signed by Felix B. Snow, representative of the I.A.T.S.E. with which the new union is affiliated, went to first runs and to subsequent runs that employ any labor.

The schedule asked for first run employes is: cashiers, $25 a week; front doorman, $23.50; chief of staff, $27.50; assistant chief of staff, $24; ushers and usherettes, $20; back doorman, $20; superintendent of cleaners and porters, $28; assistant superintendent, $22, and porters, cleaners and maids, $20. The same schedule was asked from subsequent runs, except for cashiers, ushers and doormen, for whom the union wants 50 cents an hour. Calling for time and a half for overtime, the agreement provides for a decrease in hours from five to 15 hours per week from existing hours.

which was endorsed, was in opposition to the majority committee's wish that the quality clause be abandoned, and that negotiations be reopened with the Kinematograph Renters' Society (distributors) on the basis of acceptance of the cost clause as incorporated in the initial draft of the proposed new Films Act prepared by the Board of Trade.

In a full discussion of the situation, Metcalfe was outspoken, declaring that many members of the old committee had not assisted him. He complained of the divided policy in the association and urged that the organization present a definite and declared policy.

Recommends "New Start"

"It is better to make a new start with people who will force your policy," he declared. He further complained of leakage, permitting committee proceedings to be made known to the opposition, and said that many members of the committee were "half sold on the other side before they started." He reiterated the fundamental objection to the cost clause because of the product problem which is involved and declared that the reciprocity idea as recently proposed is not practicable. He said, however, that the C.E.A. would be sympathetic to a workable scheme.

He emphasized that the C.E.A. should not negotiate only with the foreign faction of the K.R.S., but also with the British distributors and the Film Group of F.B.I. If negotiations are carried on with only one section, it should be with the British section, he said.

In general Metcalfe urged maintenance of the present policy against the Board of Trade, if necessary carrying the fight against the cost clause into the House of Commons.

Fligelstone, Gale, F. W. Morrison, Alex King and Ralph S. Bromhead of the old committee argued for a joint policy with the K.R.S. on the ground of the definite rejection of the quality clause by the Board of Trade, but other speakers urged the absolute necessity of maintaining the supply of minor American films, which the cost clause would kill.

See Independents Endangered

Jack Alexander, declaring that the independent exhibitor is fighting for his life and would be extinct in three years under the cost clause, attacked the Board of Trade's "four or five officials anxious that their long weekend shall not be disturbed by the quality clause." Other speeches were in similar vein, urging a combination of independent producers and distributors refusing to accept the declaration of Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, as final.

It is expected the C.E.A. will tie up with another group declared to represent 1,000 principals and employes who held a meeting in London yesterday expressing dissent from the Government's proposal. A joint protest to the Government and possible public agitation by independent producers, distributors, technicians and others is foreseen, with organized Parliamentary opposition.

The council voted thanks to Ed Kuykendall, president of the M.P.T.O.A. in the United States, for information concerning American rentals. Approximately 700 attended the garden party this afternoon. The banquet tonight also was well attended.

from London that the reel was being shown there and London papers were commenting upon it with some excitement.

Paramount denied early in the day that the reel belonged to it. Cables were exchanged with the London office and word came back that it was really the Paramount film. An investigation was started.

It developed that a skeleton holiday crew was on duty at the home office when the negative arrived. The man in charge of the foreign shipments was called out of town by the illness of his father. A substitute made a condensed version of the Chicago scenes and included it in the foreign shipment as a matter of routine.

Yesterday London was startled. Paramount was, too, but Paramount still says the reel will not be shown in America.

Rockefeller Claim Is Hit at Hearing

per cent for the new debentures was still regarded as too high, but that he had been compelled to "take it or leave it." Special Master Alger responded that he was under no such compulsion and indicated that he would give the interest rate considerable study before approving it.

Israels asked approval of the Rockefeller settlement because of the acceptance by the claimants of common stock, which would place other unsecured creditors in a more favorable position. He insisted that if the Rockefeller claim were to be litigated, Rockefeller interests might refuse to accept a junior position with the result that the plan would require complete revision. Under the settlement, RKO would also benefit by the acquisition of a first-run house, according to Israels. He indicated that general creditors expect to wait four or five months before getting the money, even if the plan is approved and urged that disapproval of the settlement might harm the creditors. Chief advantage of the plan would be the ability of creditors to sell their securities on the open market and obtain their money quickly, Israels said.

Calls '31 Conversion Illegal

John Stover, representing Ernest Stirn, a Class A stockholder, charged that conversion of Class A into common stock in 1931 was illegal because a quorum of directors was lacking when the conversion was ordered. He also contended that provisions of the plan would be illegal under the laws of Maryland where the company was incorporated. Stover stated that misrepresentations of fact had been made to Special Master Thomas D. Thatcher by the Rockefeller interests when the claim was being tried.

Pfeiffer denied the charges of misrepresentation, but Special Master Alger refused to consider the issue. Alger asked whether the provision for liquidated damages under the lease for the Music Hall and Center theatres did not provide for more money to Rockefeller Center than if the leases had been unbroken. Pfeiffer argued that the landlord was entitled to the entire cost of construction and equipment because of the breach of the lease by RKO.

Abraham K. Weber, representing common stockholders, said that the Atlas Corp., proponents of the plan, have failed to establish their case. He said that the last re-valuation of the assets took place in 1932, and that the law requires a more recent valuation, not one based on earning power alone.

Richard C. Hunt, representing $1,118,500 of extended notes and $170,000 of debentures, challenged the assertion by Joseph M. Cohen, attorney for common stockholders, that the common had been reduced to one-fourth its value in 1932, and was now being reduced to one-eighth. Hunt stated that only one-fifth of the present outstanding common was issued in 1932. He said that the plan was fair to stockholders and that bondholders were being asked to sacrifice one-half per cent in interest, extend the maturity of the notes, and accept stock for their past-due interest.

Fabian Representative Present

Si Fabian, who leased the Plaza in Schenectady and the Palace in Albany to RKO Proctor, was represented by Frank Reavis. Reavis asked that some provision be made for landlords who hold guarantees by RKO on leases which have not defaulted. He requested either a guarantee by the new company or cash security for three years' rental. It was pointed out by O. C. Doering, attorney for Irving Trust Company, RKO trustee, that three similar cases are now pending in the Circuit Court of Appeals and that decisions clarifying the rights of landlords holding guarantees on undefaulted leases was expected in a few weeks.

Special Master Alger expressed great satisfaction with the management of the debtor by Irving Trust, saying that he had never seen "anything quite so marvelous as the jump in RKO earnings in the last three years."

Argument will continue at Alger's office this afternoon. June 28 has been set as the last day of argument. A formal hearing before Federal Judge William Bondy was adjourned to July 20.

to the principle that there should be a ratio between the available film output and the number of theatres in the country. Also reaffirmed is the association's desire for official arbitration in trade disputes.

It is generally believed that the Board of Trade takes the view that provisions covering overbuilding and trade arbitration would be out of place in any new Films Act.

CBS Accused Of Anti-Union Actions Here

Charges of anti-union activity have been filed against CBS by the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n, C.I.O. member, with the National Labor Relations Board, it was made known yesterday by Mrs. Eleanore M. Herrick, who is regional director of the board.

Mrs. Herrick said yesterday that the A.R.T.A. had filed a complaint against CBS, charging discrimination against its members and accusing the company of attempting to intimidate some of the CBS engineers. The complaint was signed by Mervyn Rathborne, president of the A.R.T.A.

The anti-union charges against CBS are an aftermath of the network engineers' action of last week in dissolving the company union, the Columbia Broadcast Technicians, to join the A.R.T.A.

Grossman Criticised

Singled out in the A.R.T.A, complaint is Henry Grossman, chief engineer of the eastern division of CBS. According to Rathborne, Grossman allegedly threatened the members of the CBS engineering staff with loss of vacations and sick leave, and loss of other privileges the men now enjoy, unless they left the CIO affiliate.

Grossman was out of the city yesterday covering the Poughkeepsie Regatta for the network, and therefore was not available for comment.

In his petition to Mrs. Herrick yesterday Rathborne also asked for a referendum for collective bargaining, and claimed that 70 of the 82 eligible employes in Columbia's New York office are members of the CIO affiliate.

Not known at the moment is the situation prevailing at the remaining seven CBS owned and operated stations, whose technicians were reported as having followed the WABC chapter's action in dissolving the company union to join the A.R.T.A. The stations are: WJSV, Washington; WBT, Charlotte; WKRC, Cincinnati; KNOX, St. Louis; WBBM, Chicago; WCCO, St. Paul-Minneapolis, and KNX, Los Angeles.

casting as an industry. What is helpful for one person is helpful for all. The plans we have outlined for the coming year will be carried out to the best of our ability. The problems confronting us are important to all broadcasters."

Asked regarding reports that the N.A.B. would split into two groups consisting of networks and independents, Elmer said he thought this very unlikely, as the problems before the organization are too important to involve a split at this time, as all must work together to protect their interests, whether they be chain or independent.

Elmer was a Baltimore publisher and advertising agency man before becoming president of WCBM, Baltimore, in 1931.

Following the election the Resolutions Committee thanked individuals and committees for their help in staging the convention. Resolutions approved included encouragement of prosecution of a Federal suit against Ascap; an expression that the NAB should urge the passage of the Duffy Copyright Bill; that the NAB reiterate its position as favoring issuance of radio station licenses for a term of at least three years; that it approves action by the board of directors favoring the organization of an NAB Bureau of Copyrights, Inc., and the transferring of the property and activities of the old bureau to the new organization.

Ask Publicity

Another resolution approved favors publicizing the art of radio. This matter was left to the board of directors for action.

Plans for a National Radio Week were strongly opposed and a resolution on this subject was killed.

The NAB resolved to fight the Celler Bill providing for a Federal broadcasting station. It was also resolved to pick one member from each state to fight for copyright legislation. A resolution was passed favoring the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of Helen Keller and the late Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy during the coming year.

Edward A. Allen, president of the Independent Broadcasters' Ass'n, said late today that the group would hold an election tonight and planned to hold together for protective purposes. He said no dues would be charged as none was needed.

A proposal to raise NAB dues 50 per cent was dropped.

Ed Petry took the floor at the morning session and assailed the tendency of some members to fight Ascap on the front pages.

It was voted that the outgoing president should automatically become a member of the board of directors for three years.

Fred Hart's resolution for reorganizing the association will come up for discussion tomorrow. The resolution is to add state, regional and national units to the NAB. The Resolutions Committee advises that it be considered by a special committee and a report made on the feasibility of the plan and submitted to the board of directors.

A Dummy From Spain

In the midst of Spain's civil war, a citizen of Barcelona took time off to pen a letter to NBC designed to prove that Charley McCarthy is not the first ventriloquist's dummy to appear on the air. The correspondent's letter referred to one Josep Torres Vilata Toreski, now deceased, and with the missive was enclosed a photograph of Toreski and his dummy. The letter, with original spelling:

"Toreski consacred his youthfulness to the theatre, and traveled around the world. After September, 1934, took place his entrance in the Broadcasting House Radio Barcelona. He died in May, 1937. Toreski's popularity as speaker has passed, also, over the frontiers, because he invented a new radiophonic modality, creating an imaginary personage with whom maintained many and clevery dialogues. The imaginary personage was a turbulent boy of eight years of age 'Miliu' (the dummy).

"The death of Toreski is very regreted."

Coast Church Asks Broadcast License

The commission also received an amended application from George B. Storer, Pontiac, Mich., for a new station to operate on 800 kilocycles with 1,000 watts power, daytime only. His original application sought the use of the 680-kilocycle frequency.

Increase in day power from 500 to 1,000 watts was asked of the commission by WAAB, Boston, and an increase from 1,000 to 5,000 watts was asked by WILL, Urbana, Ill.

Equity Meeting Is Set on Air Talent

A special meeting of the council of Actors Equity Ass'n will be held next Tuesday to consider further the organization's plans for organizing radio talent on both coasts, it was learned yesterday.

The subject was discussed at a regular meeting of the council yesterday at which the cooperation of the Screen Actors Guild in Equity's organizing campaign among film personalities who appear on the radio was assured by Kenneth Thomson, secretary of the Guild. Indications are that under the cooperative arrangement, any member of the Guild appearing on the radio will be obliged to become a member of Equity and continue in good standing in that organization. Thomson plans to leave for the coast on Friday.

All theatrical unions will meet at Equity headquarters today to hear a report from a union delegation which met yesterday with Harry Hopkins, W.P.A. Administrator, on the current lay-offs in connection with the reduction of Federal theatre projects.

Dots and Dashes from NAB

By WILLIAM F. CROUCH

NAB Convention Headquarters, Chicago, June 22.—Forgotten tonight were convention details, everyone's mind was on the Louis-Braddock fight at Comiskey Park. Practically everyone was there for the affair.

Lester Gottlieb, of MBS, spent three weeks planning the "Crack o' Dawn" breakfast for Monday and when the time came for it he got so excited he didn't even eat anything. Until an hour later—when he remembered.

Jerry King, president of Standard Radio, out from Hollywood, spent Monday afternoon golfing. His associates signed up the business that came around and considerable did show up. As a result King was very much pleased.

This afternoon found many of the lads at the Washington Park racetrack. The main event was the NAB Handicap.

"Miss Lollipop," was the hit of the show. For two reasons. Those in opera length hose. "Miss Lollipop" is better known as Francyne Semmons.

John Van Cronkhite of Van Cronkhite Associates was very much on hand and got to meet a lot of chaps that it would take days of traveling to reach otherwise. Van is all for this convention idea when it comes to doing business.

CBS and NBC delegates suffered from hayfever when MBS passed carnations around. At least, that's the reason they gave for not taking any.

Will Whitmore of Graybar in New York, after starting off with a bad cold, rallied fast today and was in fine fettle for the finishing days.

Gene O'Fallon of KFL, down from Denver and the high altitude found Chicago's lake breezes plenty warm.

Jack Todd, KANS program director at Wichita, was a booster for Herbert Hollister, also of KANS, for an NAB director job.

Harriett De Busman of Hollywood—via Kansas City—spent the first days of the session visiting WHB pals.

Speaking of WHB, Don D. Davis and his cohorts did plenty of entertaining in the Airport Room with the Three Deuces trio dispensing plenty of hot-cha-cha with every round of —you know what.

John Schilling, and we're still talking about WHB, was up bright and early for the MBS breakfast. He claims he did get to bed before the affair but others claim he didn't—quite.

Johnny Johnstone of WOR, was sadly missed. Too much business at home kept him away.

Jap Gude and Frank Rand who keep CBS to the fore were much in evidence. Rand met Rubinoff and his violin at the airport Monday noon and took them to the Sherman for a press luncheon.

Karl Haymond took top honors on Sunday in the golf tourney, but, having won once before, was ineligible for the trophies which were given to Harry Butcher of CBS and E. C. Pulliam, Jr., of WIRE who tied for first place.

A broadcast over CBS for Wednesday night has been planned by James Patt, local CBS director of special events. The new president will be introduced to the radio audience at that time.

A combination tea and style show was held Tuesday in the English Room at Marshall Field's for the women attending the NAB meeting. Mrs. Bertha Curran of the local NBC office was in charge.

Al Stine of WHB, Kansas City, was on hand with a lot of swell gags, but didn't tell any of them. Says he's saving them for a new show he's writing.

A big hit at the convention was the promotion show. The exhibits were in charge of Howard Peterson of WOW, Omaha, who did a swell job in presenting them to the visitors.

Fred J. Hart of KGMB in Honolulu and KHBC at Hilo, Hawaii, was propably the popular delegate. He brought along a number of Hawaiian leis which he gave to friends.

Edward A. Allen, WLVA, Lynchburg, was much in evidence conferring with other independent broadcasters.

Violet S. Evers of KMOX, St. Louis, was one of the lovely feminine delegates attending. She is the publicity counsel at her station.

London Sees Improvements In Television

London, June 14.—Lord Selsdon has opened at the Science Museum, South Kensington, an exhibition of television, organized in conjunction with the British Broadcasting Corp., which provided an interesting historic review of the development of the science and a demonstration of the results obtainable by the most modern sets.

The display of apparatus covered the very earliest experiments in television, which are also described in detail in the brochure of the exhibition. The actual screen displays were provided by transmissions from one room of the Museum to another and all standard receivers were demonstrated and gave practically perfect and flickerless pictures.

The only large picture demonstration was by Scophony, Ltd., which transmitted from their laboratory two miles away. The five foot by four foot picture was noticeably less clear than in the case of the standard "home" receivers, and flicker was definitely a drawback.

Educational Pictures will conduct a survey of the 16 mm. field this summer to determine the possibilities of the market and to assist the company in deciding whether or not to enter 16 mm. film production, E. W. Hammons, Educational president, said yesterday.

Hammons pointed out that practically all of the catalogued subjects available for 16 mm. projectors are at least two and one-half years old and that the absence of a fresh supply of subjects is felt to be a retarding influence in the marketing of 16 mm. equipment. The company's survey, he said, in addition to determining the number of projectors of this type actually in use, will also attempt to ascertain the extent to which the market

England is seeing the Paramount News shots of the Republic Steel riots at Chicago the Sunday before Memorial Day and this country isn't. You could have fanned a lot of Paramount executives over with a humming bird's feather when they heard about it yesterday afternoon.

On his way west to the Paramount convention A. J. Richard, editor of the reel, said he thought he was doing a public service by not permitting the reel to be shown. It might cause more riots.

Senator La Follette's Civil Liberties Committee investigating labor troubles asked that the film be shown. Somehow or other a St. Louis Post-Dispatch reporter got into the screening and wrote two columns about it. The article was reprinted widely in this country.

Yesterday cables came through

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

JUST like the plots out of Hollywood and, in many ways more dramatic than most, came Joe Schenck's deal for a fifty per cent interest in the Robb and Rowley chain. On behalf of the United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., of which he is the dominant factor, Schenck has embarked upon this expansion in a field not identified with his post as chairman of the board of Twentieth Century-Fox. And before there need arise any confusion, it is well to set down early that the company which made the investment in this important Southwestern circuit, has no connection, near or far, with the United Artists Distributing Corporation. . .

What is the why behind the deal? After some digging around, your researcher ran into the circumstances and gives them to you with something beyond mere reasonable assurance that they represent only hearsay:

Firstly, you're apt to be in difficulties if you seek to stifle a man's ambition. Schenck is ambitious and always has been. It is our understanding he looks upon Texas as pretty much of an empire of its own, sees no particular reason why Karl Hoblitzelle and Bob O'Donnell, which is to say Paramount, should be the sole large factor in that territory. Having reached such a conclusion, he planned to act. The Robb and Rowley deal, it can be said now, is not to be likened to a complete bolt out of the blue. It has been under discussion for about six months. . . .

On or about the time the word was bruited about that Schenck was looking it over with much assurance a deal eventually would be struck, Paramount did not lag far behind. It expressed its displeasure and, as we piece the inside together, it went further by hinting darkly at reprisals against Twentieth Century-Fox in its richest theatre territory, the Pacific seaboard where Fox West Coast is king, emperor and, many insist, dictator all in the one swoop. Sidney Kent and Sypros Skouras reputedly pointed at long length the difficulties which might trail any deal Schenck might make with Robb and Rowley. How their point of view was disposed of is effectively indicated by the fact that the purchase ultimately was made. . . .

Thereby the United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc., took a decided step forward in the neighborhood of the other national chains. It has its scattered theatres in some of the "A" towns. It is in Los Angeles and in Pasadena and it controls what was formerly known as the Fox Metropolitan Playhouses here in little old New York. The investment has its curious angle, also, in the fact that, while Robb and Rowley continue management, Schenck as half owner will, or ought to, have something to say about any deals R. & R. might make for Twentieth Century-Fox product. Schenck, in a word, thereby is a seller and a buyer of his own output in this one direction anyway.

Will he go further? Years ago, we learned the dangers inherent in the crystal ball and, thus and generally speaking, laid off. However, and provided you don't hold us to it, we feel informed sufficiently in this one instance, at least, to urge that you experience no special surprise if you find the United Artists circuit stepping elsewhere in due course. Not in the form of new theatres; there is little purpose these days of building them. But it could easily, and it probably will, take shape in an acquired interest, if not to say a control, in existing circuits. Thus, on the one side, you find Schenck a heavily interested exhibitor by virtue of National Theatres, Twentieth Century-Fox's exhibition arm and a stalwart one. On the other, you see a sort of a paralleling activity growing apace through the U.A. circuit. Will he put the one into his major interest which, in terms of outlets, is National Theatres? You might view yourself as having been in the know if one of these minutes, weeks, months and, perhaps as far off as years, he does.

The pleasant and rotund Douglas W. Churchill, covering Hollywood for The New York Times:

> A radically altered "Stage Door" is being photographed at RKO. . . . It is probable that playwrights Edna Ferber and George J. Kaufman will be vexed by some of the changes. Director Gregory La Cava has tossed out all the original with the exception of the framework, but La Cava and the studio believe that the film will present a more faithful conception of the children who stem from everywhere and who converge with their hopes, deceits and tragedies in the parlor of Mrs. Orcutt's boarding house. . . . La Cava believes that much of the reasoning of Authors Ferber and Kaufman is specious and that they failed to create a document that accurately presents the problems and psychology of the dozen or so girls with whom the play deals. He turned several stenographers loose on the town with pencils and books and they rode in buses, sat in studio reception rooms, talked to extras on sets. . . . La Cava says that the result is far richer, far more dramatic than the dialogue of the play.

Question: Why, then did Radio buy the play for something like $150,000? . . .

Warners were after "Room Service." Radio topped the offer and made the killing for $255,000. Reported conversation between Mervyn LeRoy and Sam Briskin:

Mervyn: "Sam, you're ruining the business, spending that kind of money for a play."

Sam: "What did Warners offer?"

LeRoy: "$250,000." . . .

Picture Poem

Under the title "Contributors to Art," the New Yorker has published this little piece by Anne Forbes:

Only God, they say, makes trees.
Can he make lovelier names than these:

Darryl Zanuck, Hermes Pan,
Van Nest Polglase? Lowly man
Offers thus on silver screen
Names whose bearers rest unseen.
Jasper Blystone, one Field Gray,
Pandro Berman. Stay, oh stay!
Let me know what form or nature
Dwells behind such nomenclature.
Let me see your features clear,
Who rings so finely on the ear.

Field Gray, say that you'll be mine.
Pandro, be my valentine.

Ask Fight on Ascap In Kansas-Missouri

TOPEKA, June 22.—That exhibitors secure cooperation of the parent teacher associations in eliminating the Ascap music tax and then establish local scholarships with the amount thus saved to be administered by P.T.A. groups was suggested by John Stapel, president, to members of the Kansas-Missouri Theatre Ass'n in convention here today. Stapel believes that the M.P.T.O. and Allied have failed in their efforts to free exhibitors of the tax and that exhibitors should arouse public opposition to it on their own screens. Scholarships paid for by money saved from the tax would secure everlasting good-will of communities for exhibitors, theatres and motion pictures alike, thinks Stapel.

Membership Drive to Start

While the idea was accepted enthusiastically by the delegates, definite action is not likely until the association's aggressive campaign to strengthen itself with new members and increased dues begins to function in the next 60 days. A series of local committees throughout the area have been appointed by the directors to sell exhibitors the need of a strong association, particularly in view of the present labor situation. Such problems as double bills, exhibitor support for the bill in the next Kansas legislature session taxing Bank Night winnings 15 per cent and thus making the promotion legal in Kansas where the Supreme Court last year banned it as lottery and use of vaudeville to replace chance games, premiums and doubles were discussed but action was postponed by the association until the drive has developed new strength.

Exhibitors, including Ed Haas, Fox midwest district manager; San Sosna, Manhattan, Kansas, and Homer Strowig, Abilene, Kansas, disclosed that straight picture programs consistently make more money than when combined with vaudeville. Vaudeville suffers too much by comparison with good talking films, said Haas.

Hays, president of the M. P. P. D. A., and Premier Mussolini.

Associated Press and United Press dispatches published yesterday interpreted the decree as invalidating the Hays-Mussolini agreement, which provided for the number of American films to be imported into Italy and the amount of money which American firms could export from Italy. It was pointed out here, however, that the principal features of the decree of yesterday as published made no mention of the salient features of the Hays-Mussolini agreement, but merely detailed the important terms of the dubbing tax increase and quota as decided some weeks ago and made known at the time.

Dwight Is Cited By Congress Committee

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Richard E. Dwight, legal associate of 20th Century-Fox and former member of the law firm of Hughes, Schurman & Dwight, was named today at a Senate-House committee hearing as one of a group who sought to reduce income tax payments between 1932 and 1936 by taking out large insurance policies with a Bahamas company.

Charles Evans Hughes, Jr., son of the Chief Justice of the U. S., was a member of Dwight's law firm. On June 10 the firm was dissolved, with Dwight and several of his associates forming the new firm of Dwight, Harris, Koegel and Caskey. The dissolution of the firm was attributed at the hearing to Dwight's differences with the Treasury Dep't. over the transactions cited. A Treasury attorney told the committee that by taking out a $4,000,000 policy with the Bahamas company, paying a single premium, then borrowing on the policy and deducting the interest payment from his income tax return, Dwight was enabled to reduce his 1932 income tax payment by $53,448. He said that for the period from 1932-35, the Internal Revenue Bureau decided that Dwight owed $230,399 in taxes.

C. to approve Condor's application, filed April 2, brought about a suspension of production activities last week, due to an S. E. Union in K. C. Asks Theatre Agreement

KANSAS CITY, June 22.—Substantial increases in wages and decreases in hours, a closed shop and continuation of vacations with pay, are asked in a proposed agreement submitted to Kansas City theatres by the recently formed Theatre Employes' Local 24. The agreement, signed by Felix B. Snow, representative of the I.A.T.S.E. with which the new union is affiliated, went to first runs and to subsequent runs that employ any labor.

The schedule asked for first run employes is: cashiers, $25 a week; front doorman, $23.50; chief of staff, $27.50; assistant chief of staff, $24; ushers and usherettes, $20; back doorman, $20; superintendent of cleaners and porters, $28; assistant superintendent, $22, and porters, cleaners and maids, $20. The same schedule was asked from subsequent runs, except for cashiers, ushers and doormen, for whom the union wants 50 cents an hour. Calling for time and a half for overtime, the agreement provides for a decrease in hours from five to 15 hours per week from existing hours.

which was endorsed, was in opposition to the majority committee's wish that the quality clause be abandoned, and that negotiations be reopened with the Kinematograph Renters' Society (distributors) on the basis of acceptance of the cost clause as incorporated in the initial draft of the proposed new Films Act prepared by the Board of Trade.

In a full discussion of the situation, Metcalfe was outspoken, declaring that many members of the old committee had not assisted him. He complained of the divided policy in the association and urged that the organization present a definite and declared policy.

Recommends "New Start"

"It is better to make a new start with people who will force your policy," he declared. He further complained of leakage, permitting committee proceedings to be made known to the opposition, and said that many members of the committee were "half sold on the other side before they started." He reiterated the fundamental objection to the cost clause because of the product problem which is involved and declared that the reciprocity idea as recently proposed is not practicable. He said, however, that the C.E.A. would be sympathetic to a workable scheme.

He emphasized that the C.E.A. should not negotiate only with the foreign faction of the K.R.S., but also with the British distributors and the Film Group of F.B.I. If negotiations are carried on with only one section, it should be with the British section, he said.

In general Metcalfe urged maintenance of the present policy against the Board of Trade, if necessary carrying the fight against the cost clause into the House of Commons.

Fligelstone, Gale, F. W. Morrison, Alex King and Ralph S. Bromhead of the old committee argued for a joint policy with the K.R.S. on the ground of the definite rejection of the quality clause by the Board of Trade, but other speakers urged the absolute necessity of maintaining the supply of minor American films, which the cost clause would kill.

See Independents Endangered

Jack Alexander, declaring that the independent exhibitor is fighting for his life and would be extinct in three years under the cost clause, attacked the Board of Trade's "four or five officials anxious that their long weekend shall not be disturbed by the quality clause." Other speeches were in similar vein, urging a combination of independent producers and distributors refusing to accept the declaration of Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, as final.

It is expected the C.E.A. will tie up with another group declared to represent 1,000 principals and employes who held a meeting in London yesterday expressing dissent from the Government's proposal. A joint protest to the Government and possible public agitation by independent producers, distributors, technicians and others is foreseen, with organized Parliamentary opposition.

The council voted thanks to Ed Kuykendall, president of the M.P.T.O.A. in the United States, for information concerning American rentals. Approximately 700 attended the garden party this afternoon. The banquet tonight also was well attended.

from London that the reel was being shown there and London papers were commenting upon it with some excitement.

Paramount denied early in the day that the reel belonged to it. Cables were exchanged with the London office and word came back that it was really the Paramount film. An investigation was started.

It developed that a skeleton holiday crew was on duty at the home office when the negative arrived. The man in charge of the foreign shipments was called out of town by the illness of his father. A substitute made a condensed version of the Chicago scenes and included it in the foreign shipment as a matter of routine.

Yesterday London was startled. Paramount was, too, but Paramount still says the reel will not be shown in America.

per cent for the new debentures was still regarded as too high, but that he had been compelled to "take it or leave it." Special Master Alger responded that he was under no such compulsion and indicated that he would give the interest rate considerable study before approving it.

Israels asked approval of the Rockefeller settlement because of the acceptance by the claimants of common stock, which would place other unsecured creditors in a more favorable position. He insisted that if the Rockefeller claim were to be litigated, Rockefeller interests might refuse to accept a junior position with the result that the plan would require complete revision. Under the settlement, RKO would also benefit by the acquisition of a first-run house, according to Israels. He indicated that general creditors expect to wait four or five months before getting the money, even if the plan is approved and urged that disapproval of the settlement might harm the creditors. Chief advantage of the plan would be the ability of creditors to sell their securities on the open market and obtain their money quickly, Israels said.

Calls '31 Conversion Illegal

John Stover, representing Ernest Stirn, a Class A stockholder, charged that conversion of Class A into common stock in 1931 was illegal because a quorum of directors was lacking when the conversion was ordered. He also contended that provisions of the plan would be illegal under the laws of Maryland where the company was incorporated. Stover stated that misrepresentations of fact had been made to Special Master Thomas D. Thatcher by the Rockefeller interests when the claim was being tried.

Pfeiffer denied the charges of misrepresentation, but Special Master Alger refused to consider the issue. Alger asked whether the provision for liquidated damages under the lease for the Music Hall and Center theatres did not provide for more money to Rockefeller Center than if the leases had been unbroken. Pfeiffer argued that the landlord was entitled to the entire cost of construction and equipment because of the breach of the lease by RKO.

Abraham K. Weber, representing common stockholders, said that the Atlas Corp., proponents of the plan, have failed to establish their case. He said that the last re-valuation of the assets took place in 1932, and that the law requires a more recent valuation, not one based on earning power alone.

Richard C. Hunt, representing $1,118,500 of extended notes and $170,000 of debentures, challenged the assertion by Joseph M. Cohen, attorney for common stockholders, that the common had been reduced to one-fourth its value in 1932, and was now being reduced to one-eighth. Hunt stated that only one-fifth of the present outstanding common was issued in 1932. He said that the plan was fair to stockholders and that bondholders were being asked to sacrifice one-half per cent in interest, extend the maturity of the notes, and accept stock for their past-due interest.

Fabian Representative Present

Si Fabian, who leased the Plaza in Schenectady and the Palace in Albany to RKO Proctor, was represented by Frank Reavis. Reavis asked that some provision be made for landlords who hold guarantees by RKO on leases which have not defaulted. He requested either a guarantee by the new company or cash security for three years' rental. It was pointed out by O. C. Doering, attorney for Irving Trust Company, RKO trustee, that three similar cases are now pending in the Circuit Court of Appeals and that decisions clarifying the rights of landlords holding guarantees on undefaulted leases was expected in a few weeks.

Special Master Alger expressed great satisfaction with the management of the debtor by Irving Trust, saying that he had never seen "anything quite so marvelous as the jump in RKO earnings in the last three years."

Argument will continue at Alger's office this afternoon. June 28 has been set as the last day of argument. A formal hearing before Federal Judge William Bondy was adjourned to July 20.

to the principle that there should be a ratio between the available film output and the number of theatres in the country. Also reaffirmed is the association's desire for official arbitration in trade disputes.

It is generally believed that the Board of Trade takes the view that provisions covering overbuilding and trade arbitration would be out of place in any new Films Act.

CBS Accused Of Anti-Union Actions Here

Charges of anti-union activity have been filed against CBS by the American Radio Telegraphists' Ass'n, C.I.O. member, with the National Labor Relations Board, it was made known yesterday by Mrs. Eleanore M. Herrick, who is regional director of the board.

Mrs. Herrick said yesterday that the A.R.T.A. had filed a complaint against CBS, charging discrimination against its members and accusing the company of attempting to intimidate some of the CBS engineers. The complaint was signed by Mervyn Rathborne, president of the A.R.T.A.

The anti-union charges against CBS are an aftermath of the network engineers' action of last week in dissolving the company union, the Columbia Broadcast Technicians, to join the A.R.T.A.

Grossman Criticised

Singled out in the A.R.T.A, complaint is Henry Grossman, chief engineer of the eastern division of CBS. According to Rathborne, Grossman allegedly threatened the members of the CBS engineering staff with loss of vacations and sick leave, and loss of other privileges the men now enjoy, unless they left the CIO affiliate.

Grossman was out of the city yesterday covering the Poughkeepsie Regatta for the network, and therefore was not available for comment.

In his petition to Mrs. Herrick yesterday Rathborne also asked for a referendum for collective bargaining, and claimed that 70 of the 82 eligible employes in Columbia's New York office are members of the CIO affiliate.

Not known at the moment is the situation prevailing at the remaining seven CBS owned and operated stations, whose technicians were reported as having followed the WABC chapter's action in dissolving the company union to join the A.R.T.A. The stations are: WJSV, Washington; WBT, Charlotte; WKRC, Cincinnati; KNOX, St. Louis; WBBM, Chicago; WCCO, St. Paul-Minneapolis, and KNX, Los Angeles.

casting as an industry. What is helpful for one person is helpful for all. The plans we have outlined for the coming year will be carried out to the best of our ability. The problems confronting us are important to all broadcasters."

Asked regarding reports that the N.A.B. would split into two groups consisting of networks and independents, Elmer said he thought this very unlikely, as the problems before the organization are too important to involve a split at this time, as all must work together to protect their interests, whether they be chain or independent.

Elmer was a Baltimore publisher and advertising agency man before becoming president of WCBM, Baltimore, in 1931.

Following the election the Resolutions Committee thanked individuals and committees for their help in staging the convention. Resolutions approved included encouragement of prosecution of a Federal suit against Ascap; an expression that the NAB should urge the passage of the Duffy Copyright Bill; that the NAB reiterate its position as favoring issuance of radio station licenses for a term of at least three years; that it approves action by the board of directors favoring the organization of an NAB Bureau of Copyrights, Inc., and the transferring of the property and activities of the old bureau to the new organization.

Ask Publicity

Another resolution approved favors publicizing the art of radio. This matter was left to the board of directors for action.

Plans for a National Radio Week were strongly opposed and a resolution on this subject was killed.

The NAB resolved to fight the Celler Bill providing for a Federal broadcasting station. It was also resolved to pick one member from each state to fight for copyright legislation. A resolution was passed favoring the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of Helen Keller and the late Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy during the coming year.

Edward A. Allen, president of the Independent Broadcasters' Ass'n, said late today that the group would hold an election tonight and planned to hold together for protective purposes. He said no dues would be charged as none was needed.

A proposal to raise NAB dues 50 per cent was dropped.

Ed Petry took the floor at the morning session and assailed the tendency of some members to fight Ascap on the front pages.

It was voted that the outgoing president should automatically become a member of the board of directors for three years.

Fred Hart's resolution for reorganizing the association will come up for discussion tomorrow. The resolution is to add state, regional and national units to the NAB. The Resolutions Committee advises that it be considered by a special committee and a report made on the feasibility of the plan and submitted to the board of directors.

Cuts Off Station

Long Beach, Cal., June 22.—Iola Josephson holds the rather dubious honor of having blown KFOX completely off the air in a recent broadcast. A Dummy From Spain

In the midst of Spain's civil war, a citizen of Barcelona took time off to pen a letter to NBC designed to prove that Charley McCarthy is not the first ventriloquist's dummy to appear on the air. The correspondent's letter referred to one Josep Torres Vilata Toreski, now deceased, and with the missive was enclosed a photograph of Toreski and his dummy. The letter, with original spelling:

"Toreski consacred his youthfulness to the theatre, and traveled around the world. After September, 1934, took place his entrance in the Broadcasting House Radio Barcelona. He died in May, 1937. Toreski's popularity as speaker has passed, also, over the frontiers, because he invented a new radiophonic modality, creating an imaginary personage with whom maintained many and clevery dialogues. The imaginary personage was a turbulent boy of eight years of age 'Miliu' (the dummy).

"The death of Toreski is very regreted."

Coast Church Asks Broadcast License

By CLARENCE LINZ

Equity Meeting Is Set on Air Talent

A special meeting of the council of Actors Equity Ass'n will be held next Tuesday to consider further the organization's plans for organizing radio talent on both coasts, it was learned yesterday.

The subject was discussed at a regular meeting of the council yesterday at which the cooperation of the Screen Actors Guild in Equity's organizing campaign among film personalities who appear on the radio was assured by Kenneth Thomson, secretary of the Guild. Indications are that under the cooperative arrangement, any member of the Guild appearing on the radio will be obliged to become a member of Equity and continue in good standing in that organization. Thomson plans to leave for the coast on Friday.

All theatrical unions will meet at Equity headquarters today to hear a report from a union delegation which met yesterday with Harry Hopkins, W.P.A. Administrator, on the current lay-offs in connection with the reduction of Federal theatre projects.

Dots and Dashes from NAB

By WILLIAM F. CROUCH

NAB CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS, CHICAGO, June 22.—Forgotten tonight were convention details, everyone's mind was on the Louis-Braddock fight at Comiskey Park. Practically everyone was there for the affair.

LESTER GOTTLIEB, of MBS, spent three weeks planning the "Crack o' Dawn" breakfast for Monday and when the time came for it he got so excited he didn't even eat anything. Until an hour later—when he remembered.

JERRY KING, president of Standard Radio, out from Hollywood, spent Monday afternoon golfing. His associates signed up the business that came around and considerable did show up. As a result KING was very much pleased.

This afternoon found many of the lads at the Washington Park racetrack. The main event was the NAB Handicap.

"Miss Lollipop," was the hit of the show. For two reasons. Those in opera length hose. "Miss Lollipop" is better known as FRANCYNE SEMMONS.

JOHN VAN CRONKHITE of Van Cronkhite Associates was very much on hand and got to meet a lot of chaps that it would take days of traveling to reach otherwise. VAN is all for this convention idea when it comes to doing business.

CBS and NBC delegates suffered from hayfever when MBS passed carnations around. At least, that's the reason they gave for not taking any.

WILL WHITMORE of Graybar in New York, after starting off with a bad cold, rallied fast today and was in fine fettle for the finishing days.

GENE O'FALLON of KFL, down from Denver and the high altitude found Chicago's lake breezes plenty warm.

JACK TODD, KANS program directtor at Wichita, was a booster for HERBERT HOLLISTER, also of KANS, for an NAB director job.

HARRIETT DE BUSMAN of Hollywood—via Kansas City—spent the first days of the session visiting WHB pals.

Speaking of WHB, DON D. DAVIS and his cohorts did plenty of entertaining in the Airport Room with the Three Deuces trio dispensing plenty of hot-cha-cha with every round of —you know what.

JOHN SCHILLING, and we're still talking about WHB, was up bright and early for the MBS breakfast. He claims he did get to bed before the affair but others claim he didn't—quite.

JOHNNY JOHNSTONE of WOR, was sadly missed. Too much business at home kept him away.

JAP GUDE and FRANK RAND who keep CBS to the fore were much in evidence. RAND met RUBINOFF and his violin at the airport Monday noon and took them to the Sherman for a press luncheon.

KARL HAYMOND took top honors on Sunday in the golf tourney, but, having won once before, was ineligible for the trophies which were given to HARRY BUTCHER of CBS and E. C. PULLIAM, Jr., of WIRE who tied for first place.

A broadcast over CBS for Wednesday night has been planned by JAMES PATT, local CBS director of special events. The new president will be introduced to the radio audience at that time.

A combination tea and style show was held Tuesday in the English Room at Marshall Field's for the women attending the NAB meeting. Mrs. BERTHA CURRAN of the local NBC office was in charge.

AL STINE of WHB, Kansas City, was on hand with a lot of swell gags, but didn't tell any of them. Says he's saving them for a new show he's writing.

A big hit at the convention was the promotion show. The exhibits were in charge of HOWARD PETERSON of WOW, Omaha, who did a swell job in presenting them to the visitors.

FRED J. HART of KGMB in Honolulu and KHBC at Hilo, Hawaii, was propably the popular delegate. He brought along a number of Hawaiian leis which he gave to friends.

EDWARD A. ALLEN, WLVA, Lynchburg, was much in evidence conferring with other independent broadcasters.

VIOLET S. EVERS of KMOX, St. Louis, was one of the lovely feminine delegates attending. She is the publicity counsel at her station.

London Sees Improvements In Television

LONDON, June 14.—Lord Selsdon has opened at the Science Museum, South Kensington, an exhibition of television, organized in conjunction with the British Broadcasting Corp., which provided an interesting historic review of the development of the science and a demonstration of the results obtainable by the most modern sets.

The display of apparatus covered the very earliest experiments in television, which are also described in detail in the brochure of the exhibition. The actual screen displays were provided by transmissions from one room of the Museum to another and all standard receivers were demonstrated and gave practically perfect and flickerless pictures.

The only large picture demonstration was by Scophony, Ltd., which transmitted from their laboratory two miles away. The five foot by four foot picture was noticeably less clear than in the case of the standard "home" receivers, and flicker was definitely a drawback.

ProgramsNeed Change, Pryor Tells the NAB

Insists Time Would Be Easier to Sell

CHICAGO, June 23.—"Radio would be a lot easier to sell if you fellows would put on good programs," declared Arthur Pryor, Jr., who was the principal speaker today at the morning session of the closing day of the National Ass'n of Broadcasters' convention at the Hotel Sherman.

"Radio is easy to sell with good programs," he asserted. "If you neglect to build up a staff responsible for your programs, however, you will suffer greatly and not until the ones making the programs get what they deserve financially will this be possible."

Additional developments in radio on pages 6 and 7.

Pryor said that good salesmen were plentiful, but that the industry needed men who knew what the public wanted from radio and how to serve it.

He continued: "Nice people pay very little attention to radio."

This is due, he said, to "many horrible things that come out of loud

Opponents of Cost Clause Rally Forces

By BRUCE ALLAN

HARROGATE, ENGLAND, June 23.—There was a clear indication at the annual summer conference of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n here, now in its third day, that all the the various interests opposing the cost clause in the proposed new quota law will present a united front in opposition.

The cost clause would place quota films on a basis of cost of production to determine fulfillment of quota terms, a method emphatically opposed by the majority of the C.E.A., which is

The first release will be "Prisoner of Zenda," which will be followed by "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," "Nothing Sacred" and two untitled pictures.

Suit Planned Naming RKO's Board of 1931

A small group of common stockholders of RKO plan to start suit against those directors of RKO who were in office during 1931 for malfeasance in connection with the $11,600,000 debenture issue of that year, it was revealed by David Stoneman during argument on the proposed plan of reorganization before Special Master George W. Alger yesterday.

Stoneman charged that the issuance was improper and would be made the basis for a suit after hearings on the plan have been ended. He also attacked the refinancing of 1931 when

Broadway Admission Taxes Fall in April

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Theatre attendance in the Broadway district fell off in April, it was disclosed today with the publication by the Internal Revenue Bureau of figures of admission tax collections in May.

Receipts from admissions to theatres dropped from $496,035 in April to $413,918 the following month, it was announced, while taxes from free or reduced rate admissions declined from

"Slave Ship" Gets $32,500 First Week

"Slave Ship" concluded a first week at the Rivoli with approximately $32,500. 20th Century-Fox put on a big advertising campaign for the seafaring picture. Incidentally, "Captains Courageous" is slated to bow out of the Astor on July 5.

"I Met Him in Paris" at the Paramount and George Hall and his band substituting for Ozzie Nelson in the third week tallied $28,000. "Thief Meets Thief" at the Rialto took in about $7,900.

Loew Extends Partner Deals In Two Cities

St. Louis, Providence Houses Involved

Loew's is extending its partnership deals to two new key centers with a possibility of others in prospect. The cities are St. Louis and Providence. In each instance the major circuit is buying a half interest in the theatres, which in no way gives the seller, however, an interest in Loew units in the same cities.

The principal reason for the moves is said to provide additional outlets for holdover pictures. Big films will be switched to the new theatres after they complete runs at the Loew houses.

Deals of this nature, it was stated, will prove beneficial to both M-G-M and independent theatres affected, the reason advanced being that big pictures, after they finish at Loew theatres, are good for several additional weeks at other first class houses in the town.

One of the two deals is the Fanchon & Marco for the Missouri, St. Louis, which, starting next season, will play top pictures booked by the State there. This partnership arrangement is virtually set, with attorneys for both par-

Skouras Enterprises Bankruptcy Is Ended

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—With the approval by Referee Hope of a dividend amounting to $303,451, bankruptcy proceedings in Skouras Bros. Enterprises here have been wound up. About 90 per cent of the dividend will go to the Bondholders' Protective Committee.

Spyros, Charles and George Skouras formed Skouras Bros. Enterprises and sold out to Warners in the fall of 1928. The company for many years owned 52 per cent of the St. Louis Amusement Co., the West End Lyric and other houses.

Mayer also said that theatre operators are being flooded with fans' requests for the picture, and the studio has received thousands of letters asking the release of the picture.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Wee Willie Winkie"

(20th Century-Fox)

HOLLYWOOD, June 23.—Shirley Temple may have had a better picture. If so, it will be quickly forgotten when this is seen. There may have been greater pictures in the past and probably will in the future. Few, however, can hope to guarantee the same audience satisfaction and exhibitor respect as Kipling's colorful story of romance, adventure and danger in India's Khyber Pass. Seldom has it been possible for managers to offer to patrons such worthy entertainment. Even more rarely has such valuable potential exploitation material been offered.

Dominating all of the many showmanship qualities is that in "Winkie" a new Temple is born. Gone are the childish whimsicalities. Yet, retaining all her sweetness, simplicity and charm, demonstrating her extraordinary talents with finesse and conviction, she emerges a dramatic artiste of superior rank. "Winkie" writes finish to Shirley's cute career. She embarks on a new and brighter one which all should welcome.

The stirring and martial adventure-romance-drama story has been transferred to the screen with forceful and precise realism. Brilliantly adapted by Ernest Pascal and Julien Josephson to permit the hokum to blend with theatricalism and to include emotion-stirring humanness, John Ford's direction is sure and sharp. Great credit for the film's forceful appeal is due to the splendid manner in which Victor McLaglen, Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Michael Whalen, Cesar Romero, Douglas Scott and Constance Collier support Shirley.

As it tells the story of fierce and treacherous savages held in check by British soldiers in a lonely mountain desert outpost, "Winkie" is the essence of sound drama. Its thrill action is suspenseful and nerve-tingling excitement to the last degree. Compensated by the gruff comedy of rough soldiers, the dramatic motivation is counterbalanced by appealing romance involving Miss Lang and Whalen, always necessary to the plot but never unreasonably intruding on the basic motivation. There are many things in "Winkie" to arouse the attention of audiences as they have not often been engaged. Shirley's attachment and affection for the ribald Sergeant McLaglen is honest sentiment. Her relations with the strict disciplinarian grandfather (Smith) alternately provoke smiles and heart tugs. The bond existing between her and Romero, tribesman chieftain, which eventually brings about peace between the savage nomads and the embattled British, gives the story vibrant character.

Produced on a big scale supplementing the rugged outdoor scenic backgrounds, it is dramatically photographed by Arthur Miller, with a quality music score by Alfred Newman vividly emphasizing the picture's oral action values. A money-in-bank film if ever there was one, "Winkie" will be in the air and known to the public long before it is available for general presentation. Showman have high ranking personalities to exploit. In addition there is so much other valuable material into which to sink the teeth that only complete inertia can debar "Winkie" from becoming one of the year's outstanding commercial entertainment productions.

Production Code Seal No. 3,122. Running time, 95 minutes. "G."

"Slim," now current at the Strand, was previewed by wire from the coast on May 7.

"Mountain Music," yesterday's opener at the Paramount, was reviewed by wire on June 10 from Hollywood.

"Riding on Air," tonight's preview at the Roxy, was reviewed from the coast by wire.

"Slave Ship" at the Rivoli, "A Day at the Races" at the Capitol and "The Last Train from Madrid" at the Criterion are holdovers.

Skouras to Take on 7 Springer Theatres

Negotiations have been completed whereby Skouras Theatres will take over the Beacon, 77th St., Stoddard, Carlton, Olympia, Thalia, and Symphony from the Jack W. Springer estate. The date of change in management is contingent on the signing of contracts which are now in the hands of attorneys for both circuits.

Under the terms of the deal concluded, Skouras will operate the seven houses under 21-year leases. RKO has the right, under its pooling arrangement with Skouras in the uptown Broadway sector, to participate in the new setup. Nate J. Blumberg, operating head for the RKO circuit, is due back from the coast July 1, following which details of adding the seven new units to the Broadway pool will be completed.

Skouras and Blumberg have had several conferences on the deal, the understanding being that RKO will participate. RKO had been planning to build a de luxe at 92nd St. and Broadway, but with the culmination of the Skouras-Springer negotiations there will be no need for the contemplated structure.

Union Protests on WPA Cut Discussed

Members of 11 theatrical unions employed on Federal Theatre Projects will hold a series of meetings over the weekend to consider procedures, including that of strike action, to recommend to the various councils of their organizations, it was decided at a mass meeting of the 11 unions held at Actors' Equity Ass'n yesterday.

The decision was reached after the meeting had heard the report of a union delegation which conferred in Washington on Tuesday with Aubrey Williams, assistant to Harry Hopkins, W.P.A. Administrator. The report set forth that W.P.A. officials were unable to assure the delegation either that no union Federal Theatre Project workers would be laid off or that the impending layoffs would be confined to non-union workers.

The individual union's membership meetings will culminate Monday afternoon with a joint meeting of the members of Actors' Equity Ass'n and Chorus Equity at the Astor. The councils of Actors' Equity and Chorus Equity will consider the membership recommendations at special meetings the following day. Any action by the unions will involve only those members employed on Federal Theatre Projects and will be directed against only that agency.

Many Groups Participating

Unions other than the two Equity associations participating in the movement in protest against the impending W.P.A. layoffs are the I.A.T.S.E., United Scenic Artists, American Federation of Musicians, American Federation of Actors, Theatrical Agents', Managers' and Treasurers' Union, Theatrical Wardrobe Attendants, Theatrical Teamsters Union, Hebrew Actors' Union and the German White Rats Actors' Union.

Mrs. Dorothy Bryant, executive secretary of Chorus Equity for the past 18 years, has submitted her resignation, effective Aug. 7, it was stated at Actors' Equity headquarters yesterday. Although her resignation has not been accepted by the council of the organization, it is understood that Mrs. Bryant will not revoke her decision to relinquish the Equity post.

Conn. Union Listing Demands

New Haven, June 23.—A. F. of L. Theatrical Employes' Local 42B, now numbering 104 members from New Haven and the Valley, is drawing up a wage schedule which will be submitted to the membership for approval at a midnight meeting June 29. I.A.T.S.E. officials who organized this and the Hartford group are now working in Bridgeport.

Charter Portland Union

Portland, Me., June 23.—An A. F. of L. charter has been granted to the new M. P. Theatre Employes' local here. Other locals have been chartered in Boston and Springfield.

Picketing K. C. Theatres

Kansas City, June 23. — The I.A.T.S.E. Operators' Local 170 has begun picketing E. S. Young's Central and Roanoke, with placards reading "Unfair to Union Operators A. F. of L." They have made no attempt to disturb patrons.

Conservative

Omaha, June 23.—Ralph Goldberg, who operates a number of houses here, has gone conservative in a big way.

He has cut his usual five-feature Saturday midnight picture "marathon" at the Town to four features.

SAG to Allow Shots Of 'Winkie' Opening

Hollywood, June 23.—The first instance of the Screen Actors' Guild issuing a waiver on its contract with the studios occurred today when the guild granted to 20th Century-Fox permission to shoot long shots only of the crowds which will gather at the Carthay Circle premiere of "Wee Willie Winkie" Friday night for use in "Ali Baba Goes to Town," forthcoming Eddie Cantor starring vehicle.

Aubrey Blair, guild executive, said in a letter to Fred Beetson that the waiver of the guild agreement which calls for only guild players on the screen is given with the understanding that the studio employ from 150 to 200 extras for closeups to be made at the lot. Blair added that the guild action is not to be construed as a precedent.

The guild is spreading out its organization to include film children as well as negro, Indian and cowboy extras. Mothers of film kiddies at a meeting here were told by Blair that the guild is stepping into the picture because of reports that independent studios are cutting down on the youngsters' pay. Dues for children in the guild will be set at $5 yearly, the lowest figure among membership rates.

Publicists Meet Next Week

Hollywood, June 23.—Whether the Screen Publicists' Guild, organization recently formed here for film publicity men, will formally affiliate with the American Newspaper Guild will be decided upon at a meeting to be called next week. The press agents organized with the aid of guild officials here, but an official link with the newspapermen's group has not been formed. Don Roberts, temporary chairman of the new organization, estimates that there are already 75 members in the group.

New Omaha Union Elects

Omaha, June 23.—Charles Lorenz, M-G-M shipper, has been elected president of the recently chartered Local B 47, Film Exchange Employes' Union. The organization will meet next Tuesday to prepare a list of demands to submit to producers.

Sid McArdle was chosen business agent; Lon Dolan and Fred Hunt, first and second vice-presidents; Catherine Nodean, secretary; Peggy Bragg, recording secretary, and Herb Mogard, treasurer.

Studio Office Workers Unionize

Hollywood, June 23.—Paramount studio office workers are organizing their own independent union. Mildred Brenton, secretary, said the union was to "forestall outside and professional union promoters." She also said similar unions had been formed at RKO, Columbia, U. A., M-G-M and 20th Century-Fox.

DeMille Corporation Called a Tax Evader

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

Washington, June 23. — Cecil B. DeMille's holding company today was cited before the joint Congressional tax evasion investigating committee as an example of the manner in which wealthy taxpayers are avoiding their income tax responsibilities.

Although he charged that DeMille by this method made a "purposeful effort" to evade surtaxes, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering admitted that the courts had supported DeMille's action as legal.

Helvering asserted that by forming a corporation consisting of himself, members of his family and his attorney, but completely dominated by DeMille, the producer incorporated his "earning personality." His earning power, he said, was almost the sole corporate asset. "DeMille, the individual, then went to work for DeMille, the corporation, at a salary far less than he knew he could command as a director," he explained. "The corporation then sold DeMille's services to producing companies. The difference between Cecil DeMille's salary from his own corporation and his actual earnings as a film director was put into the corporation."

Plan Had Been Legalized

The Government claimed that the accumulation of this surplus was unreasonable and a "purposeful attempt to evade surtaxes," Helvering continued, but the court upheld DeMille's contention that the corporation was saving up money with which later to go into the production of films and that an accumulation for that purpose was proper.

Helvering told the committee that a study of 17 personal holding companies with an aggregate tax liability of less than $44,000 showed that the individual owners of the companies would have had to pay more than $1,600,000 in surtaxes if the companies had not been organized.

Chain Tax Hearing in Wisc.

Madison, June 23.—A hearing on the Grobschmidt bill to impose a graduated tax on chain theatres in Wisconsin was held today before the Assembly Finance Committee, the recommendations of which are expected within a few days.

There appears to be little possibility of the Allied States-sponsored theatre divorce measure being put to a vote on the floor of the Senate for another week, due to the fact that that body is so far behind on its calendar. The Wisconsin Legislature is scheduled to adjourn July 2.

To Enforce Dog Race Law

Albany, June 23.—Governor Lehman today issued an order directing all peace officers to enforce rigorously the law against dog racetrack gambling. He declared that gambling under the guise of the sale of options to buy specific dogs is a violation and "until explicitly determined to the contrary by the Court of Appeals all law enforcement officials must consider the activity illegal."

Emanuel Boasberg Dead

Buffalo, June 23.—Emanuel Boasberg, 71, retired tobacco wholesaler, died here last night almost on the eve of the funeral of his nephew, Al Boasberg.

Ascap's Washington Action Up Next Week

Seattle, June 23.—Ascap's case seeking to set aside a new Washington law regulating music copyrights will be heard in Tacoma on June 29. Federal Judges John C. Bowen of Seattle, E. E. Cushman of Tacoma and Bert Emory Haney of San Francisco will preside.

The Ascap suit names the State of Washington and all county prosecutors as defendants. It has been decided that the defendants will be represented by Prosecutor B. Gray Warner and Deputy Prosecutor Edwin C. Ewing of Seattle, King County; Prosecutor A. W. Swanson of Snohomish County, and J. P. Donnelly, deputy in the state attorney general's office.

Ascap is seeking to set aside the act passed by the 1937 legislature that requires the owner of a copyright to file a list of his copyrighted songs with the state, giving the price at which they are available for public presentation. A further section of the act provides that the copyright owner must be incorporated in Washington in order to collect royalties.

the executive committee; Austin Keough, vice-president and secretary; Neil F. Agnew, Y. Frank Freeman, Henry Herzbrun and John W. Hicks, Jr., vice-presidents, and Walter B. Cokell, treasurer.

It is probable that the adjourned annual meeting of Paramount stockholders, scheduled to be held at noon today at the home office, may be adjourned further, inasmuch as the necessary two-thirds of the company's voting stock required to take action on the proposal to increase the number of shares of authorized common from 4,500,000 to 6,000,000 shares were not definitely in view last night. Action on the proposal was deferred at the June 15 meeting of stockholders for the same reason, there being only slightly more than 60 per cent of the voting stock represented at that meeting.

speakers. One great harm to the industry, he said, was the broadcasting of poorly written spot announcements by what he described as "mealy-mouthed simpletons."

Pryor described the rate situation as "terrible," and said too many stations were cutting rates just to get business. He expressed the opinion that if it were harder to get time on stations business would be better.

The speaker also lashed out at surveys and said radio was "being surveyed to death." Some types of surveys were needed, he said, but the present ones were being done to death.

Delegates fired questions at Pryor in the open forum which followed his talk.

Arthur Church reported on radio research and said that a full time man would be selected for this purpose next year. Progress during the past year, he said, had been good, but stronger support was needed from members.

Gillin Talks Promotion

John J. Gillin, Jr., reported on radio promotion and said the association has bigger plans for the coming year. A radio award of merit will be arranged, he declared. Gillin also suggested that a director of publicity be hired.

Marvin Oreck talked on retail selling by radio and pointed out that through spot announcements price advertising got results, while longer programs did much for institutional advertising. He predicted that with the arrival of television retailers would be the best buyers of time because they could display their goods.

Martin Campbell discussed sales forms and Carl Everson reported on sales methods. Lewis Avery reported on the sales managers' meeting. H. K. Carpenter was in charge of the meeting during the morning.

Resolutions adopted called for raising $83,000 for the Radio Education Committee investigations; one to carry on negotiations with copyright owners to the end that per-piece, or measured, service can be obtained; one, presented by the Engineering Committee, was sent to the Board of directors, as was Fred J. Hart's resolution calling for a reorganization.

New Board Meets

The first meeting of the new board of directors of NAB was held this afternoon at which time James Baldwin was reappointed managing director. The board also voted the Executive Committee full authority to appoint both a research director and a publicity director for NAB as suggested by the committees. The session ended late this afternoon. Prior to the banquet NBC held a cocktail party for delegates.

Hart, head of KGMB, Honolulu, leading sponsor for NAB reorganization, today told Motion Picture Daily that if the board of directors did not act favorably within six months on the amendments which he had offered to the constitution, he and many others, including Edward Craney of KGIR, would start an organization of their own along the lines suggested. Hart said that it is imperative that the situation be changed soon as present conditions are such that many broadcasters are unprotected against all sorts of situations which endanger their interests.

President Elmer tonight told Motion Picture Daily that the convention was an excellent one and that from it are expected to result benefits for all concerned.

Networks Neutral On Equity's Drive

Networks will neither aid nor oppose the projected drive of Actors' Equity Ass'n for the organizing of radio talent, it was indicated at Equity headquarters yesterday where it was admitted that Frank Gillmore, president, already has conferred on the drive with both William S. Paley, president of CBS, and John S. Royal, vice-president of NBC.

The inference, it was said, appears to be that if Equity succeeds in obtaining a majority of the radio performers as members, it would probably be recognized by the network as their representative and bargaining agent, but not otherwise. A preliminary outline of provisions to be included in any basic contract with the networks which would be advanced by Equity is said to have been supplied to Paley and Royal by Gillmore. A complete form of contract may be furnished within four weeks. These will undoubtedly set minimum pay scales for all classifications of air performers and will ask pay for rehearsals and for re-broadcasts for either coast.

Equity's organizing activities have been under way for some time now. While the organization believes it already represents a majority of radio performers, its formal demands will not be presented until it is certain of this, it was said.

He added, however, that action on the bill is being held up pending a report from the Navy Dep't.

Under terms of the Celler proposal the Navy Dep't would build and operate the station under the direction of the Federal Commissioner of Education. The purpose of the station is to drown out propaganda now broadcast to South America from other countries, including Germany and Italy.

In all, four O'Neill plays will be produced. The cycle will start with the Pulitzer prize winner, "Beyond the Horizon." The others include "The Fountain" and "Where the Cross Is Made." The fourth play has not been selected as yet.

NBC is now searching for big name leads for each play. Production and adaptation details will be settled later.

Opponents of Cost Clause Rally Forces

sponsoring a quality basis on quota. A willingness on the part of those opposing the cost clause to fight vigorously all stages of the proposed new Films Act, of which the quota provisions are a part, was indicated, if the Government refuses concessions.

The new Moyne committee of the C.E.A., named yesterday, met for the first time this evening to consider its reply to the quota plan outlined recently by the Board of Trade for the Government. The group also considered the invitation to C. P. Metcalfe, C.E.A. president, from the independent distributors to nominate four exhibitors to accompany the distributor deputation to Capt. Euan Wallace, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, relative to the quota on Thursday.

Unanimity Lacking

It was learned here today that the Film Group of the F.B.I. is not unanimous on a quota policy, and that a minority faction of smaller producers is holding private meetings to oppose the cost clause. They claim the Film Group majority is largely a duplicate representation of the major studios and associated companies.

Lord Tyrrell of Avon, president of the British Board of Film Censors, in his address to the convention today on "Review of Censorship," emphasized that American companies now are submitting scripts to the British board, and noted that one company sends all of its scripts. He declared that his contacts with Will H. Hays, president of M.P.P.D.A., and Joseph I. Breen, head of the Production Code Administration, had established an understanding of the American Production Code.

Some criticism was directed at the emasculation of films in order to obtain a "U" certificate, or general patronage approval, and also that a number of films of educational value to children were passed as for adults only. Lord Tyrrell said that in the past year 2,416 subjects were shown, of which 2,000 received "U" certificates, 414 were given "A" (Adult) rating, and two were placed in the new "Horrific" classification.

Cartoons on the Increase

He cited a great increase in cartoons, with 1,155 reviewed as against 914 the previous year. He also noted a tendency to produce shorter length films for the exhibitor quota. He expressed regret at the closing of the Gaumont-British studio. "Green Pastures" caused the greatest amount of anxiety, he declared, but not one complaint came from those who saw the film. However, he expressed the belief that a wave of this type of film would be undesirable.

The address of Ralph Bromhead general manager of County Cinemas, on "Our Jig Saw Puzzle," was largely an amusing comparison of the efficiency of independent and circuit theatres, favoring the former. He declared the smaller exhibitor should pay a smaller percentage than the first run. He attacked the film criticism qualifications of the press critics.

The open session this afternoon, presided over by Metcalfe, was concerned for the most part with the need for a publicity and propaganda bureau to fight press attacks and to state the exhibitors' case in such matters as the quota situation. A resolution was passed asking the general council of the C.E.A. to institute such a bureau.

HOLLYWOOD, June 23.—Tay Garnett's deal with Renowned Artists has been called off, due to inability to get together on some of its phases. However, Renowned declared that a Ronald Colman vehicle, originally scheduled to be made by Garnett, is still on the program.

Class A stock was converted into common at a four-for-one ratio. Stockholders were deprived of about $15,000,000 in accumulated dividends by the conversion, according to Stoneman, who also asked Alger to pass upon the legality of the issuance of 500,000 shares of Class B stock to RCA, which he attacked as being without consideration.

Representing the Rockefeller Center interests, Timothy N. Pfeiffer read a statement in which he declared that $4,000,000 had been deducted from the original claim of Rockefeller Center against RKO and that no further reduction could be made. The proposed settlement of the claim in the RKO reorganization plan was vigorusly attacked by creditors earlier.

John Stover, representing Ernest W. Stirn, a Class A stockholder, told Special Master Alger that he expected to have several witnesses present at the next hearing on June 28 and was granted permission to introduce testimony concerning the conversion of Class A stock in 1931.

H. C. Rickaby, attorney for the Atlas Corp., proponent of the plan, is expected to complete argument on June 28.

RKO Lease Action Extended

The time for the Irving Trust Co., RKO trustees, to accept or disaffirm leases and other contracts made by the company before it entered receivership in June, 1934, was extended yesterday to Jan. 1, 1938, by Federal Judge William Bondy in U. S. District Court. The Irving Trust Co. stated in its petition that all leases and contracts which have been brought to its attention have been acted upon, but asked for an extension of time because it was thought that certain agreements may have been overlooked. Yesterday's order was the sixth extention granted.

Dismiss 20th-Fox Complaint

The complaint in the $1,000,000 infringement action of the Foreign & Domestic Music Corp., Samuel Cummins, Societa Anonima Musicale Bixio and Cesare Andrea Bixio against 20th Century-Fox Movietone Music Corp., Sam and Harry Fox, Con Conrad, Herb Magidson and Nino Martini was dismissed on technical grounds by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert in the U. S. District Court yesterday with permission to the plaintiff to file an amended complaint within twenty days. The plaintiffs charged that Bixio's song, "Passa l'Amore" was infringed in the song "Midnight in Paris" in the picture, "Here's to Romance."

Joan Lowell Suit Dismissed

The $250,000 damage suit brought by Joan Lowell against the Van Beuren Corp. for personal injuries allegedly sustained during the South American filming of "Adventure Girl" was dismissed in the U. S. District Court yesterday by Federal Judge Murray Hulbert when the plaintiff failed to appear for trial of the action. Miss Lowell's attorney had requested an adjournment earlier this month because of his inability to communicate with her, but the request was denied on the ground that the trial had been delayed too long.

Film Prophecy

Microphotos are going to do odd things, according to R. H. Carruthers of the N. Y. Public Library, speaking before the Music Library Ass'n and the American Library Ass'n at Columbia University.

Tiny spools of film will record whole books which will be projected for readers. Music will be unwound in the same way, and whole communities will be able to learn rare music. Orchestras may even use music from tiny projectors instead of printed sheets, he says.

Files Bill in Warner Case

Virgil C. Crites filed a bill of particulars in U. S. District Court yesterday in connection with his suit against Warners, the United Research Corp., Albert A. Radtke, the Radtke Patent Corp., Leonard Day and Thomas J. Martin. Crites is suing to enjoin alleged infringement on patents covering sound recording and reproducing devices originally developed by Radtke while in the employ of the American Development and Operating Co., which has assigned its rights to Crites.

Roxy Bid to Continental

The Continental Bank & Trust Co. yesterday was named the lowest bidder for the right to act as trustee of the new indenture for the Roxy under the approved plan of reorganization by Judge Francis G. Caffey in the U. S. District Court. Five other banks and trust companies submitted sealed bids which were opened by Judge Caffey on Monday. Formal naming of the trustee is expected tomorrow when another hearing on the plan is scheduled.

$11,385 to $2,555; on tickets sold by brokers, from $27,202 to $13,179, and on admissions to roof gardens and cabarets, from $53,246 to $30,849. Receipts from tickets sold by proprietors in excess of established prices, however, increased from $10.36 to $1,804, and on permanent use or lease of boxes and seats from nothing to $385.

Total collections from the Third New York District dropped from $397,878 to $484,691, a loss of some $113,000, or more than twice the loss in admission tax collections from the country as a whole, which declined $52,000 from $1,589,682 to $1,537,119.

Loew Extends Partner Deals In Two Cities

ties now understood to be drafting contracts.

The second buy-in will affect one of Ed Fay's units in Providence. Joe Vogel, general manager for Loew's out-of-town theatres, has been there several times recently looking over the situation. It is reported Fay is due in town next week to work out terms.

Negotiations have been under way by Loew's and M. B. Shanberg and Herbert Wolff for a renewal of the 10-year lease on the Midland, Kansas City. The lease expires the end of the current season, but during the life of the contract no reduction in rent has ever been made. Loew's has lost heavily on the theatre during the past 10 years and indications are that when a new agreement is reached it will provide for a reduced rental figure.

Shanberg and Wolff were in town last week conferring with Loew home office executives and, while no terms have been set, there is every indication that a new long-term lease will be signed before the end of the summer.

Approve Capitol Land Buy

Early this week directors of Moredall Realty Co. approved the purchase of the land property of the Capitol, New York, for $1,500,000. Loew's has a 50 per cent interest in Moredall with Messmore Kendall and associates holding the other half. Moredall's 21-year lease on the land expires this fall, but with the outright buy of the land from the Wendell estate, this gives the holding company full ownership of the theatre and ground.

Loew's acquired the 50 per cent interest in the Capitol when the company absorbed Goldwyn Film Co. Extensive alterations will be made this summer, including a complete reseating of the theatre, a new front and other repairs. Approximately $200,000 will be spent on the reconditioning. No change in policy is planned.

Louis Sobol's "The Voice of Broadway" will run in the Sunday American, in addition to the afternoon newspaper as will W. S. Farnsworth's "The Sidewalks of New York" department.

Denver delegates will be picked up at La Junta. Men from Salt Lake City, Seattle, Portland, Ore. and San Francisco will go directly to Los Angeles.

En route, individual sales sessions will be held with home office executives. A number of surprises are planned on the way.

N. J. Allied Meeting

New Jersey exhibitors will meet today at the Berkeley Carteret, Asbury Park, to decide on the date for holding the Allied of New Jersey annual convention in Atlantic City. Indications are that the two-day meeting will be held the latter part of September.

Korda Expects To Close Deal In Few Weeks

Describes U.A. Buy As In "Advanced Stage"

By BRUCE ALLAN

LONDON, June 16.—The deal whereby Alexander Korda and Samuel Goldwyn will each become the owner of 50 per cent of United Artists was described by Korda, London Films head, here, as in an "advanced stage," and he declared it will be closed within a few weeks.

He expects to get $5,000,000 annually from the United States market, he said, and explained that London Films would not only get a half instead of a fifth share of U. A. profits, but also would gain by lower distribution costs, which he did not detail.

The London films to be distributed by U. A. in the United States would be 24 in a full year and 14 in 1937, including productions by associates of London Films, he said, and there

Extension of Ticket Tax Voted by Senate

By BERTRAM F. LINZ

WASHINGTON, June 24.—A two-year extension of the present admission tax was voted today by the Senate when it rejected an amendment proposed by the Finance Committee which would limit continuance of the so-called nuisance levies to one year. A two-year extension was provided for in the legislation as passed by the House of Representatives.

The admissions levy is one of the few nuisance taxes which returns an appreciable revenue, easy of collection and comparatively inexpensive to the Government. For the fiscal year which ends with this month, it is anticipated receipts will exceed $19,000,000 and run about $2,750,000 above the previous year.

Eastern Talent Pact Expected in Autumn

Capra "No Speak" on His Future Activity

Frank Capra arrived yesterday on the Rex from a seven-week vacation abroad in a "I no speak English" mood. Questioned by MOTION PICTURE DAILY on his relationship with Columbia, Capra smiled and uttered: "I no speak English."

Asked if he had any plans for future productions, Capra refused to comment other than to remind a reporter that a direct question put to him earlier was being switched around. He left for the Thousand Islands last night and may not return here before he returns to the Columbia studio to resume production.

Paramount to Sell 37 Films On Percentage

Paramount's sales policy for next season provides for 37 pictures on percentage and the balance of 21, which includes six westerns by Harry Sherman, on flat rentals.

The top group will consist of four features at 35 per cent, plus a split. The second group will be eight pictures at 30 per cent, plus a split. In the third group will be 10 films at 30 per cent with a reversion clause to 25 per cent if the stipulated figure is not reached. The last and lowest percentage bracket has 15 pictures listed at 25 per cent.

In addition to the feature lineup, Paramount will have 101 single reel shorts and one two-reeler. Also 104 issues of the newsreel.

"Souls at Sea" and "High, Wide and Handsome" will probably be placed in the 35 per cent brackets.

Iowa Towns Discard Games Pending Test

DAVENPORT, Ia., June 24.—Theatre managers in Moline and Rock Island, Ill., have decided to discard Bank Nights in both cities until after a decision has been given in the Bank Night test case brought against Isadore Brotman, manager of the Paradise in Moline, by Illinois State's Attorney F. C. King.

The information was filed on a charge of unlawfully maintaining a lottery. The Illinois Legislature passed a law against Bank Night at the last session.

Para's Stock Increase Plan Is Called Off

Meeting Lacks Required Two-Thirds for Vote

Paramount yesterday abandoned its plan to increase its authorized common stock from 4,500,000 shares to 6,000,000 shares when its proxy committee for the second time was unable to muster the required two-thirds of the voting stock for approval of the plan.

With only 60 per cent of the voting stock represented at the annual meeting of stockholders on June 15, action on the proposal was postponed until yesterday to give the proxy committee more time to obtain the additional stock necessary to put the proposal to a vote. However, there was represented at yesterday's meeting only 65 per cent of the voting stock, 64 per cent of which was in favor of the proposal and one per cent opposed, as contrasted with the 66 2/3 per cent required for its ratification.

Barney Balaban, Paramount president, said that, rather than again defer the meeting for a further solicitation of proxies, the proposal would not be re-submitted to the company's stockholders earlier than the next annual meeting, if it all. Balaban said that since there was no immediate need for the additional new shares, which were to have been held in the

UMPTO Now Seeking 20% Cancellations

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Part of the responsibility for dual bills is laid to producers in a resolution passed by the U.M.P.T.O. Short features make it expensive to build up a program on a single feature basis, it is claimed. For this reason the unit asks a 20 per cent cancellation privilege.

The resolution says producers have been turning out features of 58 minutes or less and that these features sometimes exceed 20 per cent of deliveries.

Lessing Nomination May End Bargaining

Hollywood, June 24.—With the naming of Charles Lessing, former F. M. P. C. leader, as the sole nominee for president of the scenic artists local a halt is foreseen in the negotiations between the producers and the brotherhood in which scenic artists, painters and makeup men are included.

It is understood here that Lessing was to have no further hand in the local affairs of the brotherhood when Pat Casey, producers' representative, made arrangements with the various locals to end the recent strike. George Browne, president of the I.A.T.S.E., who is strongly opposed to Lessing, may interfere to halt the wage scale conditions now being negotiated when news of the Lessing nomination leaks out.

Since Lessing is the sole nominee as head of the scenic artists his election is assured. The ballots must be returned by mail for counting at a general meeting of the scenic artists local on July 1st. Lessing is a New York man.

Teamsters Get Hostlers

Hollywood, June 24.—Following conferences between Aubrey Blair of the Screen Actors' Guild and Joseph P. Touhey of the Studio Drivers' Transportation local, "hostlers," the men who handle the horses for films, will pass under the jurisdiction of the Teamsters' International.

The I.A.T.S.E. has relinquished its claim on the handlers, and this clears up one of the points that the guild has been seeking to maintain—that hostlers do not appear as extras and riders when horses are rented by film companies. Under the agreement, the riders must all be members of the guild. The I.A.T.S.E. had claimed the hostlers as "prop" workers.

Mayor Would Aid In Fleischer Strike

Mayor LaGuardia yesterday offered his personal or official assistance in efforts to bring about a settlement of the Fleischer Studio strike during a conversation with Louis Nizer, attorney for Fleischer, it was learned.

Nizer, confirming Mayor LaGuardia's offer, said that it was made in the course of a "personal call." He said that as a result of the Mayor's suggestions he met yesterday with William Collins of the A. F. of L. and that, while nothing of a definite nature was developed, other meetings will be held.

Variety Club

Cleveland

Cleveland, June 24.—With trousers turned up to the knees and hat brims turned down as far as they could go, 50 Variety Club members teed off at the Beechmont Club just after a cloudburst that was the climax of a three-day rain.

The weather cleared up for the evening, however, and 250 members and guests sat down to dinner. This was the first golf tournament of the season.

M. B. Horwitz, chief barker, suffered the embarrassment of winning the membership low net prize. Further embarrassment prevailed with Jack Shulman and P. E. Essick, two members of the committee of three in charge of the affair, also won prizes. Henry Greenberger, chairman, upheld the honor of the committee by not winning anything.

Approximately 40 prizes were distributed after dinner. The evening entertainment consisted of keno, cards and, through the courtesy of Paramount, a preview screening of "Hotel Haywire."

The affair was such a success that a second tournament is to be held at the Manikik Club on July 19. P. E. Essick has been named chairman.

Kansas City

Kansas City, June 24.—Variety Club discontinued biweekly Monday luncheons June 21 due to heat and vacations. Assistant Chief Barker Finton Jones and entertainment committee chairman Senn Lawler, made the last one funny with their staging of a "school." Lawler gave Robert Carnie, Robert F. Withers, Rube Finkelstein, and Arthur Cole the same series of questions he used last week at the Fox Plaza's Thursday night Question Box program.

Barkers squirmed under the intellectual barrage, and the audience prompted so much Lawler made prompters trade places with squirmers. R. R. Biechele went in at second for Carnie; L. F. Durland substituted for Withers, and Freddie Meyn replaced Finkelstein, who went out a perfect score of "I don't knows." Cole won with his hands tied behind his back.

Tent 8's golfing best was invited to the national tourney at Pittsburgh in September by National President John Harris. Local barkers will have to compete in a special tournament this summer, since the annual picnic has been carried over till September this year.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Emperor's Candlesticks"

(M-G-M)

Hollywood, June 24.—William Powell and Luise Rainer talk a melodramatic romance. He is the suave, calculating conversationalist. Miss Rainer, demurely exotic, emphasizes her lines with eye movements. With the aid of process shots Vienna and several other European capitals are the locales. A story book atmosphere of political intrigue is the film's background.

Both are secret agents. He is carrying a message to St. Petersburg which means a countryman's freedom. The delivery of Miss Rainer's message means death. Both are secreted in trick candlesticks which Powell wants to transport but which Miss Rainer accomplishes. While they are talking themselves into love the candlesticks are stolen. There ensues a walking search and chase. Each buys one candlestick, when the two conspirators are discovered. Through a mixup Powell gets the candlestick holding his own death warrant but he outmaneuvers Miss Rainer to get his own message. The delivery of both messages to a magnanimous czar frees the condemned prisoner and paroles Powell and Miss Rainer in each other's custody as a reward for their resourceful courage.

Offsetting the Powell-Rainer dialogue is the romance between Robert Young and Maureen O'Sullivan which fails to flower. Frank Morgan's comedy is his characteristic jittery bewilderment but bits by Paul Porcasi and E. E. Clive drew spontaneous laughs. Other players have little of significance to do. People who like having books read to them will probably enjoy the film. At the same time the Powell-Rainer followers may like to see them in something different.

Production Code Seal No. 3,397. Running time, 90 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Ever Since Eve"

(Cosmopolitan-Warner)

"Ever Since Eve" may not take a place among the great masterpieces of the screen, but it qualifies as good entertainment with laughs scattered at frequent intervals, plenty of action and production values in the form of luxury settings, a Hawaiian restaurant with a ukulele band, and a Spanish fiesta with a marimba band and dancing.

Marion Davies has a dual role—as a beautiful secretary who can't keep her bosses' minds on their work and as a plain bespectacled secretary who is hired by a publishing house for the sole purpose of keeping a young author busy on his latest novel.

The author happens to be Robert Montgomery. He falls for the beautiful blonde when he sees her in a restaurant and thinks the girl who is making him work is a pain in the neck.

Patsy Kelly, as Miss Davies' roommate, and Allen Jenkins, as Miss Kelly's plumber boy friend, help her keep the identities separated as the romance develops. Louise Fazenda, a masculine type head of a publishing house, also contributes to the comedy.

Miss Davies knows her forte—light roles, lightly played—and she has been beautifully photographed. Montgomery furnishes the necessary appeal for the younger feminine elements of the audience.

Story values are not exactly weighty—or ponderous, as the press agents would prefer—but they're adequate, and Lloyd Bacon, the director, has done a good job with the material at hand.

Shearer Most Popular

Norma Shearer was voted the most popular film actress for the third consecutive year, in a survey of audience likes and dislikes conducted by the Bernstein circuit, operators of theatres throughout England. In the feminine division Myrna Loy and Greta Garbo took second and third places, respectively. Gary Cooper was voted the most popular masculine star, with Clark Gable second and Charles Laughton third.

Rogers was highly enthusiastic over the reception accorded the film in New York.

Short Subjects

"Braddock-Louis Fight"

(Novelty Pictures)

The fight fans will be highly pleased with these scenes of the recent bout. All the blows are clearly shown. There are closeups, long shots and fine angle clips from the ropes. In addition the many sounds of encouragement and comment are heard. The knockout gives film audiences a better view than many who attended in Comisky's ball yard had. It is repeated in slow-motion. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time 22 mins. "G."

"Stranger Than Fiction No. 37"

(Universal)

This reel contains particularly interesting material. It is composed of well selected items calculated to entertain—which they do. Included are scenes of a New York restaurant that is affected by powerful magnetic currents—the patrons must check their timepieces, a London woman who wakes up Limehouse residents by blowing peas against their windows, and an acrobatically inclined Florida letter carrier. Production Code Seal No. 01,465. Running time, 8½ mins. "G."

Korda Expects To Close Deal In Few Weeks

would be a complete interchange of stars with Hollywood. Denham, however would make some pictures for the British Empire only.

Discussing costs, he said the minimum spent on a big Hollywood picture was $1,000,000. London Films had grossed $2,100,000 on "The Scarlet Pimpernel," and $1,350,000 of it had come from abroad. He said he expected a similar success with "The Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel," with the new English-Australian star Barry K. Barnes.

Korda has discussed color production with Dr. Kalmus at Denham. "Tempest Within," "Mutiny in the Mountains" and "Bicycle Built for Two" are already scheduled to be made in Technicolor at Denham. The first is a Merle Oberon vehicle and the second stars Sabu, Indian boy star of "Elephant Boy." In the third Edna Best and Ralph Richardson have the leads. London Films, however, is not adopting an all-color policy.

Charlie Chaplin may make "Regency" at Denham, it was stated by Korda, who saw in it another instance of the increased liaison with Hollywood which will lead to Goldwyn staging certain scenes of "The Goldwyn Follies" in London and to Walter Wanger bringing over Sylvia Sidney and Charles Boyer for a picture.

William Wyler and Lewis Milestone may be loaned to London Films and a possibility of Frank Capra becoming a United Artists director, and using Denham, was hinted by Korda.

MBS Now Guarantees Time On All Stations to Sponsors

CHICAGO, June 24.—More than 30 representatives of the Mutual network held the semi-annual meeting of the chain here today in the Hotel Sherman. Sales and program problems occupied the major portion of the meeting, and out of the conference came these developments:

1.—For the first time, Mutual now is able to offer definite guaranteeable periods on all stations for commercial programs.

2.—An improved and enlarged sustaining service from all affiliated stations which will bring the feature special events, as announced.

3.—Announcement also was made of three new sponsored cooperative programs for the stations on the network, starting next fall. The sponsors were not identified.

4.—Plans were made to more closely unite the present group of stations and consideration was given to the addition of stations in new territories.

Fred Weber, general manager of Mutual, presided and in his address stated that with the cooperation of the member stations it was now possible for the sales staff to offer guaranteed time to national advertisers for their commercial programs. Previously, every effort was made to clear time on the various member stations, but under the new plan the stations will move local programs to accommodate the chain shows during certain hours of the day.

company's treasury for future corporate expansion and a program of debt reduction, "the management deemed it wiser to defer to the opinions of many of the stockholders who, while voting in favor of the proposal, have urged that the plan be postponed until more specific purposes for the additional shares could be determined."

Charges of manipulation of Paramount stock in the market, which fanned the June 15 meeting to excitement, were renewed yesterday by Dr. I. Chestman, who, on the basis of recent S.E.C. reports, moved that Paramount file an action against Stanton Griffis and Maurice Newton, directors of the company, and the brokerage firms with which they are associated—Hemphill, Noyes & Co. and Hallgarten & Co., respectively—to recover any profits which may have resulted from the alleged manipulations. The motion was voted down by 1,100 to 550, with the Paramount proxy committee, representing more than 3,700,000 shares, not voting.

Keough in Defense

Balaban suggested to Dr. Chestman, who had asked whether profits had actually been made, that the information and action he sought was within the province of the S.E.C. Replying for Griffis, who was not present, Austin Keough, Paramount secretary, recalled that Griffis had stated at the June 15 meeting that neither he nor his firm had profited by the transactions complained of, which, it was stated, were the usual commission ones.

Balaban, replying to another question by Chestman, said that it was he who had first proposed the increase in authorized common stock.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Love in a Bungalow"

(Universal)

Hollywood, June 24.—An innocuous little comedy-romance, this picture should find a spot in the lower bracket of dual bill programs. It is a light and breezy affair with a handful of laughs and of no particular consequence or significance.

Nan Grey and Kent Taylor share the leads under the direction of Ray McCarey. The two players work hard, but there is comparatively little they can do to bring the film out of the minor league. Louise Beavers contributes a bit of comedy, as do Hobart Cavanaugh as a hen-pecked husband and Florence Lake as a chattering mother.

Miss Grey is the hostess in a model bungalow, Miss Beavers the servant. One morning Miss Grey finds Taylor in bed when she comes to work, and he completely disarms her with his likable personality. Despite her efforts to get rid of him, he persists, and she falls in love with him, while they dodge the periodic visits of the owner of the property. In a thoughtless moment they enter a letter contest for the happiest married couple, and win.

Then their troubles start as they attempt to pose as a married couple with two children to receive the prize from the donor at their "home." At the last moment, the show is given away, but to save bad publicity, the prize is awarded, and they decide to become the happily married couple.

Production Code Seal No. 3,300. Running time, 66 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Dangerous Holiday"

(Republic)

A child actor, who is at the same time entirely competent with the violin, is the star of this unpretentious and uninspired independent effort, which is suitable only for the secondary half of a double bill program.

The youngster, Ra Hould, is attractive, but his English accent is a bit heavy for the average American patron and he fails to compensate for that drawback with a completely natural performance before the cameras. He appears to be too conscious of the fact that he is acting, a fault which he may correct in time. The supporting cast includes no salable names, featuring Guinn Williams, Hedda Hopper, William Bakewell and Franklin Pangborn, among others.

The screenplay by Nicholas Barrows, who also directed, from an crinigal by Karen DeWolf and Barry Shipman, tell of the boy violinist who serves as chief support, via radio, films and the like, to a crowd of family leeches. Given no opportunity to enjoy himself as other boys do, he runs away, changes clothes with a scarecrow and begins to realize what he has missed. He is believed kidnapped, and while the police spread a net for him, he falls in with Williams, member of a gang which is suspected of having abducted him.

The boy shows up at the mountain resort which is the gang's hide-out, suddenly reveals his identity as the missing boy, and is about to be actually taken by the gang, when Williams saves him, and the police walk in to capture the gang.

Prices Increasing At Omaha Houses

Omaha, June 24.—A new top for neighborhood prices has been reached here with Ralph Goldberg's Military charging 30 cents, only 10 cents under the downtown top. The general level of prices for neighborhoods has been raised during the last six months. All but a very few are charging a 25-cent top, and only two drop to 10 cents three days a week.

The number of houses remaining open has set a new summer high here, and no managers are contemplating a shutdown. Some exhibitors are viewing with alarm the triple-feature policy inaugurated by Goldberg in five of his houses on one change a week. None of the other owners has been stampeded into following suit, however.

France, Reich Renew Pact; Include Withdrawal Option

By PIERRE AUTRE

PARIS, June 25.—The French Journal Officiel today published the text of a new film agreement between France and Germany. The terms of the agreement were contained in letters exchanged on June 15 between Yvon Delbos, French Affairs Foreign Secretary, and Comte de Wekczeck, German Ambassador in Paris.

The two Governments have agreed that the arrangement shall constitute a renewal for one year of the Franco-German film agreement signed originally on May 12, 1936, effective June 1, last. Each side shall have the privilege of withdrawing from the agreement on Dec. 31, 1937.

In view of the fact that the French industry has had poor results with its activities in Germany during the past 1936-'37 season, the German Government promises in the agreement to assist in the importation of French films to the Reich, and the sale and distribution of them. The German Government also will favor all contacts between the French and German film trade organizations, especially the Reichfilmkammer.

Allied Drops Move to Talk With Majors

Steffes Says Drive Is for Laws' Regulation

MINNEAPOLIS, June 25. — Allied States has abandoned its proposal for a round-table conference on trade practice complaints with major company heads and is "once again rededicating itself with purposeful single-mindedness to its program of authorship and championing of trade reform legislation," W. A. Steffes, who heads the Allied Defense committee, said today.

Steffes declared that the proposed meeting with company heads could not be realized because responses to his invitations did not represent all of the companies, whereas the problems which "Allied wanted to discuss were industry problems and not individual." He said that of those who were asked to meet with Allied representatives, only Al Lichtman, vice-president of Loew's, conferred with him and agreed to meet and discuss the Allied grievances "or to set up possibly permanent machinery for the continuation of any necessary adjustment."

The Steffes-Lichtman conference was held last Monday in Chicago, in advance of the Louis-Braddock fight.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"Between Two Women"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, June 25.—Hospitals and the physical and mental anguish they house have proven good background for film stories. The commercial success of some of the previous good ones demonstrates that they interest many people. M-G-M, aware of this, has added another to the growing list. "Between Two Women" is well produced and acted with no production or narrative details necessary to establish the required emotional mood. The film, though somewhat drawn out, is strongly interesting.

Thematically, the story concentrates on the virtue-must-triumph idea. Franchot Tone, a doctor, is attached to Maureen O'Sullivan, who is married. Tone marries Virginia Bruce, a wealthy patient. For the time things are pleasant, but Tone's devotion to his professional duty arouses Miss Bruce's selfish jealousy. The dramatic character of the story develops when Miss O'Sullivan's worthless husband, Anthony Nace, dies as a result of Leonard Penn's bungling. Tone's sympathy for the widow widens the breech between him and Miss Bruce. She plans to run away with Penn, their mutual friend. Both are injured in an accident. Tone performs a remarkable operation on Penn as Charles Grapewin saves Miss Bruce's beauty. Unwilling to have anything to do with a man who devotes his life to the service of humanity, Miss Bruce divorces Tone, permitting him to go to Miss O'Sullivan. Both dedicate themselves to a life of service in easing human suffering.

Tone, Miss O'Sullivan and Miss Bruce give strong, convincing performances. They are effectively supported by Penn, Grapewin, Nace, Janet Beecher and Cliff Edwards. Erich Von Stroheim's original story is a serious study of human emotions under trying conditions. Frederick Stephani and Marian Parsonnet emphasize that quality in their adaptation, as does George Seitz in the direction.

Levy Outlines New Conn. Theatre Laws

NEW HAVEN, June 25.—Addressing a meeting of The Connecticut M. P. T. O. Edward G. Levy, executive secretary, summarized the action of the recent legislative session with respect to bills affecting theatres. He pointed out that one measure changed the phraseology of the general statutes with reference to assessment and collection of the existing amusement tax based on seating.

While formerly the exhibitor made out a return indicating the number of days he operated and the number of seats in his theatre, mailing the return to the tax commissioner who sent the exhibitor a bill based on the return, the exhibitor now assesses himself the amount he owes and sends his check with the return.

Levy called attention to the fact that until the closing of the legislature there was danger of the passage of the 10 per cent amusement tax, since the Governor recommended enactment to supply the deficit in the budget. Variously phrased two-men-in-a-booth bills were passed by the Senate but rejected by the House. Sunday vaudeville and theatricals bills with local option also were passed.

cigarettes and newspaper advertising are also included. The bill was passed despite the signed protests of 350,000 citizen opponents. The mayor will undoubtedly sign the measure.

If the bill becomes law, it is probable that the people will demand a popular vote on the measure which is expected to cost local theatres $500,000 annually.

N. E. "Sucker" Deals Lead, States Allied

BOSTON, June 25.—"More sucker deals" were made in New England with major distributors by independents than in any other territory, according to a statement from Arthur K. Howard, business manager of Independent Exhibitors, Inc., Allied affiliate.

Howard said: "The sales survey conducted by the Allied State Ass'n included returns from approximately 500 exhibitors in 29 territories. Although there were some smart contracts written in New England, this territory registered more sucker deals than any other.

"The percentage, preferred playing time, shorts and score charges, received the best play here."

Comment in the Allied survey referring to New England was: "Despite the high average of literacy in New England this territory supplied the highest average of defective and incomplete returns of any. However, educated people are often impatient and there is such a thing as being too smart."

Adolph Zukor and Barney Balaban of Paramount; Leo Spitz, RKO; S. R. Kent, 20th Century-Fox; George J. Schaefer, United Artists; Charles R. Rogers, Universal; Harry Cohn, Columbia; H. M. Warner, Warners, and Nicholas M. Schenck, Loew's.

Steffes said that he had received "some replies" from these, "some of them rather evasive, some of them willing to have their attorneys meet, others willing to designate someone else to meet, and some of the companies ignoring the letter entirely."

Steffes said that since the time set by Allied for acceptance of his bid—June 22—had expired, and that all of the companies had not agreed to meet with the Allied representatives, "there is no need of any further meetings with those who are willing to meet us," as Allied has industry, not company, grievances to discuss.

"There is only one thing for Allied States," Steffes said, "and that is to more aggressively sponsor state and national legislation as, in my opinion, producer-distributor representatives are not ready as yet for round-table conferences."

Allied's legislative program calls for renewed support of the Neely-Pettengill anti-block booking bill and the introduction in state legislatures of theatre "divorce" and chain tax measures. The organization's decision to seek a meeting with company heads to endeavor to obtain trade practice concessions and voluntary abandonment of affiliated theatres was made at Allied's national convention in Milwaukee in May.

tle the various differences which have arisen.

Milton H. Frankfurt of the law firm of Kadel, Van Kirk and Trencher, made an application to Judge Caffey to permit Roemer-Kenny Co. and George Garrson to enter the reorganization proceedings in order to secure allowance for brokerage fees. Frankfurt stated that his client had effected the sale of the Roxy to 20th Century-Fox. Judge Caffey refused to make a ruling in the absence of written motion papers.

Formal naming of the trustee under the new indenture was also postponed, but it was learned from attorneys that Judge Caffey's naming of the Continental Bank & Trust Co. earlier this week as the lowest bidder is taken to mean that Continental will be named the trustee.

C.E.A. Completing Its Quota Answer

C. E. A., yesterday wired the organization's sympathetic support to the deputation of independent distributors and producers which is opposing the cost clause in the proposed quota before the Board of Trade. The opposition contention is that the cost clause threatens a product shortage and unemployment as the result of the closing of small theatres.

They suggested that a quota qualification should follow the minimum number of bookings of any British picture or that the percentage should follow the value of imports.

Capt. Euan Wallace, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, in his reply, stated that the present Government draft of the new Films Act, in which the quota is included, is not necessarily final.

The Assn. of British Sound Recording Systems has written to the Board of Trade alleging a monopoly and the exploitation of foreign sound systems which, they claim, increase the cost of British films. They have requested a 17½ per cent reduction in the minimum cost if pictures are recorded on a British system.

It is forecast that the C. E. A. is seeking a liaison with the Film Group of the F. B. I. through the latter's independent members, with the object of fostering a safeguarding provision if the cost clause is maintained. The safeguard would include a quota scaled on a basis of an adequate supply of British films for the intensely competitive six-theatre areas.

There is a possibility of the establishment of a British bloc on this basis, opposing reciprocity because of the ease of evasion and also the double cost quota provision, unless there is a proportionate concession to exhibitors.

Fox Wins Against S. & C.

Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson yesterday rendered a decision in favor of Fox Film Corp. in an action for damages for copyright infringement against Springer & Cocalis, but reserved decision on the amount of damages to be awarded the plaintiff.

Harry Buxbaum, E. C. Grainger and Joe Lee testified for the plaintiff. The case involved the alleged switching of "Our Little Girl" and "Under the Pampas Moon" from the defendants' Interboro to another theatre operated by them, which Fox contended, through Louis Nizer, its attorney, was unauthorized and constituted "bicycling."

Warners File Objection

Objections to the taking of further testimony before trial were filed yesterday by Warners and M. Witmark & Sons in the suit brought against them in U. S. District Court by Irving Gielow, who charges infringement of three songs, "Flirtation Walk," "Mr. and Mrs. Is the Name," and "I Can't Believe" in the Warner picture, "Flirtation Walk." The defendants objected to taking further testimony as unnecessary. The action is for a permanent injunction, damages and an accounting of profits.

Martin to apply for the cancellation of the ancillary receivership of the Fox Theatres Corp. in Pennsylvania and to apply for the discharge of William E. Atkinson and R. Product Study In England Is Seen of Value

Insurance Probe to Halt Bad Producer Risks

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, June 27.—Although there is apparently little likelihood of serious repercussions resulting, the intensive study of production financing which has been undertaken by W. C. Crocker, London attorney, on behalf of a number of English insurance companies, is expected to halt the flood of small producers who have made pictures with little capital and then gone out of business.

Insurance companies are said to have lost approximately £3,000,000 on British production last year. Crocker is noted as the leading figure in the long and painstaking investigation which uncovered the activities of an arson plot in London. He is understood to be undertaking the present study for several clients who are in Lloyd's.

It has been learned that the investigation is being made as the result of the refusal to pay the original insurer by several reinsurance com-

Midwest Next In Expansion For Circuits

Report Two Considering Independent Deal

With Loew's, RKO and Metropolitan having completed theatre deals in the east, and United Artists Theatre Circuit in a partnership arrangement with Robb & Rowley in Texas, further expansion moves by major circuits are expected to be directed to the midwest, it was learned over the weekend.

Two major theatre interests are understood negotiating a deal to either acquire or purchase a 50 per cent share in a midwest circuit operated by a prominent independent exhibitor. A former major theatre head also is reported after the same circuit.

One of the affiliated theatre groups is headed by brothers who started in the exhibition business in the city where the houses are located. The second circuit has discussed a deal for the houses involved, but could not get together because of a difference on the question of who would operate provided a partnership agreement were concluded.

The former operating head of one of the large circuits recently has been active in production on the coast and is planning a comeback in exhibition. He is reported to be backed by a major distributor with theatre affiliations. The company reputed to be sponsoring the exhibitor has denied it is concerned in any way with the individual's negotiations.

Omaha, June 27.—The Nebraska Supreme Court yesterday called a halt to Bank Night in Omaha by granting a temporary injunction against operation of the game.

Insiders' Outlook

By RED KANN

HITLER is in a stew again. An old practice of his, it might be remarked. This time, he's kicking his heels over an article which appeared recently in The Manchester Guardian and which drew the conclusion various art forms in Germany were not what they used to be. Thereafter, the Reich's propaganda department, one of the busiest institutions in that controlled land, got busy and caused the Berliner Tageblatt, once a great newspaper, to prepare the rebuttal. . . .

"With the well-known German thoroughness we have assembled figures," goes on the Tageblatt and this is what it has found out:

> More of the public went to motion pictures in 1936 than in 1932.
> More individuals were employed in the film industry.
> Radio audiences doubled.
> A greater number of theatres active and a greater number of plays which make it Q.E.D. that more performers were employed.

That makes everything just dandy through those persistent, rose-colored Teutonic glasses. However, by the regimentation that plays so essential a part in the German existence today, it may be more of the public are going to picture shows (1) because they are seeking escape and think they may find it or (2) because the hint has been dropped they had better—or you know what. In a state where films bow to the beck and call of the boys sitting in the saddle, there can be less films or more films made, dependent upon the whim of the minute. When nobody much worries whether the film industry, as a commercial enterprise, is solvent or otherwise, all other factors mean nothing. Berlin appears to be grinding 'em out and worrying later, if at all, about the balance sheet. On a plan such as this, obviously the employment curve will ascend. Ditto, on stage plays. . . .

So the radio audience has doubled, has it? We wonder exactly how the tally was arrived at. And, being magnanimous about it long enough to accept the dope on its face value, could it not be that many dialers are pretty busy endeavoring to pick up foreign stations for the low-down? Or listening to that mobile broadcasting unit which has been telling some of the truth to the rank and file and, by the doing, getting the Nazi administration a trifle screwier than usual? "Art in Germany is not nearing death," says the defender of the German ideology, "but, as in no other place in the world, really belongs to the people." We wonder what an honest referendum would reveal. . . .

Protest Flag Use at Opening of "Marine"

Street and Sewer Dept. ordered them down this morning. Franch C. Sparks, head of the department, said that the decorations were put up without the permission of his board which has jurisdiction over such installations. The City Council at a recent meeting, however, had granted the Aldine permission to hire the street decorations for use in connection with the premiere of the film.

A resolution denouncing the use of the flag for commercial purposes was adopted last night at the annual encampment of the V.F.W.

"Marine" Bookings Total 189

Warners report 189 bookings already set on "The Singing Marine" for July 4. The film opens at the Broadway Strand on Wednesday.

has been designated as "Anti-Paramount month" and exhibitors have been requested not to play the distributor's pictures or enter its exchange. Theatres disobeying the edict, including Warners, will be picketed. The U.M.P.T.O. has erected a large sign on its Vine St. office designating the premises as strike headquarters against Paramount.

The board of directors of the theatre organization has also decided to ask Paramount for deductions on last year's product, claiming that many members lost money. It is also preparing a law suit to secure the release of "Souls at Sea" and "High, Wide and Handsome," supposedly on the current program but held over until 1937-1938.

Lewen Pizor, Charles Segall and Dave Barrist will attend the Washington protest meeting on Tuesday. The protest parade to the Paramount exchange has been deferred until their return.

Wood Urges Ohio ITO To Delay Para. Buys

Washington, June 27.—Exhibitors are being exhorted by P. J. Wood of the I.T.O. of Ohio, to refrain from signing new contracts with Paramount until after the protest meeting at the Carlton Hotel here on Tuesday, at which representatives of numerous exhibitor organizations are scheduled to act on the alleged switching of six Paramount pictures from last year's contract to the 1937-'38 one.

The six pictures which Wood charges were sold last year and will not be delivered, but will be re-sold on the new season contract are "High, Wide and Handsome," "Souls at Sea," "Artists and Models," "Angel," "Spawn of the North" and "The Count of Luxembourg." He also charges that higher prices will be asked by Paramount for these pictures on the new contract than they were sold for last season.

A tour of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & R. R. Co.'s plant and qualifying rounds for the convention golf tournament are on the afternoon program, with social events carded for the evening.

The Tuesday business session will be devoted primarily to talks and an open forum on unfair trade practices, committee reports and the annual election of officers. The annual banquet and dance will be held Tuesday evening. O. C. Lam of Rome, Ga., is chairman of the convention committee.

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"New Faces"

(RKO Radio)

Hollywood, June 27.—Lavishly produced, this revue literally pushes forward on the sheer weight of its numerous outstanding cast personalities and top-heavy credit list of writers and tunesmiths.

Primarily a series of specialty acts, the picture also has its thread of story which, however, does not come to the fore often enough to become a real factor. Joe Penner, Milton Berle, Parkyakarkas, Harriet Hilliard, and Jerome Cowan dominate the proceedings, while seven different specialty acts are effectively spotted, with Derry Deane, the Three Choclateers and Lowe, Hite and Stanley showing to the best advantage.

Eight musical numbers, credited to various authors, are used, several of which may advance to the popular lists. Show girls are used advantageously in novelty routines, staged by Sammy Lee.

Leigh Jackson directed and Edward Small produced. The picture is massive in construction and may best be sold by concentrating on its cast names. It appears to be a natural for de luxe houses but will, of course, do well wherever musicals are popular.

Production Code Seal No. 3,251. Running time, 102 minutes. "G."

"I Cover the War"

(Universal)

Hollywood, June 27.—A rip-roaring action melodrama with comedy highlights which place it above its class, "I Cover the War" brings in a new John Wayne who combines he-manliness with a serio-comedy vein that win more feminine patrons to films of this type. The picture has fact action, a believable and plausible plot of newsreel cameramen, excellent suspense and a try for natural comedy woven through a story of a native uprising against Britain in one of her colonies. Trem Carr and his associate, Paul Malvern, gave the production an excellent mounting. The photography by Harry Newmann stands out.

Wayne and Don Barclay, crack newsreel cameramen, are assigned to Samari to obtain film of the native revolt chief. They encounter difficuties with the leaders of the British army post there, who suspect some of the cameramen of smuggling guns to the natives. The pair unwittingly aid the rebel chieftain and later obtain pictures of him, although they are captives. They escape and drive, wounded, into the army post to warn, by means of a sound track on the film, of the rebel ambush. Help is dispatched and the natives are put down. Love interest is capably supplied by Gwen Gaze, who, as the daughter of the British army post head, makes her American film debut.

Production Code Seal No. 3,302. Running time, 65 minutes. "G."

Looking 'Em Over

"Tales from the Vienna Woods"

(Viennese Film Co.)

In addition to its gay, romantic story this film offers a liberal quantity of melodious Strauss music. The English subtitles serve well enough to interpret the story, but they are too far apart. It is pleasantly entertaining throughout. Foe Mondial, an Austrian company, produced.

A young count who is broke inherits an old castle. His friend prevails upon him to sell it to a rich American girl who is coming to Vienna. The mistaken identity theme is worked on her arrival and the rest is a round of parties, flirtations, singing and finally the romantic difficulties are agreeably settled. There is not a serious note in the whole film.

Of the cast Magda Schneider is the only name familiar here. Leo Slezak, another lead, gives a robust comedy performance in a W. C. Fields vein. Others include Wolf Albach-Retty, George Alexander, Truus Von Aalten and Oscar Sabo. The Strauss theme is played delightfully.

Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 85 minutes. "G."

Short Subjects

"Big League"

(Van Beuren-Radio)

The multitude of baseball fans will welcome this short. It shows the various teams and personalities of the national game doing their stuff in winter training quarters. It is well filmed and enlighteningly narrated. Reviewed without production code seal. Running time, 11 mins. "G."

"Rhythm of the Game"

(Rice-Paramount)

Professor Ted Husing tests the audience by running the varied sounds connected with different sports. He lets them guess and then pictures the particular activity. It is interesting material, entertainingly done. Production Code Seal No. 01,637. Running time, 10 minutes. "G."

"The Impractical Joker"

(Fleischer-Paramount)

Betty Boop is is driven frantic by the tomfoolery of an imbecilic character. She finally sets her grandfather after him, and when he is taken through the mill he winds up in the garbage can. It is fast moving comedy with clever animation. Production Code Seal No. 01,342. Running time, 7 minutes. "G."

"Paramount Pictorial P 6-12"

(Paramount)

Produce Film in Cuba

Washington, June 27.—It is understood that the Royal Advertising News Co. of Havana is now producing a feature depicting the exploits of "Chan Li Po," a fictitious Chinese detective radio character of high popularity in Cuba, according to a report to the U. S. Dept. of Commerce from Assistant Trade Commissioner John P. Hoover.

The film, which will probably be from 6,000 to 8,000 feet in length, will be enacted by local actors.

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—ABE MONTAGUE, general sales manager, supervised the group meetings aboard the convention special and helped put everyone in the proper frame of mind.

JOE McCONVILLE never lost his geniality all during the trip west. He listened to everyone's speeches and then spent most of the time after his arrival polishing up his brief message to the lads.

BILL BRENNAN, print department manager, was making his first trip to the coast and wanted to know: "Is it true what they say about Hollywood?" He found out the answer.

Mideastern Division Manager SAM GALANTY proved to be the Beau Brummel of the trip, as usual.

SAM LIGGETT, head of the non-theatrical department, had a fund of swell stories that kept the smoking room gang going all the way out. And he was the saddest guy in the lot when he realized, upon his arrival, that he had told all his yarns—and no one wanted to hear them a second time.

One of the highlights of the trip was LEO JAFFEE talking to himself. When RUBE JACKTER asked him about it, Leo said: "I'm counting up to 10,000,000. They'll ask me a lot of questions about figures out on the coast and I want to be sure I know them all."

Pittsburgh Stations Reap Strike Harvest

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—The biggest break the five Pittsburgh radio stations have ever had was the two-day strike of the newspaper mailers' union, during which time publication of the Post-Gazette, the Press and the Sun-Telegraph was suspended. KDKA, WCAE, WJAS, KQV and WWSW were all swamped with spot announcements, in most cases more than they could handle, with the department stores as chief buyers, and the average business at all five stations for the two-day period was more than quadrupled.

In most cases, all sustaining programs were temporarily suspended in order to allow for more time for announcements and sponsors presenting one news broadcast a day increased the number to two, three and four daily.

The theatres went in heavily for radio advertising as well, using quarter-hour and half-hour programs as well as the regular spot shots.

WBT Takes Ad Space In Telephone Books

CHARLOTTE, June 27.—A neat advertising idea made its bow on the front cover of the Charlotte, N. C., Asheville, N. C., and Lincolnton, N. C., telephone directories this week. A space one-by-two inches in size on the edge of the ad shows the WBT vertical transmission tower on a blue background, with a white banner blowing on which is printed in big letters "WBT."

Healy Gets Show Cause Order

Ted Healy was ordered by Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey on Saturday to show cause in the U.S. District Court on July 16 why his claim against Harry G. panies. Last year numerous inexperienced individuals entered production by means of finance through insurance. The money was advanced by banks and the insurance companies shared their risks with other companies.

Now, with claims made for the losses of the inexperienced producers, the reinsurers are complaining that in some cases the money was not expended on the purpose for which it was raised. It is said that firms which had run out of money raised more by the insurance of a new film and used the finances to finish the previous production.

In general it is viewed in the industry as a good thing that these small producers have failed, since their mistakes caused production costs to rocket. It is possible that legal proceedings may follow Crocker's inquiry, but there is little indication of any serious reactions.

The opposition is being presented in collaboration with the National Film Carriers Ass'n. It is estimated that approximately half of the theatres in this country use motor film delivery service and would be adversely affected by the adoption of the proposed I.C.C. regulation.

Opposition to the proposed plan of reorganization for RKO was attacked as coming from "an insignificant minority" by H. C. Rickaby, attorney for the Atlas Corp., proponent of the plan, in his summation in the last hearing on the plan yesterday before Special Master George W. Alger.

Rickaby charged that less than 10 per cent of the outstanding common stock held by others than the Atlas Corp. and RCA had filed objections to the plan in contrast to the unanimous approval of creditors and a large portion of stockholders.

Fortington Is Out as Member Of Para. Board

Resignation Accepted; Officers Reelected

The resignation from the Paramount board of H. A. Fortington, former chairman of the executive committee and a storm center preceding the election of Barney Balaban to the company's presidency a year ago, was accepted by the Paramount board of directors at their annual meeting yesterday.

Looking 'Em Over

"The Hoosier Schoolboy"

(Monogram)

Fine entertainment for the family trade. Here is a down-to-earth story that borders on the tear-jerking, but is nevertheless moving. It also serves as another step forward for Mickey Rooney. His featured role affords acting possibilities that he emerges from with distinction.

It is a simple tale, set in a small Indiana town. Young Rooney is a problem child due to the influences of other children. They annoy him with references to his father, a shell-shocked veteran who has taken to drink. Anne Nagel, the new school teacher, arrives and proceeds to rehabilitate the two. She sees their better sides and with their mutual cooperation her aim is accomplished. The story has a milk strike as background. Rooney's father obtains a job and is gaining his self-respect again. However, one night when he attempts to drive a truck past a barricade he is killed in a smashup. Rooney is overwrought with grief but he sees that his father died a hero—his death settled the strike—and he goes to live with William Gould, the owner of a dairy. It is all properly sentimental and touching. Romance is injected into the story by Frank Shields and Miss Nagel.

The supporting cast includes Edward Pawley, who is excellent as Rooney's father, and Fred A. Kelsey. William Nigh directed. The screenplay and dialogue are credited to Robert Lee Johnson.

Production Code Seal No. 3,483. Running time, 62 minutes. "G."

"Storm in a Teacup"

(London Films-United Artists)

LONDON, May 19.—Bruno Frank's German play has been given a Scottish setting in this Victor Saville production for London Films, co-directed by Saville and Ian Dalrymple. The transposition has not affected entertainment values, which are original in idea and presentation, and the acting of the British cast is on a high level. It is definitely and consistently entertainment and has real exploitation values.

The Provost, or mayor, of a small Scottish town, in making a career for himself as a leader of a Scottish national party, comes up against the reporter of a local paper who, already prejudiced by the pomposity of the politician, seizes on the fact that a widow's dog has been condemned to the lethal chamber in default of payment of his license in order to publish a slashing attack on the Provost. A public agitation follows, the Provost is shouted down at a public meeting and a dinner which he is giving to a party leader is interrupted by scores of dogs of all shapes and breeds being let loose in his house. The reporter is sent for trial for defamation, but the Provost's daughter loves him and it ends in a climb-down by the politician.

Very well staged and directed, the picture rests its main appeal on the realism of the scene of the interrupted meeting and on the humor of the court scene. Better crowd work has never been seen in a British picture. All the character types are well drawn and well presented and the dialogue and adaptation generally, the work of the Scottish dramatist, James Bridie, are excellent. Vivien Leigh and Rex Harrison are the juvenile leads; there is fine work from Cecil Parker as the Provost and Sara Allgood as the widow dog-owner and all minor parts are good.

With the exploitation angle that the original play was written with a humanitarian motive, the author giving his fees to an animal-protection society, it is a picture which, as a sheer laugh-maker, stands well above the British average. It offers many opportunities for effective tieups. If the British reception is any guide, it will be a laughing success in any theatre that plays it.

Running time, 82 minutes. "G."

G. N. Ready with 12

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.—Grand National will have a summer schedule of 12 pictures shooting in the next two months. Set to go are: "Something to Sing About," "Here's Flash Casey," "Government Agent," "Wallaby Jim of the Islands," "Renfrew of the Mounted," "Face the Facts," "Return of the Shadow," a second Wallaby Jim feature, "So This Is Hollywood," "Painter in the Sky," a Tex Ritter western, and "Gorgeous."

Columbia 60% Sold, Sales Force Told announce the new product for the 1937-'38 season at the convention tomorrow.

The sessions were opened by Harry Cohn, president, who introduced Jack Cohn. The latter congratulated the men on their records.

The meeting was told today that four Frank Capra pictures, "Lady for a Day," "Broadway Bill," "It Happened One Night" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," will be offered for immediate release in advance of the new season. The four films will be sold on a special contract basis, and an advertising campaign will be launched for them.

Columbia's $1,500,000 studio expansion program has been completed, the convention was informed, and virtually doubles the plant's previous production capacity. In a little more than a year, it was said, Columbia has replaced 90 per cent of the buildings on the lot, and has acquired more than 50,000 additional square feet of stage space. Among the new buildings recently completed are an office building of four stories for executives, accounting and business departments, directors, writers and the publicity department; a new sound recording and dubbing studio, a new garage and repair shop, a four-story dressing room building, a portrait studio, a studio hospital, electrical, scenic and carpenter shops, and others.

Shorts Department Moved

The short subject department has been moved to an annex studio, with one large stage and a special building for directors, writers and players.

Now in work are "It's All Yours," "I'll Take Romance" and "The Awful Truth," and several other features are about ready to go before the cameras.

Writer Jurisdiction Negotiations Begin

Playwrights, read a statement at the conference in the office of Dr. Towne Nylander, board director, that the Playwrights objected to a consent election because the organization is already recognized by the producers and holds an agreement governing working conditions of writers in the studios. Underlying all was the fact that the Guild and the Playwrights differed over writers' qualifications to vote in such a poll.

The Playwrights action means that formal hearings must be held by the labor board under Nylander some time after August 15 because of press of other business. The procedure is that the board, after the hearings, may determine which group shall be recognized by the producers or that an election should be held. A consent election would have eliminated governmental red tape in connection with such cases.

Aaron Dollinger Dies

Maplewood, N. J., June 28.—Aaron Dollinger, who with his son, Irving, operated the Plaza, Linden, and held an interest in the Ritz, Newark, now under Warner management, succumbed to a heart attack on Saturday and was buried yesterday. He was about 65. In addition to his son, Dollinger is survived by a widow, a daughter and a sister.

Amsterdam, June 18.—The Dutch board of censorship has decreased the fees to be paid for the censorship of newsreels, either domestic or foreign, from 3½ cents to one cent per meter.

Vacate "Theodora" Injunction in N. O.

New Orleans, June 28. — Judge Byrnes today vacated the temporary injunction sought by the United Theatres circuit to restrain Columbia from releasing "Theodora Goes Wild" to any but United houses. As the matter now stands, Columbia can release the film to opposition houses. However, distribution of "When You're in Love" and "Lost Horizon" must await a separate court decision. Costs have been assessed on United.

The court has allowed United to submit an amended petition clarifying their charges but the belief here is that the case will be dropped, since court expenses and attorneys' fees will consume the proceeds even if the circuit is victorious.

Buck Jones to Columbia

Hollywood, June 28. — Columbia today stated that Buck Jones will produce and star in eight films yearly as soon as his two current Universal pictures are completed.

hour will draw $1.2833 and precision machinists, now getting $1.33, will draw $1.41 for a 36-hour week, with time and a half for overtime. The agreement specifies that the machinists enter the studio basic pact, but the actual entry will not be made until next April, when the first of the annual conferences will take place.

Pickets Are Withdrawn

Kansas City, June 28.—United M. P. Operators, Missouri-chartered independent group, has withdrawn its pickets from the Bijou and Baltis, where pickets several nights this week branded the theatres unfair to U. M. P. O. operators, and from the Central and Roanoke, E. S. Young's two houses, where the U. M. P. O. pickets retaliated picketing of the house by I. A. T. S. E. Local 170.

K. C. Theatre Demands In

Kansas City, June 28. — Felix Snow, I.A.T.S.E. representative here, and spokesman for the recently formed Theatre Employees' local, an International affiliate, explained the terms of the agreement proposed June 19 for theatre employe wages, hours, and working conditions, to Fox Midwest theatre managers of Kansas City Monday. First run managers, outside of the Fox Tower and Fox Uptown, have forwarded the demands to their home offices. Independent exhibitors here have not indicated what they will do.

The proposed agreement was sent to all Kansas City, Mo., theatres with the exception of the half dozen or so that employ operators other than those belonging to I.A.T.S.E.

Kansas City, June 28.—Some doubt exists here that the Film Exchange Employe's Union will accept the terms of the settlement worked out in New York between I.A.T.S.E. representatives and major distributors, to effect the local union. The chief difference between demands and the terms reached involved wage scales, which are slightly lower than originally asked.

The agreement is to be retroactive to June 21, instead of June 1, as asked, and gives an increase in wages to 90 per cent of the workers involved.

Union Hits Chain Tax

Madison, June 28.—Labor again went to bat for circuit theatres when Steven J. Thomas, Racine, representing the Wisconsin Ass'n. of Stage Employes and Projectionists, appeared before the joint Finance Committee of the state legislature to oppose the Grobschmidt chain theatre tax bill on the ground that its passage would result in lower wage standards.

B. J. Miller, Milwaukee, representing Fox and Warner-Saxe Theatres, also appeared against the bill.

Charter in Record Time

Cincinnati, June 28.—A record for quick action is claimed by N. Clyde Butler, assistant to the C.I.O. regional director here, when he issued a charter to employes of two Clarksburg, W. Va. theatres at 3 P.M. one day and a contract was signed at 9:30 P.M. the same day.

Report 10 Stations to Be Added To NBC-Blue Chain in the South

NBC's Blue network will assume formidable proportions some time next month when 10 new stations will be welded to it, according to a well authorized report received by Motion Picture Daily. The stations are all located in the south, according to the report.

Officials at NBC, when queried yesterday, would not issue any details concerning the acquisition of the new stations, except to say that the company had consummated some deals for additional stations, and that a statement regarding the transactions would be made public within the next few days.

The present roster of NBC member stations numbers 126, of which the company can deliver 76 on the Blue, and 73 on the Red.

CBS Signs Contract On Race Broadcasts

CBS yesterday signed a contract with the New York Racing Ass'n under terms of which the network is given exclusive rights to broadcast the running of any of the association's races during 1938. Bryan Fields will handle the broadcast assignments.

However, WOR, which in past seasons has presented Fields as its racing commentator, has not been overlooked. At Fields' insistence, the contract stipulates that CBS will feed WOR the racing program, providing the broadcasts go unsponsored. In the event that a sponsor buys the broadcasts, the WOR clause is voided.

It is understood Fields acted to protect WOR to show his appreciation to that station for giving him the opportunity to broadcast horse racing when all other stations turned him down.

While Columbia's agreement with the N.Y.R.A. permits it to broadcast any races it chooses, it is believed that only the cream of the racing crop will be aired. These include the Belmont Stakes, the Hopeful, the Futurity, the Withers Stakes, the Brooklyn Handicap, the Butler Handicap, the Wood Memorial, the Dwyer Stakes and others of importance.

Rights to broadcast from all New York tracks are accorded CBS. The tracks are Belmont, Saratoga, Jamaica, Empire City and Aqueduct.

Among other important track events scheduled to be covered by CBS in 1938 are the Latonia, the American Derby, Santa Anita, and the Arlington. Additionally, CBS in 1938 will have exclusive rights to the Kentucky Derby broadcast, which for several seasons has been exclusively NBC's.

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.—The J. Walter Thompson agency has set Robert Montgomery to do "Beau Brummel" on the "Lux Theatre" July 5.

Angell's NBC Post Starts in September

The decision of Dr. James Rowland Angell, retiring president of Yale University, to accept the post of educational counselor of NBC, which was announced by Dr. Angell at New Haven Sunday, was worked out in a series of conferences which began early this year, it was stated at NBC yesterday. Among those who sat in at the conferences were Newton D. Baker, Owen D. Young, Gen. James G. Harbord, David Sarnoff and Major Lenox R. Lohr.

Dr. Angell will assume his new duties sometime in September.

In a statement issued by NBC yesterday, the company asserted that the acquisition of Dr. Angell was in line with the network's constant recognition of a deep obligation to foster the broadest range of educational and cultural interest of the public.

President Lohr yesterday pointed out that in the current season NBC has devoted more than one-quarter of its broadcasting time to educational programs, and an additional quarter of its time to programs of a cultural nature.

"In joining NBC," stated Lohr, "Dr. Angell is only changing his base of educational endeavor from New Haven to New York, from a university to the air. He will have a free hand to devise and suggest methods by which we may more effectively serve radio's listening millions."

Oil Firms Biggest Buyers

Permit Muse-Art Conduits

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—An ordinance permitting the Muse-Art Corp. to use conduits under the public highways to disseminate music, news and entertainment has been approved by the City Council over objections raised by the local musicians' union. The measure prohibits the wire service to broadcast horse race and gambling information. Local officials of Muse-Art deny any affiliation with Muzak.

MacMillan Explorers To Broadcast Series

BOSTON, June 28.—A series of some half-dozen radio contacts with the Donald B. MacMillan expedition, now en route to the Arctic, is being planned by WBZ and WBZA. Those aboard the Gloucester schooner, Gertrude L. Thebaud, are to make a geological and biological survey of the Frobisher Bay region.

Programs, which are to start about July 10, are to be rebroadcast from short wave transmissions from the schooner. In addition to talks by Commander Donald B. MacMillan, the six scientific authorities accompanying the expedition will comment on their investigations. Friends and relatives of those on the Arctic trip will be given an opportunity to converse on two-way hookups.

Three More Set for Shakespearean Roles

CBS has signed three additional stars for roles in the network's Shakespearan cycle which will begin with "Hamlet" on July 12, from 9 to 10 P.M., E.D.S.T. The newcomers include Lionel Barrymore, Helen Mencken and Frank Morgan.

Barrymore will portray the title role in "King Lear." Miss Mencken and Morgan have not been assigned roles as yet.

Lightning Hits KHQ Tower

SPOKANE, June 28.—KRQ, NBC's network outlet here, was forced to go off the air for the evening after two half-hour interruptions when lightning struck the station's new 846-foot tower several times, wrecking the tuning system and putting out airplane clearance lights. Broadcasting resumed next morning. KHQ's tall tower protected KFPY-CBS's 468-foot tower only half a mile away.

MEXICO CITY, June 22. — Tito Guizar, popular singer of Mexican songs and guitarist who has successfully performed on the radio in the United States and was the star of a Mexican picture, is performing two concerts a week for Bayer Products of Mexico over XEW here, which is owned and operated by the operators of the Cine-Teatro Alameda, large local theatre.

"Pretty Kitty Kelly," heard on CBS, will be heard at a new time beginning July 19. Thereafter the series will be broadcast Monday through Friday from 10 to 10:15 A. M., E.D.S.T. The Continental Baking Co. sponsors.

Webb's Orchestra Cancels

Chick Webb's orchestra cancelled a tour of theatre and dance dates in the middle west to return to New York for an appearance on NBC's "Good Time Society" program last night. A possible sponsor for the all-colored revue brought about the cancellation of the tour.

Pen-Rad to Start Campaign

The Radbill Oil Co., for its product Pen-Rad motor oil, will begin a radio compaign in the New England States and Ohio Valley area, starting July 12.

New Shows On the Air

"Richard III"

The monstrous "Richard III" was brought vividly to the skyways last night by John Barrymore in the second of NBC's cycle of Shakespearean epics. It was an impressive, gripping version of the Bard's bloodiest classic. . . . a version which need not skulk behind an apology for having been produced on the air and not on the stage.

Neither need NBC apologize for "streamlining" the hallowed Bard's works as several of the more erudite radio and drama scribes screamed last week. It is regrettable, of course, that it is not practicable to produce Shakespeare on the air without excessive word surgery, but in all fairness to NBC and to Barrymore, who, in addition to acting also handled the adaptation, we want to go on record as saying that the "streamlining" is intelligently done and in last night's instance the story in all its essential details remained clear throughout. Barrymore was, of course, the whole show. Despite the terrific handicap of the microphone's limitations, his delineation of the murderous, throne-aspiring Richard was so tellingly real that one never was conscious of the lack of the visual.

Elaine Barrie, as was to be expected, did not set the ether afire by her portrayal of Lady Anne. However, the actress who portrayed Queen Elizabeth did as fine a piece of Shakespearean acting as we have heard. Unfortunately, we do not know who she is.

The Shakespearean productions are offered Monday at 9:30 P. M., E.D.S.T., on the NBC Blue.

"Hi! There Audience"

Following the initial broadcast of the new WOR series, "Hi! There Audience" two Sundays ago, this department criticized the comedy portions of the program. After the review appeared a telegram from the station urged us to tune in again the following week, promising an improvement.

We're happy to report that WOR's productions department has kept its word. The humor this past Sunday was a vast improvement over that offered the preceding week, while the musical and vocal portions of the program maintained the same high level which was achieved on the opening broadcast.

Ray Perkins deserves credit for coming back so happily after his distressingly dreary start, and for backing up the opinion of this department when we labeled his initial effort as simply being one of "those things," stating that he would unquestionably deliver in the broadcasts which are to come.

Incidentally, next week's "Hi! There Audience" should be even more of an improvement than last Sunday's, for Peter Dixon, one of the better production and script experts, has been assigned to help Perkins build the program.

BANNER

Opposition to Plan for RKO Meets Attack

Corp. was not a "bonafide purchaser" of RKO securities and that RCA had agreed to reimburse Atlas if the proposed plan falls through. Rickaby heatedly denied this allegation and also denied Cohen's statement that RCA had financed a stockholders' committee which had accepted the plan. A request that the plan be amended to provide for issuance of new Class A stock was made by Harry J. Allen and William Saltiel, associate attorneys for John Stover, who represents Ernest W. Stirn, a holder of 1,234 Class A shares. The plea was based on alleged illegal conversion of Class A stock to common in 1931. Allen stated that the outstanding common is "junior" to the old Class A and that Class A holders were deprived of "preferential rights" when RCA allegedly exchanged 500,000 shares of Class B for common.

Rickaby Charges Delay

The exchange was denied by Rickaby, who contended that RCA received this stock for underwriting the 1931 issue of securities. He also charged that Stirn had delayed too long in bringing suit and that thousands of shares of common stock had been traded on the stock exchange with knowledge of Stirn's claim.

Rickaby defended the Rockefeller Center settlement of its $9,000,000 claim for 500,000 shares of new RKO common. He pointed out that all creditors accepted the settlement and that rejection of the settlement might require a new plan to be written. Rickaby stated that few New York first run houses earned large profits but that the Music Hall's value to RKO was "a national advertisement." The plan was characterized as fair, equitable and feasible. Its feasibility is best shown by the earnings of the past two years and the reduction of the debt of subsidiaries by $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 according to Rickaby. He stated that he regarded rejection of the plan and continuation of the trusteeship as "inconceivable."

To Ask Assets Appraisal

Cohen revealed that he would ask Federal Judge William Bondy to order a physical appraisal of RKO assets in order to determine the true value of the common stock. He charged that Judge Bondy's previous order opposing the appraisal was made without notice to him. Fairness of the plan cannot be determined by the mere analysis of legal rights, according to Cohen. He said that the Rockefeller settlement was made because the Music Hall was believed to be on a profitable basis, but that figures subsequently revealed indicated that it would never be a profitable venture from the operating standpoint. Its value as an outlet for RKO Radio pictures was opposed by the fact that control of the management policy of the Music Hall was given to Rockefeller interests.

Briefs will be submitted by attorneys on July 15, with July 26 set for reply briefs. On Aug. 5 a hearing will be held if Special Master Alger requires further testimony.

Carriers Ask Retention of Pay Systems

further service, and the method of presenting and collecting bills is based upon the bookkeeping practices of the theatre industry.

"So far as the credit problem is concerned," he said, "the film carrier does not have the problem of the general hauler. We have found that the practice of collection is not a problem; the accounts are all good."

Before the present 15-day rule was put into effect, he disclosed, some accounts were carried on a six months' or yearly basis. It would be impossible, he said, to operate on anything less than the present 15 days.

Methods of bookkeeping followed in the industry were outlined by Levy, who explained that the average independent exhibitors pays his bills on some particular day of the week following receipt, while in the case of the circuits they must go to a central office for approval by an auditor.

Accordingly, he pointed out, a change in the regulations would necessitate changes in bookkeeping methods which have proven satisfactory to both carriers and exhibitors over a period of years and would prevent the carriers from rendering service on a weekly basis.

Representatives of the motor carriers also opposed the proposed regulation, and suggested that it be amended to give the carriers seven days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, in which to pay them. Anything less than a 15-day period, it was contended, would necessitate the rendition of bills at too frequent intervals.

Film Stars on Air Hit by Kuykendall

today. "Some of the songs are so old by the time they reach the screen that listeners figure they must be Spanish-American War songs, and some of the pictures seem so familiar that people feel like they have seen them before and want their money back," said Kuykendall.

Kuykendall admitted, however, that radio previews help in a limited way to build patronage for exhibitors but he thought it ridiculous that stars should go on the air 52 times a year, especially when they limit the number of pictures they make per year. Broadcasting should be used, if at all, with discretion, he contended.

The "score charge" is on its way out, Kuykendall said, in his address on "As Theatre Owners, Where Are We Headed?"

Government regulation was decried by him as well as by Col. T. E. Orr of Albertville, Ala., another speaker. Kuykendall's address was a highlight of Monday's session which was followed by the opening of a golf tournament. A closed session for exhibitors will be held Tuesday with President Moore in the chair. Election of officers will follow.

Warners to Use Its Players in England

after making a picture for Warners in England, Wallis pointed out, and other stars like George Brent, Joan Blondell and Margaret Lindsey will go over, providing Asher has the proper stories for them. Wallis and Asher discussed a number of possibilities, but nothing has been set.

The exact number of films to be made in England is indefinite, the Warner studio executive said, because of new quota regulations being discussed.

Wallis will leave today for Hollywood with Harry M. Warner, Henry Blanke, and Jack Saper, the latter two identified with the Warner studio production department.

Equity Asks Action On WPA Dismissals

More than 600 members of Actors' Equity and Chorus Equity recommended at a joint meeting held at the Astor yesterday that the council of their organizations take any necessary action, including strike action, to prevent the dismissal of any member from Federal Theatre projects.

The action of the Equity groups is in line with that taken earlier by other A. F. of L. theatrical unions. The councils and executive committees of the unions, 11 of them in all, will map a united campaign beginning with initial meetings today to prevent the discharge of their members as a result of curtailed W.P.A. appropriations. The unions ask that the layoffs be confined to non-union and nonprofessional ranks within the Federal Theatre projects.

Columbia to Have 62 for Next Season

Los Angeles, June 29.—Columbia will release a total of 62 features during the 1937-'38 season, of which 40 will be regular features and 22 westerns, as well as four serials and 126 short subjects, Abe Montague, general sales manager, informed the company's annual sales convention at the Ambassador Hotel here today.

At least 15 will be specials, each to be produced with an elastic budget and unlimited production time. The 22 westerns will include three series, six starring Buck Jones, eight featuring Charles Starrett and eight "All-Story All-Star" westerns. The shorts lineup will comprise 10 series of single reel subjects and two series of two-reel comedies.

Columbia in 2-Year Film Deal with FWC

Los Angeles, June 29.—Columbia has closed a deal with Fox West Coast for two years, Abe Montague, general sales manager, told the delegates to the annual sales convention at the Ambassador Hotel here today. Montague pointed to the deal as a departure in Columbia's sales policy. Columbia's product deals up to this time have been for one year only.

Denver Pooling Deal With RKO Gets Chill

Denver, June 29.—Although there has been some talk that RKO will pool the Orpheum with Fox Intermountain in the downtown section, latest indications are that nothing will come of a deal of this kind.

Nate J. Blumberg, operating head for the RKO circuit, was to have stopped over on his way from the coast to New York, but decided not to, implying that the circuit is not interested in a joint operating pact here. Blumberg, who is now in New York, is not planning a visit here, it is understood.

Leslie E. Thompson is due from Hollywood today. He attended the RKO convention and stayed over several days on business.

Use British Trade Opinions In Formulating Quota Plan

By BRUCE ALLAN

London, June 29.—The Board of Trade now has the written or verbal comments of all trade bodies on the draft of a quota plan. Both the Kinematograph Renters' Society and the Film Group of the Federation of British Industries support a cost clause.

While there has been no official statement, it is known that the former practically reaffirms its original proposals to the Moyne Committee for liberty of Americans to make a few big pictures. It wants a 10 per cent quota and revision of the double quota proposal to an arithmetical basis, instead of treble cost for double exemption and no £45,000 limit.

The F.B.I. generally favors the Government draft and probably reaffirms its optional reciprocity proposal, which the K.R.S. does not oppose.

The Cinematograph Exhibitors' Ass'n adheres to its quality test plan to limit imports and exhibitors' footage requirements. It insists the quota is too high and a three to two ratio for the total British output to theatres should be maintained, based on pro-

Building Active in West Indies—Gould

Considerable theatre building is under way in the West Indies with United Theatres circuit leading the move, David Gould, M-G-M manager in Puerto Rico, said yesterday. He is here for medical treatment and plans to remain about a month.

United has just completed a new 1,100-seat house at Caguos, and has under construction a 1,000-seat house at Guayama, which is nearly finished. In addition to these, the circuit is contemplating a number of other theatres to add to the 18 which are now being operated.

The Marti interests have just built four new units in the city limits of San Juan with others planned. The United group represents the largest theatre circuit in the West Indies.

Another One

Many of the Loew theatres are decorated with cutouts of heads of Groucho, Harpo and Chico for runs of "A Day at the Races." They're all over the lobbies.

That's only three," remarked one manager.

"Is there another?," someone asked him.

"Sure. Screeno."

Wood Asks Strike Against Paramount

Washington, June 29.—Branding Paramount guilty of "unfair, indecent and unethical business practices" in allegedly removing from the 1936-'37 program six features said to have been promised, and placing them on the 1937-'38 program, P. J. Wood, secretary of the I. T. O. of Ohio, today called for a strike against Paramount by exhibitors to begin in August and to continue, if satisfaction is not obtained, through the 1938 season. Also discussed was the feasibility of lawsuits in areas where victory seems assured.

Wood's address was the highlight

Admission Raises Opposed by Kincey

Prospects of increasing admissions in the southeastern territory are virtually non-existent, H. F. Kincey, co-operator with R. B. Wilby of one of the largest circuits in the south, stated yesterday.

Film Boards Close Today In Many Keys

New York, Philadelphia To Be Continued

National headquarters of the Film Boards of Trade here and local Film Board offices in at least 25 exchange centers are being closed today by decision of distribution companies earlier this month. The shutdown marks the end of the Film Boards of Trade as a national organization after 22 years of service to the distribution end of the industry.

The number of key cities in which Film Board representatives will be maintained still is undetermined. It is certain only that secretaries will continue in New York and Chicago, but several other centers still are in the running. Among these are Boston, Los Angeles, Seattle, Detroit and Kansas City. It is apparent, however, that of the 31 cities which have maintained the Film Board secretaries up to this time, fewer than a half dozen will continue to do so.

Individual distribution companies and their branch offices will determine within the next week the exact number of board representatives who will remain. The decisions will rest largely upon the reports and recommendations of branch managers to their home offices on the need of Film

Roadshowing of Two Planned by Goldwyn

Hollywood, June 29.—"Dead End" and "Hurricane" will be roadshown by Samuel Goldwyn, with the former film slated to follow the release of "Stella Dallas." George J. Schaefer left for New York tonight by plane to complete arrangements.

It is believed here that the roadshowing of the films may meet with exhibitor opposition in view of the fact that "Dead End" had been listed on the regular contract.

It also recommends official arbitration and wants any double or greater quota concessions to distributors to be extended to exhibitors on the same films and provision of maintenance of British control of British theatres.

Independent producers and distributors say a cost clause would cause heavy unemployment by eliminating small companies and create a monopoly. They ask for its withdrawal or modification. And they insist that the shorts quota should be 20 per cent.

can Stores Co., the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., and the Woolworth Co. today was made public. The taxes range in amounts from $1 to $500 per theatre or store, according to the number of units in the chain under one management.

The Attorney General's answer denies the allegations of the chain stores. To the chief objections of the chains that the law is discriminatory because it exempts newsstands and is confiscatory because it imposes an excessive burden on the large chain stores, he replied that it was entirely within the power of the Legislature to exclude the newsstands and impose the graduated tax.

The newsstands, the Attorney General replied, are naturally and reasonably different from the large chains.

Admitting certain basic facts on the operation and organization of the stores, Margiotti insists that the companies must prove the number of stores they operate within the state and that it will be necessary to close some of these stores because of the imposition of the tax. He disagrees with the allegation of the companies that the system consists of single stores, charging that the method employed by the chain stores permits economy in operation and management not attainable by single stores or in small groups of stores.

made upon it by the defunct F.M.P.C. and announcing the withdrawal of Charles Lessing, F.M.P.C. leader, from sole nomination as president of the local.

Lessing's nomination and apparently assured election were held by Pat Casey, producers' representative; George Browne, I.A.T.S.E. president, and William Bioff, his aide, as a breach of the verbal agreement reached when the strike ended and the men returned to work.

Today's statement said that Lessing would return to his New York home. At a meeting July 6 the scenic artists' local will nominate from the floor for the presidency. The decision on Lessing's retirement from the local labor scene followed a conference participated in by Charles Elrod, business agent, and Pridgeon Smith —both of the scenic artists' local— with Bioff and Casey.

The painters' local at a meeting last night refused the producer offer of a 10 per cent raise, holding out for a $1 per day increase. They also agree to submit to arbitration. Officers elected were: Jack Holen, president; Harry Bogart, vice-president; William Ball, secretary, and Herbert Sorrel, business representative.

New K. C. Demands Presented

Kansas City, June 29.—Counter demands have been presented to exchange managers by the new I.A.T.S.E. exchange employes' union which is refusing to accept the agreement reached in New York. The demands have been sent to New York exchange managers.

The scale sought is: Head shippers, $37.50; assistants, $30; others, $25; head inspectresses, $26; inspectresses, $23; poster clerks, $30; others, $25. The scales agreed upon in New York were: Head shippers, $35; assistants, $28; others, $20; head inspectresses, $23.50; inspectresses, $18; head poster clerks, $28; assistants, $23; others, $20.

Strike action by 11 A. F. of L. theatrical unions in protest against the proposed 30 per cent reduction on July 15 of personnel employed on Federal Theatre projects was deferred yesterday by heads of the unions at a joint meeting at Actors Equity Ass'n headquarters.

The unions agred to take no action pending the outcome of the meeting.

'Courageous' Wow $22,000 May Set Pittsburgh Record;

Pittsburgh, June 22.

Give downtown Pittsburgh one smash attraction and others will benefit, too. That's been proven in the past and is so again this week. Lure is 'Captains Courageous,' at the Penn, heading that house for its biggest week since 'San Francisco.' Cinch to stick around for another week, moving over to the Warner to top off the fortnight. Similar move with 'Day at the Races' is giving the Warner a sock stanza, but presenting a booking jam.

Penn (Loew's-UA) (3,300; 25-35-50)—'Captains Courageous' (MG). Cricks are still tossing their hats in the air and the paying public is backing 'em up. Looks like $22,000 or slightly better and moves to the Warner Friday (25) for another week. Last week, 'Day at Races' (MG) another sock, winding up just short of $21,000.

Warner (WB) (2,000; 25-35-50)—'Day at Races' (MG). Marx Bros. comedy brought here for second downtown week and has plenty of stuff left. Heading for a mark midway between $7,000 and $8,000, real money.

Columbia to Have 62 for Next Season

Capra productions will be released as specials beyond the regular program, although there was no indication as to what he will produce. Capra was announced as under exclusive contract to Columbia for three more pictures. Cohn stated that they would be sold under separate contracts.

Montague informed the delegates that Columbia may follow the lead of several other majors and put exchange accessories on a rental basis in opposition to the poster agencies. Final decision will be made at the October regionals.

Among the leading players who will appear for Columbia for the first time next season are Joe E. Brown, Madeleine Carroll, Gloria Swanson, Francis Lederer, Don Ameche, Frances Drake, Luli Deste, Dolly Haas and Wyn Cahoon.

"Nobel," a film based on the life of the donor of the Nobel Prize, to be produced by Robert Riskin, and "Miss Quis," from the Broadway play by Ward Morehouse and Peggy Wood are other outstanding productions planned on the new lineup.

Joe E. Brown will appear in two comedies to be produced by David L. Loew; another will be produced by Frances Marion from a story by Courtney Riley Cooper and Frank R. Adams; Gloria Swanson will star in "The Second Mrs. Draper," also to be produced by Frances Marion, and Edward G. Robinson will star in one film. Jack Holt will appear in four action features. Donald Grayson will appear as a singing cowboy in the Charles Starrett westerns.

The four serials will include: "Jungle Menace," starring Frank Buck and Sasha Siemel, written by Ferrin Fraser and directed by George W. Melford; "The Adventures of the Mysterious Pilot," starring Frank Hawks, written by Robert Newman; "The Secret of Treasure Island," from the Argosy Magazine serial by L. Ron Hubbard, and "The Great Adventures of Wild Bill Hickok."

Announcers' Guild To Take in Others

Expansion of the American Guild of Radio Announcers and Producers to include all skilled crafts engaged in radio has been launched by the guild, according to its president, Roy S. Langham. The campaign will open guild membership rolls to all regularly employed and free lance announcers, assistant directors, directors, producers, continuity and script writers, sound effects technicians, newscasters, engineers, radio actors and singers.

The guild announces, however, that it is not its desire to compete actively for membership with other bona fide labor organizations in radio.

"Our organization is independent of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O.," stated Langham, "but we will cooperate in any justifiable efforts of other labor unions to obtain better working conditions for persons employed in radio. The guild is primarily interested in raising wages, adjusting hours and affording greater security to radio employees. We have no quarrel with anybody except employers who won't admit the depression is over, that living costs have increased and that we have a Wagner Act on our statute books."

The action of the guild in opening its membership rolls, explained Langham, paves the way for radio employees who desire organization, but found no suitable niche for their crafts in other labor organizations. Since the guild was formed, he said, it has been contacted by numerous groups in other skilled crafts desiring to adopt guild standards. After the success attained by the guild in negotiations at WABC and WMCA, he said, the guild felt that it could not exclude them any longer.

Marry with Quaker Rite

CINCINNATI, June 29.—Richard A. Ruppert, of the WKRC traffic department, and Doris E. McCormack, were married here "without benefit of clergy." The couple are Quakers, in which faith there are no ministers. The bridal pair met at the altar. There was a few minutes of silence. They then pledged themselves to each other and signed the marriage contract which was read by the clerk of the meeting to the relatives and friends present. Six persons signed the contract as witnesses.

Legislative procedure absolves Quakers from swearing to the truth of their statements, and, although the marriage is recorded, there was no license.

Board representation in individual localities. From these the number of distributors who desire the continuance of a secretary in any given exchange center will be determined and the final decisions made.

Major distributors, thus far, are of one mind on the continuance of secretaries in New York and Chicago only. Louis Nizer is secretary of the New York board and Emma Abplanalp of the Chicago board. In other cities where all distribution companies involved are not agreed upon the further need for a secretary the cost to those companies which desire one will be figured proportionately. Where the cost to individual companies is acceptable under such circumstances it would be contributed only by those which agree to participate.

According to the list supplied by the M.P.P.D.A., Film Board secretaries have been maintained by the distribution companies up to today in Albany, Atlanta, Boston, Buffalo, Butte, Charlotte, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Memphis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Haven, New Orleans, New York, Oklahoma City, Omaha, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Portland, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Seattle, San Francisco and Washington.

of the protest meeting of approximately 20 independent exhibitor leaders from various parts of the country who gathered at the Carlton Hotel here today at Wood's call. Wood urged a "sit-down" strike, particularly of Paramount's 4,000 exhibitor customers, which, he declared, would cost the company $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 next year.

It was decided at today's meeting to bring a test case to determine the exhibitors' rights, and also to declare a national date strike effective in August, a non-buying strike on 1937-'38 product and to appoint Wood national clearing agent for information on the situation.

Wood cleared the conference room of trade press representatives on the ground that he feared to be misquoted. The meeting developed into a conference predominantly Allied.

Wires pledging support were received from independent theatre groups of Iowa, southern California and New England. Ed Kuykendall, president of the M.P.T.O.A., acknowledged the session but wired his regrets.

The pictures which Wood accuses Paramount of listing on the 1936-'37 worksheet, but not delivering, are: "High, Wide and Handsome," "Souls at Sea," "Artists and Models," "one with Marlene Dietrich with Ernst Lubitsch directing," "Spawn of the North" and "The Count of Luxemburg."

In his address Wood contends that theatre owners who signed the 1936-'37 Paramount contract were "given to believe that Paramount would release between 60 and 65 features, but according to recent announcement this amount will be cut to 53." Wood declared he was more concerned with the possibility that other major distributors "will also show their disregard of the rights of exhibitors and attempt to do likewise," than with Paramount's act in withholding the six films.

In addition to Wood, the following attended the meeting: Abram F. Myers and Charles H. Olive, Washington; Herman A. Blum, Baltimore; Fred Herrington and M. A. Rosemberg, Pittsburgh; Dave Barrist, Charles Segal and Lewen Pizor, Philadelphia; Edward Levy, New Haven; Sidney E. Samuelson and Lee Newbury, New Jersey; Nathan Yamins, Fall River; H. M. Richey, Detroit; Aaron Saperstein, Chicago; Leo F. Walcott, Iowa; Fred Wehrenberg, St. Louis; Martin G. Smith, Toledo; George Erdmann, Cleveland; Dave Gilman, Minneapolis.

Support P. J. Wood's Stand

BOSTON, June 29.—Arthur K. Howard, business manager of Independent Exhibitors, Inc., today wired P. J. Wood in Washington as follows:
